"A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally and jointly shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators who have applied for the water supplied. (2) Add as 26*a*:—

I will submit to the Collector without delay lists specifying the names of any defaulters from whom I may, after due diligence, fail to collect, and I will be responsible for the sum due under this agreement, except such amount as I may be able to satisfy the Collector that, after using due diligence, I have failed to collect. I will give every assistance in my power to the Collector in any legal proceedings that may be instituted, and I further agree to be bound by the rules passed under the Canal Act."

The rules as now amended are published below.

Rules under Act III (B.C.), 1876.

1. The Collector, before awarding compensation under section 16, or for making a reference under section 17 of the Act, shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

2. Persons desirous of acquiring land for the construction of a village channel, or for having a village channel constructed by Canal Agency, shall prefer a written application to the Divisional Canal Officer, or to any other officer duly authorized by him to receive such application.

3. Ordinarily, no village channel shall exceed two miles in length from its head to the point of contact with the village boundary.

4. It shall be the duty of the Canal Officer to register all village channels after due notice has been given to the owner of his intention to do so; if the latter objects, no water will be given.

5. No alteration among the shareholders will be recognized, unless the sanction of the Canal Officer has been first obtained.

6. Persons desirous of taking water from a registered village channel shall, previous to doing so, prefer a written application (Appendix A) to the Divisional Canal Officer, Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, or any subordinate duly authorized by the Divisional Canal Officer to receive such application; and no water shall be taken until after the receipt of a permit (Appendix B) from competent authority.

7. Water shall not be granted where, in the opinion of the Canal Officer, waste is likely to occur.

8. An application under Rule 6 shall, if granted, and unless otherwise specially agreed upon, be subject to the following conditions:—

(a)—That the water supplied shall not be used for other purposes than irrigation without the written consent of the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer.

(b)—That the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall, in consultation with the applicants, appoint a headman (to be called a Lambardar), known, or ascertained to be, a substantial person possessed of property, to attend to their interests, to receive and carry out the orders of the Canal Officers, and to distribute the water among the shareholders in the village channel according to their shares.

(c)—That in any case where the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer cannot agree with the applicants in the appointment of a Lambardar, the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall make the appointment himself, subject to the approval of the Divisional Canal Officer.

9. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to pay to the Lambardar appointed under Rule 81, the fees detailed in the rule next following, subject to the condition of satisfactory performance of duty.

10. The allowance to the Lambardar for duties connected with the village channel, such as arranging that it shall be kept in proper repair, reporting unauthorized irrigation, distributing the water to the shareholders, seeing that the outlet is closed according to the orders of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, and generally assisting the officers of the Irrigation Department, shall be half anna in the rupee on the amount of canal water-rates assessed on the lands irrigated from the village channel under his charge. The Divisional Canal Officer may retrench the whole or any part of the fees under this rule in the event of non-compliance with these conditions.

11. The Sub-Divisional Canal Officer may, by written order under section 76 (a), stop the supply to any village channel when he is satisfied, after inspection by himself or by one of his subordinates, that it is not maintained in proper repair; such order shall be recorded in the Sub-Divisional Office.

12. The Divisional Canal Officer may close the outlets in rotation as he may consider necessary. Such closures shall not extend beyond ten consecutive days, and shall be notified to the Lambardars of village channels. For longer closures the authority of the Superintending Canal Officer is required.

13. Nothing in the above rules shall be taken to affect the power of the Superintending or Divisional Canal Officer to stop the supply of water in case of pressing emergency.

14. The water-gauges on distributaries or other channels shall be held to give authoritative data for all calculations of discharge required to verify claims for remission of water-rate on account of loss of water.

15. Claims to remission of water-rates under section 76(b) shall only be admitted on proof of actual loss caused by the stoppage of supply. On proof of such loss, the Divisional Canal Officer may remit the whole or any portion of the rates. All applications for remission of water-rates shall be made in writing by the parties concerned, either in person, or through their headman, to the nearest Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, at least seven days prior to the cutting of the crop. On receipt of such application, the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall, after due local enquiry, forward the application with his remarks to the Divisional Canal Officer for decision.

16. Before awarding compensation under section 76(c), the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer, and such opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

17. Contracts between the Divisional Canal Officer on the part of Government, and private individuals, for the use of water as a motive power, or for any other purpose whatsoever, not included in the published schedule of rates, shall, if for any period not exceeding one year, require the previous sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer. If proposed for longer periods, such contracts shall be submitted for the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor in the Irrigation Department.

18. Tanks may be filled with canal water without charge, and without reference to the area irrigated in any village, wherever water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on any canal, under the following conditions:—

(a.)—No tank shall be so filled unless the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes or for watering cattle, or both.

(c.)—No tank shall be so filled which, intercepting any line of drainage, is liable to overflow from accumulation of water derived from natural causes.

(d.)—No tank shall be so filled except on the written order of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer issued on the written application of the parties concerned.

(e.)—No tank shall be so filled unless the village channel used to fill it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer to be in a sound condition when the application is made.

(f.)—The privilege herein accorded may, by written order of the Divisional Canal Officer, subject to revision by the Superintending Canal Officer, whose decision shall be final, be suspended for 12 months for breach of any of the above conditions.

19. Leases for terms of five years for the supply of water between the 25th June of one year and the 1st April of the following year will be given at the rates fixed in the Schedule, Rule 33, provided that land leased in any village forms one or more compact blocks, each of not less than 50 acres, defined by well-marked boundaries of such a nature as clearly to distinguish leased from the adjoining unleased lands, and to prevent the latter from being surreptitiously watered under cover of the lease.

20. Well-marked boundaries of the nature required by the foregoing rule generally exist. Village roads, bunds of ahrahs, village boundaries, and similar natural marks will be sufficient. If such do not exist, and it appears advisable to grant the lease, the villagers may, at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer, be required to make small bunds round the leased area, or mark its limits by the erection of cheap boundary marks, or cause to be carried out such arrangements as may suffice for the future identification of the leased area.

21. No restriction is placed on the description of crop to be grown under five-year leases, but no water will be given on these leases between the 1st of April and the 25th of June. The Superintending Canal Officer may relax this rule in the case of water being required for rice-seed beds.

22. If in the opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer it appears advisable to grant a lease for a block of less than 50 acres in area, he must refer the matter for the decision of the Superintending Canal Officer, at whose discretion the restriction as to area may be relaxed.

23. Present holders of three-year leases may at their option avail themselves of the terms offered to the holders of five-year leases, but without retrospective effect.

24. Leases for five years at the rates entered in Rule 33 may be given—(1) on the application of all the cultivators of the area proposed to be leased, on condition of their agreeing in such application to become jointly and severally responsible for the payment of all amounts due on account of water-rates; or (2) on the joint application of the cultivators and of some person hereinafter called the Contractor, who may agree to collect and pay to Government, under section 82 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, all sums due under the agreement on account of water-rates. The agreement of villagers' binding themselves jointly and severally will be in the form prescribed in Appendix C. The joint agreement of villagers and a water-rate Contractor shall be in the form prescribed in Appendix D. Every agreement under this rule must be signed by each applicant in the presence of at least one respectable witness.

25. Contractors shall be entitled to collect water-dues, at the rates given in schedule 4 attached to Rule 33, from the cultivators who have applied for the water supplied. Every due from a cultivator to the Contractor on account of water-rates shall be deemed to be a sum due to Government under sections 82 and 85 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876.

26. A Contractor (or in case there be more than one, each Contractor severally and jointly) shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators, who have applied for the water supplied. In the case of his failure after due diligence to collect, he shall, without loss of time, submit to the Collector a list showing the names of the defaulters, with the sums due from each, and the Collector shall thereon proceed to realize the amount due from the said defaulters according to law.

26*a*. A Contractor (or in case there be more than one, each Contractor severally and jointly) shall be responsible for all sums payable on the agreement, except such sums as he may satisfy the Collector that he has been unable to collect after using due diligence.

27. No water shall be taken previous to the receipt of a permit (Appendix B) signed by the Divisional Canal Officer. When an agreement has been made for the collection of the rates by a Contractor, the Divisional Canal Officer shall under section 82 furnish such Contractor with a written authority to collect the amounts due by the cultivators according to a list furnished in the application, one copy of which is to be sent to the Collector.

28. Every Contractor shall nominate a headman, to be approved of by the Divisional Canal Officer, to perform the duties specified in Rule 10. Such headman or the contractor, according to the arrangement made at the time of contract, shall receive 5 per cent. on the assessment, but the Divisional Canal Officer may retrench the whole or any part of these fees if the duties are not properly performed.

29. All water-rates leviable under the above rules for five-year leases shall become due on the 31st December and 15th March in equal portions, and shall be paid within one month of such dates.

30. Under section 78 of the Act, the rates chargeable per acre for water supplied to the different description of crops up to 1st of April 1881, except in cases of three-year leases now in existence, will be as follow:—

34. The statements of the amounts demandable for water-rates levied under the rules inforce shall be prepared under the supervision and signature of the Divisional Canal Officer in such form as shall from time to time be sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor.

35 All water-rates shall become due on the dates below stated, and shall be paid within one month of such dates :—

Water-rate on spring crops, wheat, barley, peas, poppy, &c. ...	15th March.
Water-rate on summer crops, cheena, &c.	15th July.
Water-rate on bhadoi crops, early rice, indian-corn, murwa, &c. ...	31st October.
Water-rate on annual and winter crops, sugarcane, aghani rice, jowar, &c.	31st December.

36. In the case of lands held in bhaoli, the water-rate shall be recoverable from both the cultivator and the person or persons in receipt of the bhaoli rents in the same proportion as the produce is divisible amongst them.

37. In the case of lands held in bhaoli, the zemindar shall sign jointly with the cultivators. (This rule only applies to the case of five-year leases.)

38. The area irrigated in any village shall be measured by an Ameen appointed for the purpose. The Putwari shall be present at the measurement, and shall at the time take a copy of the khusrah of the Ameen; if for any reason the Putwari is not present, the cost of preparing the copy will be charged against him. This copy shall be delivered to the Putwari, or, in his absence, to the Lambardar. Both the Lambardar and Putwari shall sign the khusrah.

39. When the measurement is completed, the khusrah shall be forwarded to the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, who shall prepare the khatiani with all possible despatch. A copy of the khatiani, signed and sealed by the Zilladar, shall, as soon as it is prepared, be forwarded to the Putwari, who shall grant a receipt for the same. If the Putwari is not present, or declines to receive the khatiani, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall forward it direct to the Collector.

40. It shall be the duty of the Putwari, immediately on the completion of the measurement, to inform each ryot, on application, of the fields measured against him, and on receipt of the khatiani to supply each person charged with a percha showing the water-rates due. For these duties, and for attending the measurement and rendering such other reasonable assistance to the Canal Officer and Collector as may be required, an allowance of one quarter anna per rupee on the amount collected shall be made.

41. This allowance shall be paid to the Putwari by the Collector if he is satisfied that the work has been properly done.

42. The Canal Officer shall note on the khatiani whether the Putwari has given proper assistance during the measurement.

43. If a cultivator is dissatisfied with the entries made against him in the khatiani, whether as to the fact of the land having been charged "flow" instead of "lift" or as to the measurements and entries of classes of crops, he must lodge a complaint, either personally or through the Lambardar of his village channel, with the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer within a month after the date of the demand being made on him.

44. The Zilladar shall submit his check measurements in a form (Appendix, E) which shall be sent in for the inspection of the Divisional Canal Officer. The Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall check the Ameens' measurements as often as he possibly can. If it be found that any ameen wilfully or frequently makes wrong measurements, he shall be punished by dismissal.

45. Collection of all water-rates shall be made by the Collector in accordance with the statement of demands furnished to him by the Divisional Canal Officer.

46. Objections to the demand addressed to the Collector, if preferred within one month after the demand has been made, shall, if remission be claimed on the score of short supply, or of any matter affecting the Irrigation Department, be referred for orders to the Divisional Canal Officer. The Collector shall have discretion to suspend collections by a written order in cases where (objections having been filed) it may seem advisable to do so.

47. Claims for remission, referred by the Collector and admitted by the Divisional Canal Officer, shall be reported by him for the sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer, except in cases where remissions are made on account of excess areas having been charged, or a wrong name entered in the khatiani.

48. If the Divisional Canal Officer reject the claim, an appeal may be made to the Superintending Canal Officer, provided that it is preferred within forty days from the issue of the order of the Divisional Canal Officer.

49. A remission statement, signed by the Superintending or Divisional Canal Officer, shall be sufficient authority for a refund by the Collector.

50. In special cases not otherwise provided in these rules, and in cases where water-rates are not recoverable owing to the absconding or bankruptcy of the defaulter, the Collector will obtain the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division to the remission of such sums as he may deem irrecoverable. The details of such remission shall be communicated at the close of each official year to the Divisional Canal Officer.

51. The Collector shall appoint a headman (to be called a Tehsildar), whose duty will be to collect and pay in, to the Collector or other duly authorized person, all water-rates leviable on the land irrigated.

52. The Tehsildar shall furnish security for the payment of all sums realized by him, the stamp and registration fees on security bonds being deducted from the percentage allowed, under the following rule.

53. The allowance to the Tehsildars of a village or villages for collecting the water-rates shall be fixed by the Collector, but the total amount to be paid in any one year to all the Tehsildars in a district shall not exceed half an anna in the rupee on the amounts actually paid in. If the Tehsildar shall satisfy the Collector that arrears have not accrued through any negligence on his part, it shall be at the option of the Collector to pay him the allowance on the whole or any part of such arrears.

54. If only a portion of a field be irrigated, the water-rate shall be chargeable on the whole field, unless such portion shall have been clearly demarcated, previous to the admission of the water, by a ridge not less than half a foot high.

55. When a portion of a field has been irrigated with canal water, and a portion with well or reservoir water, the whole field shall be liable for canal water-rate, unless a clearly distinguishable boundary exists between the two portions.

56. If well or reservoir water is conveyed in the same channel as canal water, the whole of the irrigation from that channel shall be liable to canal water-rate. The Lambardar will be held personally responsible that any breach of this rule or of Rules 54 and 55 is duly reported.

57. Irrigation from escape channels, when the supply is permanent, shall be governed by the same rules as irrigation from other parts of the canal.

58. Irrigation from such channels, when the supply is intermittent, may be allowed at such reduced rates as shall from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

59. Persons using water without a written permit, or taking water at times prohibited by proper authority, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding double water-rates on the area irrigated, and such charge shall be leviable at the time of report to the Collector.

60. The charge leviable for water suffered to run to waste on uncultivated lands shall be calculated at the highest rate specified in the schedule, on the area flooded; provided that in every such case the Divisional Canal Officer may impose a lower rate if he thinks fit. The Lambardar is to be held responsible for reporting such waste of water.

61. When the original crop sown in a field irrigated by canal water fails, and is ploughed up, and a fresh crop is sown in the same season, the water-rates shall be levied on the second crop.

62. No person shall, without the permission in writing of the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, pass, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across any of the works, banks, or channels of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired to desist therefrom, excepting by means of such bridges, fords, and ferries, and their approaches, as are provided by the Divisional Canal Officer.

63. No Canal Officer, unless specially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name, or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the Gazette of India.]

The following Extraordinary, issued by the Government of India, in the Department of Finance and Commerce, is republished for general information :—

NOTIFICATION.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

Simla, the 27th June 1881.

The Governor-General in Council has determined to borrow three hundred Lakhs of rupees, being the amount required for the public service.

The following Notification is therefore published :—

FOUR PER CENT. LOAN.

His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General in Council has resolved to borrow three hundred Lakhs of rupees for the public service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes (with coupons attached, if so desired) will be issued for the said amount in Form A annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of The Loan of 1*st May* 1865, of which Loan the notes to be now issued will form a part, or, at the option of the allottees, stock certificates with coupons attached will be issued to them in Form B attached to this Notification. All the conditions which apply to notes of the Loan of 1*st May* 1865, will apply to the notes and certificates to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of three hundred Lakhs of rupees will be received by the Comptroller-General from this date to noon of Monday, the 25th of July 1881.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller-General, Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, and enclosed in a sealed cover, superscribed "Tender for the Four per Cent. Loan, 1881." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom a letter of allotment may be issued if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.

5. Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from one of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, or Bombay, or one of their branches, or from an officer in charge of some public treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favor of the Comptroller-General on a banker in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or by* Government Promissory Notes, standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one hundredth, or if the tender be for less than five Lakhs of rupees, then for not less than one fiftieth part of the tender If the allotment is not fully taken up, this deposit of one or two per centum will be forfeited, and if one or more Government Promissory Notes have been deposited, such note or notes will be appropriated by the Government and cancelled; otherwise, if the deposit is in cash, it will be treated as in part payment of the last instalment. A cash deposit may, after acceptance of the tender in support of which it is made, be replaced by a Government Promissory Note, as aforesaid.

6. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

7. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms, as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders, will be rejected as null and void.

8. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, when the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum

9. Tenders will be opened, publicly, at the Office of the Comptroller-General in Calcutta, at noon on Monday, the 25th July 1881; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 11.

10 Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted, will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate, in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders.

11. As soon as possible after the 25th July 1881, letters of allotment will be issued to those persons whose tenders are accepted in whole or in part, or to their agents; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such letters of allotment are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

12. Payment of any accepted tender may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of one of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, or Bombay, or in any branch of these Banks, or into any public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender.

13. Accepted tenders must be paid, in equal instalments, as follows:—

One-third on or before Monday, the 8th August 1881.

One-third on or before Monday, the 26th September 1881.

but the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the letter of allotment.

14. Interest upon each payment will be promptly paid in advance, at the rate of four per centum per annum, from the date of such payment to the last day of October 1881. In the case of Promissory Notes, at the option of the allottee and on his paying interest from the first day of May 1881, to date of payment, interest will run from the said first day of May.

15. Scrip receipts for instalments paid will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their branches, or by the officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made. These receipts will, as soon as possible, be exchanged for Promissory Notes or couponed certificates issued under this Notification.

16. The Governor-General in Council reserves to himself the right of allotting any part of the proposed loan to Native Chiefs, at the average rate at which it is issued to the public; and in such case the balance only will be allotted in the manner declared in this notification.

ARTICLE IV.

In einem solchen Falle soll jedoch in dem Vereinigten Königreiche der Beklagte so schnell wie möglich vor einen Polizeimagistraten in London gesendet werden.

Diese Ansuchen um provisorische Verhaftung mögen vermittelst der Post oder durch den Telegraphen gemacht werden, vorausgesezt, sie enthalten die Angabe, dass sie von einer gerichtlichen oder andern kompetenten Behörde abgesendet worden seien. Solche Requisitionen müssen eine allgemeine Bezeichnung des Verbrechens oder Vergehens und die Erklärung enthalten, dass ein Verhaftbefehl gegen den Verbrecher bestehe und dass dessen Auslieferung verlangt werde.

ARTIKEL IV.

Das Auslieferungsbegehren muss immer auf diplomatischem Wege gestellt werden und zwar in der Schweiz durch den Englischen Gesanten an den Bundespräsidenten und in Grossbritannien durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London, welcher von Ihrer Majestät für die Zweke dieses Vertrages als diplomatischer Repräsentant der Schweiz anerkannt wird, an den Statssekretär für die Auswärtigen Angelegenheiten.

ARTIKEL V.

In dem Reiche Ihrer Britannischen Majestät, mit Ausnahme der Kolonien und Auswärtigen Besizungen, soll verfahren werden wie folgt.

(a) Wenn es sich um eine angeklagte Person handelt, wird das Auslieferungsbegehren von dem diplomatischen Vertreter der Schweizerischen Eidgenossenschaft dem Hauptstatssekretär der Auswärtigen Angelegenheiten Ihrer Majestät Regierung eingereicht. Der genannte Hauptstatssekretär soll diese Aktenstüke dem Hauptstatssekretär Ihrer Majestät für das Department des Innern mittheilen, welcher mittels eigenhändig unterzeichneter und mit seinem Siegel versehenen Ordre einem Polizeimagistrate in London von dem gestellten Auslieferungsbegehren mittheilung macht und ihn beauftragt, wenn genügender

On the receipt of such order from the Secretary of State, and on the production of such evidence as would, in the opinion of the Magistrate, justify the issue of the warrant if the crime had been committed in the United Kingdom, he shall issue his warrant accordingly.

When the person claimed shall have been apprehended, he shall be brought before the Magistrate who issued the warrant, or some other Police Magistrate in London. If the evidence to be then produced shall be such as to justify, according to the law of England, the committal for trial of the prisoner, if the crime of which he is accused had been committed in the United Kingdom, the Police Magistrate shall commit him to prison to await the warrant of the Secretary of State for his surrender; sending immediately to the Secretary of State a certificate of the committal and a report upon the case.

After the expiration of a period from the committal of the prisoner, which shall never be less than fifteen days, the Secretary of State shall, by order under his hand and seal, order the fugitive criminal to be sent to such seaport town as shall, in each special case, be selected for his delivery to the Swiss Government.

(b) In the case of a person convicted—

The course of proceeding shall be the same as in the case of a person accused, except that the warrant to be transmitted by the Diplomatic Representative of Switzerland in support of his requisition shall clearly set forth the crime or offence of which the person claimed has been convicted, and state the place and date of his conviction.

The evidence to be produced shall consist of the penal sentence passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State claiming his extradition.

(c) Persons convicted by judgment in default or arrêt de contumace shall be, in the matter of extradition, considered as persons accused, and may, as such, be surrendered.

In the latter case, the Court may at once order his delivery to the person authorised to receive him, without waiting for the order of a Secretary of State for his surrender, or commit him to prison to await such order.

ARTICLE VI.

In Switzerland the manner of proceeding shall be as follows:—

Grund dazu vorliegt, den Verhaftsbefehl gegen den Flüchtigen zu erlassen. Nach dem Empfange dieser Ordre des Statssekretärs und auf die Vorlage solchen Beweises, welcher nach der Ansicht des Magistraten den Erlass des Verhaftsbefehles rechtfertigen würde, wenn das Verbrechen in dem Vereinigten Königreiche verübt worden wäre, soll er den Verhaftsbefehl erlassen.

Wenn die reklamirte Person verhaftet worden ist, so soll sie vor den Magistraten, welcher den Verhaftsbefehl erlassen hat, oder vor einen andern Polizeimagistraten in London gebracht werden. Wenn der hierauf zu produzirende Beweis ein solcher ist, das er gemäss dem englischen Gesetze hinreichen würde, um den Verhafteten zur Aburtheilung vor das Gericht zu verweisen, falls das Verbrechen, dessen er angeklagt ist, im Vereinigten Königreiche verübt worden wäre, so soll der Polizeimagistrat dessen Versezung in das Gefängniss verfügen, um die Ordre des Statssekretärs zum Vollzuge der Auslieferung abzuwarten und dem Statssekretär sofort ein Attestat über diese Verfügung mit Bericht über den Fall mittheilen.

Nachdem seit der Verfügung über die Versezung des Verhafteten in das Gefängniss eine Zeitfrist verflossen ist, welche nie weniger als fünfzehn Tage betragen darf, soll der Statssekretär durch eine von ihm eigenhändig unterzeichnete und mit seinem Siegel versehene Ordre den Transport des auszuliefernden Individuums in denjenigen Meerhafen anordnen, welcher zu dessen Auslieferung an die schweizerische Regierung im einzelnen Falle bezeichnet werden wird.

(b) Wenn es sich um eine verurtheilte Person handelt, so soll gleich verfahren werden, wie wenn es sich um eine angeklagte Person handeln würde, ausgenommen, dass in dem Verhaftsbefehle, welcher von dem diplomatischen Vertreter der Schweiz zur Unterstützung des Auslieferungsbegehrens einzureichen ist, das Verbrechen oder Vergehen, wegen dessen das reklamirte Individuum verurtheilt wurde, klar dargestellt, und auch der Ort und das Datum des Urtheiles angegeben werden müssen.

Als Beweis muss das Strafurtheil beigebracht werden, welches von dem zuständigen Gerichte des die Auslieferung begehrenden States gegen den Verurtheilten erlassen worden ist.

(c) Personen, welche in contumaciam verurtheilt worden sind, werden in Auslieferungs-angelegenheiten wie Angeklagte behandelt und als solche aus-geliefert.

(d) Nachdem der Polizeimagistrat die Versezung des Angeklagten oder Verurtheilten in das Gefängniss verfügt hat, um die Ordre des Statssekretärs zur Vollziehung seiner Auslieferung abzuwarten, hat diese Person das Recht, um eine Verfügung auf habeas corpus einzukommen. Wenn sie hievon gebrauch macht, so soll die Auslieferung-verschoben werden bis nach dem Entscheide des Gerichtshofes über ihr Gesuch, und kann nur stattfinden, wenn der Entscheid für den Petenten ungünstig lautet. Im leztern Falle kann das Gericht gleichzeitig die Vollziehung der Auslieferung verfügen, ohne die Ordre des Statssecretärs abzuwarten oder es kann die Beibehaltung des Verhaften verfügen bis nach Erlass jener Ordre.

ARTIKEL VI.

In der Schweiz soll folgendes Verfahren stattfinden:

Im Falle das Auslieferungsbegehren gegen eine angeklagte Person gerichtet ist, so muss eine authentic copy of the warrant of arrest, issued by a competent official or Magistrate, clearly setting forth the crime or offence of which he is accused, together with a properly legalized information setting forth the facts and evidence upon which the warrant was granted.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by an authentic copy of the sentence or conviction, setting forth the crime or offence of which he has been convicted.

The requisition must also be accompanied by a description of the person claimed, and if it be possible, by other information and particulars which may serve to identify him.

After having examined these documents, the Swiss Federal Council shall communicate them to the Cantonal Government in whose territory the person charged is found, in order that he may be examined by a judicial or police-officer on the subject of their contents.

The Cantonal Government will transmit the procès-verbal of the examination, together with all the documents, accompanied, if there be one, by a more detailed report to the Federal Council, who, after having examined them and there be no opposition on either side, will grant the extradition, and will communicate its decision both to the British Legation and to the Cantonal Government in question, to the latter in order that it may send the person to be surrendered to such place on the frontier, and deliver him to such foreign police authority as the British Legation may name in each special case.

Should the documents furnished with a view of proving the facts, or of establishing the identity of the accused, or the particulars collected by the Swiss authorities appear insufficient, notice shall be immediately given to the Diplomatic Representative of Great Britain, in order that he may furnish further evidence. If such further evidence be not furnished within fifteen days the person arrested shall be set at liberty.

In the event of the application of this Treaty being contested, the Swiss Federal Council will transmit the documents ("dossier") to the Swiss Federal Tribunal, whose duty it is to decide definitely the question whether extradition should be granted or refused.

The Federal Council will communicate the judgment of the Federal Tribunal to the British Legation. If this judgment grants the extradition the Federal Council will order its execution, as in the case when the Federal Council itself grants the extradition. If, on the other hand, the Federal Tribunal refuses the extradition, the Federal Council will immediately order the person accused to be set at liberty.

ARTICLE VII.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the depositions or statements of witnesses, either sworn or solemnly declared to be true, taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, or copies thereof, provided such documents purport to be signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of such

Wenn das Auslieferungsbegehren eine verurtheilte Person betrifft, so muss es von einer authentischen Kopie des Urtheiles begleitet sein, worin das Verbrechen oder Vergehen, wegen dessen sie verurtheilt wurde, angegeben ist.

Mit dem Auslieferungsbegehren müssen ferner das Signalement der reklamirten Person, und, wenn möglich, noch andere Informationen und Details, welche zur Feststellung ihrer Identität dienen mögen, vorgelegt werden.

Nach geschehener Prüfung dieser Schriftstüke wird sie der Bundesrath derjenigen Kantonsregierung übersenden, auf deren Gebiet der Verfolgte sich befindet, damit der Leztere durch einen gerichtlichen oder polizeilichen Beamten über ihren Inhalt einvernommen werde.

Die Kantonsregierung wird das Einvernahmsprotokoll nebst sämmtlichen Akten und allfällig weiterm Berichte dem Bundesrathe übersenden, welcher nach erfolgter Prüfung derselben, im Falle von Keiner Seite Einsprache erhoben ist, die Auslieferung bewilligen und seinen Entscheid sowohl der Gesandtschaft von Grossbritannien, als auch der betreffenden Kantonsregierung mittheilen wird, lezterer behufs Uebergabe des auszuliefernden Individuums an derjenigen Grenzstelle und an diejenige auswärtige Polizeibehörde, welche im einzelnen Falle von der Grossbritannischen Gesandtschaft zu bezeichnen ist.

Wenn die zur Feststellung des Thatbestandes oder der Identität des Angeklagten vorgelegten Aktenstüke oder die von den schweizerischen Behörden zu gleichen Zweke gemachten Erhebungen ungenügend erscheinen sollten, so wird dem diplomatischen Vertreter Grossbritanniens unverzüglich davon Mittheilung gemacht behufs weiterer Nachweise. Werden sie nicht vor Ablauf von 15 Tagen beigebracht, so wird der Verhaftete in Freiheit gesezt.

In Falle gegen die Anwendbarkeit dieses Vertrages eine Einsprache vorliegt, wird der Bundesrath sämmtliche Akten dem schweizerischen Bundesgerichte übersenden, welches über die Bewilligung oder Verweigerung der Auslieferung definitiv zu entscheiden hat.

Der Bundesrath wird den Entscheid des Bundesgerichtes der Grossbritannischen Gesandtschaft mittheilen. Lautet derselbe auf Bewilligung der Auslieferung, so wird der Bundesrath die Vollziehung anordnen wie in dem Falle, wo er von sich aus die Auslieferung bewilligt hat. Ist dagegen vom Bundes-gerichte die Auslieferung abgelehnt worden, so wird der Bundesrath sofort die Freilassung des Verhafteten verfügen.

ARTIKEL VII.

Die Behörden des ersuchten States haben bei der Prüfung, welche ihnen nach den vorstehenden Bestimmungen obliegt, den beschworenen oder feierlich als Wahrheit erklärten Depositionen und Zeugenaussagen, welche in dem andern State zu Protokoll genommen sind, desgleichen den Abschriften hievon und ebenso den in andern State erlassenen Haftbefehlen und Urtheilen oder Abschriften hievon volle Beweiskraft beizulegen, vorausgesezt, dass in diesen Schrifts-

ARTICLE IX.

In cases where it may be necessary, the Swiss Government shall be represented at the English Courts by the Law Officers of the Crown, and the English Government in the Swiss Courts by the competent Swiss authorities.

No claim for the repayment of expenses for the assistance mentioned in this Article shall be made by either of the Contracting Parties.

ARTICLE XII.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution, or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE XIII.

Für die aus diesem Artikel entspringende Rechtshilfe wird gegenseitig auf jede Vergütung von Kosten verzichtet.

ARTIKEL X.

Der gegenwärtige Vertrag ist auf Verbrechen und Vergehen anwendbar, welche vor seiner Unterzeichnung begangen worden sind. ARTICLE XIV.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Swiss Government, should be under examination, or have been condemned for any other crime, in one of the Swiss Cantons or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition may be deferred until he shall have been set at liberty in due course of law.

In case such individual should be proceeded against in the country in which he has taken refuge, on account of obligations contracted towards private individuals, his extradition shall, nevertheless, take place; the injured party retaining his right to prosecute his claims before the competent authority.

ARTIKEL XIV.

Wenn die von der schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person in Vereinigten Königreiche oder wenn die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung in Untersuchung liegt oder verurtheilt worden ist, so kann die Auslieferung verschoben werden bis diese Person in gehörigen Rechtsgang in Freiheit gesezt worden ist.

Wird ein solches Individuum wegen Verpflichtungen, die dasselbe mit Privatpersonen abgeschlossen hat, in jenem Lande, in welchem es Zuflucht genommem hat, gerichtlich verfolgt, so soll dessen Auslieferung dennoch stattfinden, dabei aber der beschädigten Partei das Recht vorbehalten bleiben, ihre Ansprache vor der kompetenten Behörde geltend zu machen.

ARTIKEL XVI.

2. In this order terms have the same meaning as in the Ottoman order of 1873.

Repeal.

3. Articles ninety-five and two hundred and seventy of the Ottoman order of 1873 are hereby repealed, but not so as to affect the validity or effect of any deputation granted before the passing of this order under either of those articles, or of anything done thereunder and without prejudice to the continuance of any proceedings taken under or by virtue of any such deputation, and pending at the passing of this order.

Consular Court for Tunis.

Her Majesty's Consul at Tunis for the time being shall be the Judge of the Court, but he shall be appointed to the office of Judge by Her Majesty by a separate warrant under Her Royal sign-manual.

He shall be at the time of his appointment a member of the Bar of England, Scotland, or Ireland, of seven years' standing, or a British subject, who is a member of the Bar of Malta, of seven years' standing, or has filled the office of Assistant Judge or Legal Vice-Consul, or Law Secretary in the Ottoman dominions.

5. During a vacancy in the office of Judge or on emergency a fit person approved by the Secretary of State may temporarily be Acting Judge. The Acting Judge shall have all the jurisdiction, power, and authority of Judge.

6. There shall be attached to the Court so many officers and clerks as the Secretary of State from time to time thinks fit.

7. The Court shall have a seal; and summonses, orders, and other documents issuing from the Court shall be sealed therewith; but, until the seal is provided, a stamp, with the inscription H. M. B. Consular Court for Tunis, may be used.

General Application of Order of 1873.

8. The Court for Tunis shall be deemed to be comprised in the term the Court in the Ottoman Order of 1873, or to be a Court within that Order, as the case may require; and the following Articles of that Order are hereby applied to the Court for Tunis, with the substitution of Tunis for Egypt, that is to say,—

Articles Twenty-eight, Thirty-two, Thirty-nine, Forty, Forty-one, Forty-two, Eighty-eight, Ninety-one, One hundred and thirty-seven, One hundred and thirty-eight, Two hundred and thirty-nine, Two hundred and sixty-five, Two hundred and sixty-seven, Two hundred and sixty-eight, Two hundred and sixty-nine, Two hundred and ninety-nine, Three hundred and six, Three hundred and nine, and Three hundred and eleven;

10. All Her Majesty's jurisdiction, civil and criminal exercisable in the Regency of Tunis, otherwise than under the two conventions aforesaid, and not by the Ottoman Order of 1873, vested exclusively in the Supreme Court, shall, to the extent and in the manner provided by this Order, be vested in the Court for Tunis.

11. The Court shall observe the provisions of Article twenty-seven of the General Convention of 1875 relating to quittances or receipts.

12. The criminal jurisdiction of the Court is hereby extended to all such contraventions of Police Regulations, and other Regulations, from time to time in force, as are within Article twenty-six of the General Convention of 1875; and every such contravention shall be deemed an offence making the person doing the act amenable to punishment: provided, first, that no punishment shall be imposed under this article, unless the Regulation a contravention whereof is charged has been adopted with the concurrence or approval of Her Majesty's Consul-General for Tunis; and, secondly, that no punishment shall be imposed under this article other than a fine not exceeding five pounds, with or without imprisonment, for not exceeding fourteen days, with or without hard labour.

13. Continuance of order of 1873.

14. Subject to the express provisions of this Order, the Ottoman Order of 1873, and the several Orders in Council amending the same, shall continue to apply to and be in force in the Regency of Tunis as if this Order had not been passed.

And the Right Honourable the Earl Granville, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

NOTIFICTION.

THE following revised Rules and Regulations for the issue and receipt of Instruments from the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Department, are published for the information and guidance of public officers :—

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

THE Calcutta Government Mathematical Instrument Department supplies new and serviceable instruments, &c., and repairs, examines, and adjusts, &c, old ones, on book debit on the public service. As a general rule new instruments are not supplied if serviceable instruments of the class required are available for issue.

2. All applications for instruments on the public service must be submitted in following indent form, the specification of instruments and particular purposes for which required being made as full as possible :—

Indent No. on the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt for Instruments required for the use of dated 18

				Rs.	A.	The address, which should be affixed to the parcels or cases, to be distinctly given in full. Abbreviations, sometimes lead to mistakes

I do hereby certify that the articles specified in this indent are indispensably necessary for the purposes set forth, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Recommended.

Countersignature of approving authority.

Signature of Indenting Officer, with Designation of appointment in full.

Indent forms may be had on application being made to the Mathematical Instrument Office.

3. All indents must be duly approved and countersigned by the heads of departments, or of the Government under which indenting officers may be serving, before they can be supplied, viz.—

Trigonometrical and Topgl. surveys,	by	Surveyor-General.
Revenue "	"	Deputy Surveyor-General.
Settlement "	"	Boards of Revenue.
Public Works Department,	"	Superintending Engineers or higher authorities.

Marine Department,	"	Superintendent of Marine.
Quarter-Master-General's Department,	"	Quarter-Master-General of the Army.
All other Civil Officers, or Military Officers in civil employ,	"	Secretary to Governments under which serving, or Secretary to Board of Revenue.

and they should be addressed to the Superintendent, Government Mathematical Instrument Department, No. 9, Park-street, Calcutta.

4. The mode of transit and address, or station to which the instruments are to be consigned, must invariably be specified on indents in the proper column. Indents should not be accompanied with forwarding letters, unless more explanation is necessary than can be given on the face of the indent.

5. All officers to whom instruments and other stores are issued on public service have to account for them to the Accountant-General to whom their accounts are rendered, in such manner as may be by him directed.

6. All instruments and component parts of instruments when no longer required should be at once returned to the Mathematical Instrument Department, except when the officer in charge considers that their transit charges may nearly equal or exceed their actual value as material, in which case he should refer to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, for instructions as to their disposal.

7. When instruments are considered unserviceable by any officer, a survey should be held on them by a committee of Government officers, whose report should be forwarded to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, who will issue instructions as to which of the articles are to be forwarded to the depôt, Calcutta, and which should be sold by public auction to the best advantage. The proceeds of all articles sold by auction must be deposited in the nearest treasury, and the treasury receipt, with auction account sale, should be forwarded to the Accountant-General to whom the accounts of such articles are rendered.

8. When instruments are received for final deposit in store, a receipt will be granted for them by the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, to enable officers from whom received to remove them from their debit, by forwarding their receipt to the Accountant-General concerned, with half-yearly or other returns of stores submitted to him.

9. All Government instruments, &c., requiring repair, &c., should be forwarded with an official letter or repair indent. If no longer required and intended to be deposited in store, it should be specifically mentioned.

10. All instruments, &c., received from England and issued on book debit on the public service, will be charged at their invoice cost plus charges incurred in landing, storing, and examining and despatching them, &c.; or when this cost cannot be ascertained, rate book prices will be charged. These are based on average rates.

11. Instruments made in the Department and those purchased locally for issue on book debit will be charged at the actual cost. Instruments purchased locally for officers not entitled to receive them on book debit will be charged at cost price plus 10 per cent. for incidental charges.

12. Instruments when they can be spared are sometimes issued to officers and others on payment of the cost value plus 10 per cent., and instruments the private property of officers are repaired, if necessary, on like terms. In such cases the amount must be remitted to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, before the instruments can be despatched from the Office of the Superintendent.

13. Instruments returned into store will be valued according to their condition.

14. It is particularly requested that sizes and sorts of instruments, length of scales, how divided, and purposes for which required, and generally any information which will guide this Department in knowing, without further reference, the exact wants of the indenting officer, be put as far as possible on face of indent, instead of in covering letters.

15. The following list shows nomenclature of the various descriptions of instruments ordinarily kept in store of this Department for issue on public service. This nomenclature should be adopted in all indents.

16. To enable the indenting officer, as well as the officer who countersigns and finally passes an indent, to know the cost involved thereby, the average ordinary price of each description of instrument is also given in the annexed list. Indenting officers must invariably enter the value of all instruments required by them in column of indent allotted to the purpose.

17. The supply should be regulated, not according to what an officer would like to have, but by what is absolutely necessary.

CALCUTTA,
The 10th June 1881.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 207.

The 25th July 1881.

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Jessore, and Moorshedabad districts of works done and in progress during the cess year 1879-80, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Major, M.S.C.,

Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Abstract of Report of Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1879-80.

THREE special and four ordinary meetings of the District Road Cess Committee were held during the year; all were well attended, and the members of the Committee and Branch Committees generally took an interest in their work.

The Committee has been able to maintain all its roads in decent order, but was unable to devote any funds for improvement of water communications. The demand for village roads is very great, and the Committee are only able to comply with those that are most urgent, or which will be of advantage to the greatest number. Fruit trees have been planted on two roads. No nursery gardens are necessary in the district, as young trees are procurable in any quantity.

The establishment in each department under the District Road Committee is reported to have worked well.

H. LEE,
Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs.

Abstract of Report of Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Nuddea, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1879-80.

NINE meetings were held by the Sudder Committee, and the members of the Sudder and several Branch Committees are reported to have worked satisfactorily.

Owing to the roads having been severely injured by the floods of 1880, the work of the year consisted chiefly of repairs. The income of the Committee was not sufficient to complete the repairs, though supplemented by a grant of Rs. 25,000 from Government. Rs. 14,000 of this grant was expended on relief works to relieve distress occasioned by the floods. The ordinary income of the Committee is not sufficient to keep existing roads in good order. From Rs. 1,000 to Rs. 1,200 were spent on village roads in each of the sub-divisions; in Meherpore, the practice was to require the person benefited by a road to contribute half its cost. Arboriculture received due attention, 2,277 indigenous fruit tress having been planted out on the road sides from the four nursery gardens established in the district. The District Engineer and his staff are reported to have worked well.

EXPLANATION.

RECEIPTS.—Road toll.—The sum of Rs. 1,724 was realized, being the arrears of previous year.

EXPENDITURE.—Collection establishment.—The less expenditure under this head is due to the fact that certain works of revision of valuation was done in the year 1878-79 and furniture and forms were not purchased.

Committee's establishment.—The amount for publication charges in the Calcutta Gazette, in accordance with section 89 of Act X of 1871 of the annual report and accounts was paid, hence it was exceeded.

Percentage cost of establishment.—The sum of Rs. 184-6-5 was paid as per Accountant-General's No. 64LF, dated the 21st April 1880.

No. 18, Gurkhal Bridge.—The bridge could not be undertaken as it was necessary to transfer the money allotted to it to repairing some of the damages done by the last flood.

No. 66, Ilalsa and Durgapore Bridge.—Explanation has been called for from the District Engineer which, when received, will be submitted in due course.

A, Arboriculture.—The excess expenditure was met by transfer as per Commissioner's No. 92PR, dated the 15th December 1880.

No. 85, Village Roads in Meherpore Sub-division.—Rs. 322-3 was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 92PR, dated the 15th December 1880.

No. 86, Village Roads in Chooadangah Sub-division.—Rs. 925 was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 85PR, dated the 1st December 1880.

No. 84, Village Roads in Koostea Sub-division.—Rs. 750 was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 51, dated the

No. 13, Krishnaghur and Kissengunge Road.—The estimate has exceeded by Rs. 290-5-9 owing chiefly to the fact that the condition of some of the newly repaired parts and some of the existing but partly damaged bridges of the road turned out considerably worse owing to insufficient and heavy showers of rains at about the close of the year, and therefore as a safeguard against their further damage and destruction some petty works were found to be indispensably necessary, and therefore accordingly carried out.

No. 21, Kanaghat and Arrunghatta Road.—The expenditure was not necessary.

No. 40, Chanduria and Khanturia Road.—The allotment was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 90PR, dated the 6th December 1880.

No. 41, Sarsa and Bayanchara Road.—The allotment was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 90PR, dated the 6th December 1880.

No. 47, Mamdogari and Gopalpore Road.—The excess expenditure was met by transfer, as per Commissioner's No. 90PR, dated the 6th December 1880.

No. 55, Kumarkhali and Kunchadiar Road.—The difference is due to a transfer sanctioned, as per Commissioner's No. 49PR, dated the 9th July 1880.

No. 63, Meherpore and Plassipara Road.—The excess expenditure was met by transfer, as per Commissioner's No. 92PR, dated the 15th December 1880.

No. 79, Mira and Plassipara Road.—The excess expenditure was met by transfer, as per Commissioner's No. 92PR, dated the 15th December 1880.

No. 116, Bongong and Ramnaghur Road.—The excess expenditure was met by transfer, as per Commissioner's No. 90PR, dated the 6th December 1880.

No. 144, Krishnaghur and Kasipore Road.—The allotment was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 45PR, dated the 30th June 1880.

No. 65, Barokhoda and Nowpara Road.—The allotment was transferred to other works, as per Commissioner's No. 45PR, dated the 30th June 1880.

No. 62, Meherpore and Nandanpore Road.—The excess expenditure was met by transfer, as per Commissioner's No. 92PR, dated the 15th December 1880.

ESTABLISHMENT ON WORK.—B.—Travelling allowance.—The excess, amounting to Rs. 130-10, is due to the fact that the officers had to travel a good deal more owing to the last flood which damaged the roads and embankments, &c., of this district very greatly.

C.—Contingencies.—The expenditure under this head has exceeded the estimate owing to the fact that Rs. 50 was paid for a civil suit for which there was no separate provision, and that the stationery indented for the whole year was received from the Superintendent of Stationery in the month of March; it will therefore last for half of the current year.

D.—Tools and plant.—The excess is due to purchase of a large number of kodalies for relief works undertaken in the parts of the district where the damage by the last unusual flood was very considerable.

W. R. RICKETTS,
Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of Report of Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Jessore, on the Committee's operations for the cess-year 1879-80.

The road cess is thoroughly appreciated by the people, and the collections, it is stated, have been good, the arrears of the previous year having been realized. The District Committee held nine meetings, but with few exceptions, the non-official members took little interest in their work. The several Branch Committees are reported to have worked well on the whole. All the roads, bridges, and culverts throughout the district have been properly maintained. Rs. 16,042 were expended on village roads, under the supervision of the sub-divisional officers, and members of the Branch Committees, and in the Narial sub-division, of village headmen. Nothing was done in regard to arboriculture beyond stocking the nursery garden at the sudder station with indigenous fruit-trees to plant out in 1880-81.

The different establishments under the Committee gave satisfaction in the performance of their duties.

No. 20R, dated Jessore, the 28th October 1880.

From—E. H. RUDDOCK, Esq., Offg. Collector of Jessore,
To—The Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Jessore.

WITH reference to your No. 9R, dated the 22nd instant, calling for an explanation as to the cause of increase of Rs. 3,728-4 cess on lands, I have the honour to inform you as follows.

2. In the year 1878-79 large arrears accrued owing to the scarcity, but in the year 1879-80 those arrears were cleared off and hence the increase in the receipts.

No. 29R, dated Jessore, the 4th November 1880.

From—E. H. RUDDOCK, Esq., Offg. Collector of Jessore,
To—The Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Jessore.

WITH reference to your No. 11R, dated the 28th October 1880, asking for an explanation of the cause of decrease of Rs. 85-15 on one per cent. road cess, I have the honour to inform you that in the year 1879-80 Rs. 404-1 were credited in the treasury under this head. Rs. 490, as shewn in the budget as estimated receipts, have not been realized, and credited into the treasury.

Sub-Committee's report on the examination of Annual Accounts under section 179 of the Act.

E. H. Ruddock, Esq., Chairman.
Mr. R. J. F. Stevens,
Baboo Dokhina Prosad Bose, „ Jodu Nath Chowdry, } Members.

1. We, the Sub-Committee appointed to examine the accounts of the road cess for the cess year 1879-80 after two days sitting, beg to lay our report before the District Road Cess Committee.

2. The monthly accounts have been audited by the Sub-Committee month by month since April last, so that we have thought it unnecessary to examine them again.

3. We have compared the actual receipts and expenditure with the budget estimate and found that in most cases they approximate closely with each other.

4. We have also compared several estimates for original works and repairs with the actual expenditure, and we find that except in a few instances, and that for very trifling sums, the estimates have not been exceeded. The charges have invariably been made according to the rates mentioned in the original estimate.

5. An estimate for Rs. 17,752 for Jessore and Kalligunge road was sanctioned by Government, but as the sanction was received too late in the season, the work was not taken in hand. A sum of Rs. 1,280 was sanctioned by the District Road Cess Committee and the Commissioner for other important works from the reserve balance of Rs. 5,877.

6. On cess on lands Rs. 3,728-4 were collected over the estimate which is due to the arrears of last year having been realized.

7. The Chairman and District Engineer's office was inspected by Mr. H. Stuart, Deputy Examiner of Public Works Accounts, Bengal, on the 25th and 26th ultimo, and the result was stated to be very satisfactory. The official report will follow in due course.

Abstract of Report of Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Moorshedabad, on the Committee's operations for the Cess year 1879-80.

THE meetings of the Sudder Committee were regularly attended by those members living in or near head-quarters; those members who live at a distance seldom attended. The members of the Branch Committees evinced greater interest in offering to execute village works than in attending Committee meetings.

All original works, except one which was completed before the close of the year, were stopped for want of funds.

The first and second-class roads have been much improved, but only the most important of the village roads were repaired, a great portion of the original grant having been directed to the repairs of the main roads. Tree-planting was not taken in hand for want of funds.

All the establishments under the Committee are reported to have worked well.

APPENDIX G.

No. A-60.

From—The Auditors of the Accounts of the Municipal Corporation for the Town of Calcutta,
To—The Municipal Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta.

GENTLEMEN,

WE have the honour to inform you that we have audited the accounts of the Corporation of Calcutta for the year 1880, and have found them to be correct, subject to the following remarks.

The audit has comprised not merely the cash, but also the store accounts of the Municipality. In the case of the store accounts, we have to report that, besides the usual audit of the receipts and issues, we have compared the balances of quantities shown in the Store accounts with the lists of the balances found to be actually in hand when stock was taken, except in the case of the Entally Manufactory, stock of the balances in which does not appear to have been taken. There were deficiencies between the actual and the book balances in the case of imported and indigenous broken stone of 865 and 5,596 cubic feet respectively, or about 3 per cent. of the book balance. The stock lists of the Baugbazar, Nimtollah, and road metal depôts bear the signature of the Superintendent of Stores, and those of the other store depôts that of the Engineer. There latter officer, however, in the case of the Entally Store states that his signature has been put to the stock list merely as a matter of form. In the case of the Kotrung Manufactory, so far as relates to the stock of bricks, the list instead of giving the results obtained by stock-taking, exhibits only the balances found to be on the stock accounts, and of course is quite valueless as a check upon those accounts.

With regard to the value balances in the stock accounts, we have to report that we have agreed them with the balances on the Accountant's ledgers, except in the case of the Entally Manufactory, and also in that of the Entally Store between the stock accounts of which and the Accountant's ledger there is a difference which is being enquired into. As the accounts of the stores for the extension of the water-supply had not been kept for the calendar year, and as the transactions of the current year 1881 had been mixed up with those of the past year 1880, these store accounts have not been audited. The audit will, however, be made when the accounts for 1881 are taken up.

We have submitted to the Chairman separate memoranda on the accounts of the Kotrung Brick Manufactory and the Entally Workshops.

2. Besides the value balances of the store accounts, the other balances on the 31st December 1880 on the Municipal books, as shown in the printed balance sheet, have been analyzed and explained to us in detail with the following exceptions :—

1. Road Department recoverable charges.
2. Town Hall ditto.
3. House Drainage ditto.
4. Deposits for appeal.
5. Excess receipts from the sale of property distrained.
6. Advance Account for de-watering and filling up tanks.
7. Deposit Account for clearing private land.
8. Group Drainage.
9. The accounts of some of the officers in whose custody rate and other bills are kept. See paragraph 6 of this report

The details of the balances of many of the above heads of account were wanting at the close of 1879, and we brought the matter to the notice of the Commissioners in paragraph 5 of our previous report.

As regards the Government Securities in deposit with the Bank, we have to report that we have inspected the acknowledgment of the Bank of Bengal, and in regard to those retained in the joint custody of the Secretary and the Vice-Chairman, we have seen either the receipt of the depositor for the paper returned to him during the current year, or the Bank's receipt for the paper lodged with it in February last for safe custody.

3. The printed accounts of the several funds have been prepared in the same forms as those of last year, and in them will be found a comparison between the actuals and the estimates. In explanation of some of the differences we have to offer the following remarks :—

(a) Under cart registration receipts, has been shown simply the Calcutta Municipality's share of such receipts instead of the gross receipts which were entered in the budget. The expenditure on account of cart registration has been omitted from the account with the exception of the payment to the Suburban and Howrah Municipalities of their shares of the surplus fees of 1879. The gross receipts and charges on this account will be found at pages 58 and 59 of the published accounts.

(b) The receipts and charges of the Hackney Carriage and Palankeen Registration Fund have been omitted from the General Fund, and have been shown under a separate fund at pages 56 and 57 of the published accounts. The creation of this separate fund on the Municipal books was required by the conditions upon which the working of the Hackney Carriage Act was transferred from the Commissioner of Police to the Municipal Commissioners for Calcutta. In previous years, such receipts and charges had been taken to the General Fund, and in order to fulfil the conditions just referred to, it has been necessary to charge to the General Fund a sum of Rs. 23,217-5-9, being the net surplus to the end of 1879 to be divided between the Hackney Carriage Repair Fund, the Suburban and the Howrah Municipalities.

(c) The peons' fees for the month of December have not been credited to the General Fund, but have been kept in balance as they are payable to the peons employed. From the budget of 1881 the receipts and charges on this account are omitted.

(d) In the case of tank filling, the receipts and expenditure have also been removed from the General Fund as they do not form any part of the income and expenditure of the Municipality.

(e) Under "VIII—Municipal Railway" will be found a credit of Rs. 11,626-14, for which no provision was made in the budget. The amount represents the value of some surplus railway sleepers, the cost of which had originally been paid out of revenue.

(f) The proportion of the general establishment and contingencies payable by the Water-rate Fund was estimated at Rs. 8,622, or 10 per cent. of the estimated charges under certain general heads of expenditure, amounting to Rs. 86,220. The estimated expenditure, however, under those heads of account of the actual expenditure under which the Water-rate Fund has contributed 10 per cent is Rs. 1,21,392. It would appear therefore that the Water-rate Fund has contributed towards the expenditure under heads of account towards which it was not intended it should contribute.

Of the savings on the expenditure side of the account, a sum of about Rs. 40,000 for the General Fund, and Rs 20,000 for the Water-rate Fund is due to sanction not having been availed of.

The excesses over the estimates in all the funds as regards the expenditure require the sanction of the Commissioners in meeting

4. With reference to paragraph 3 of our last report, we have to state that a list of the lands and the immoveable property of the Commissioners has been prepared by the Assessor, but that the register of the moveable property has not yet been completed: such a register is, we think, necessary, and should be kept in the Account Department in order that all expenditure upon such property may be represented by additions to the stock upon a stock register.

6. We have again to report that stock of these bills has not been taken, nor have detailed lists of them, except in the case of miscellaneous and market bills, been produced before us. The officers also, with whom the bills are supposed to be, have not, with the exception of the Collector, the Superintendent of Markets, and the Warrant Officer, in the case of miscellaneous bills, only, acknowledged the correctness of the amounts at their debit.

We would draw the attention of the Commissioners to the balances at credit of the late Collector. In paragraph 8 of our last report we referred to the unsatisfactory state of this account, and we would here point out that no advance seems to have been made during the year towards a settlement of this account.

We have noticed that the stamp duty on contracts entered into, with and on leases of Municipal property granted by the Commissioners has been paid by the Municipality, and we would enquire whether it is intended that the Corporation should bear this charge.

With reference to your drainage expenditure, we would remark that the whole of the expenditure has been charged under the five following heads of account:—

(1) Construction of sewer.
(3) Contingencies (sometimes shown under the work and sometimes separately).
(4) Ventilation of sewers.
(5) Urinals and latrines.

The drainage budget is prepared in much more detail, but as no further detail is given by the Engineer's Department on the vouchers passed for payments, and, as from the nature of the work, the Account Department is unable to supply the deficiency, it has been impossible to compile the accounts in any greater detail.

We have also to report that no completion certificate has been furnished by the Engineer of the works not previously added to the completed block accounts which, on the 31st December last, had been completed. A pencil mark was placed by the Assistant Engineer in a proof copy of the annual account against those sewers which had been completed, and from the information thus given, the transfer from the head of account "Works under Construction" to that of completed drainage works was made. We are of opinion that at the close of each year a statement should be furnished by the Engineer of the works that had been completed during that year, together with the cost of each work, and that on this statement should be given a certificate not only that those works had been completed, but also that the work had been carried out in accordance with the details of the estimates.

During the year additions were made to your block account to the extent of Rs. 3,25,706-10-10½ as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
On account of completed drainage	2,99,302	15	4½
Entally land, building, and machinery	15,065	15	4
Municipal Market	916	13	0
Other additions to the miscellaneous block	8,006	1	1
Water-supply block	2,414	14	1

On the other hand, your block account was reduced by Rs. 1,48,180-12-8, of which Rs. 1,065 represents the difference between the sale proceeds of certain machinery at Kotrung and the value at which it stood on the Municipal books. The remainder represents the value of the tramway block, Rs. 1,47,175-12-8, which has now been written off the accounts, all the materials of the tramway having now been disposed of as reported by the Engineer with the exception of a few odds and ends still remaining in the Entally Store Depôt. The total amount realized by the sale of the tramway materials is Rs. 17,817-5-11, less Rs. 635-14-5—charges incurred on account of the sale. But in the above sum the value of the tramway horses, which we understand was made over to the Gowkhanahs, is not included, no adjustment of their value having been made in the accounts.

APPENDIX H.

No. A-40.

From—The Auditors of the Accounts of the Calcutta Police,
To—The Municipal Commissioners for the Town of Calcutta.

GENTLEMEN,

WE have the honour to inform you that we have audited the accounts of the Calcutta Town Police for the year 1880, and have found them to be correct, subject to the following remarks.

2. We are unable to pass the expenditure on account of the feed and keep of horses as, owing to the system under which payments of this nature are made, a proper examination of this expenditure could not be conducted by us. The charges on this account consist chiefly of payments to the Superintendent of the Reserve Force at a certain rate per head, and the receipts of that officer for the money paid to him were the only vouchers produced to us in support of this expenditure. The receipts of the tradesmen for the articles purchased from them were not produced. As the amount paid to the Superintendent in any month can never correspond with the payments made by him, we are of opinion that payments to the Superintendent should be treated as advances, and that they should be adjusted by the submission of a detailed account passed by the Commissioner of Police, and supported by proper vouchers, of the actual cost during a month for the feed and keep of the horses belonging to the several departments under the control of the Commissioner of Police.

3. We notice that a sum of Rs. 59-1, on account of clothing of the Jute Police, which is payable by the Municipal Commissioners out of the fees, &c., realized by them under the Jute Warehouse Act, has been charged to the Additional Constables Fund, as there were no available funds in the hands of the Municipal Commissioners to meet this charge.

4. We annex the usual statement of receipts and expenditure, and a copy of the balance sheet of the 31st December 1880. In this annual account, which has been passed by us as correct, will be found a comparison between the actual receipts and expenditure and the estimates. The only difference which calls for remark in this report is that relating to the surplus of the Additional Constables Fund. It has been the practice to enter Rs. 5,000 in the estimates on this account, but as the surplus of each of the years 1877, 1878, 1879, and 1880 has been respectively only Rs. 908-10-1, Rs. 40-5-5, Rs. 805-5-6, and Rs. 648-7-3, it is evident that the receipts under this head have been considerably over-estimated. The estimate for 1881, we would add, is also Rs. 5,000. Against this deficiency, however, may be set the unrealized bills on the 31st December 1880, amounting to Rs. 1,083-6-6, for the services of policemen lent to public institutions, &c.

5. The accounts close with a credit balance of Rs. 4,071-2-3, but as Government has contributed Rs. 4,390-4 in excess of its share of the Police expenditure, the Municipality has still to pay a sum of Rs. 319-1-9 to meet its share of the cost of the Police Force. To meet this amount there was at credit of the Police-rate Fund on the Municipal books on the 31st December 1880 the sum of Rs. 21,523-4, besides unrealized Police-rate bills to the extent of Rs. 47,583-2-6.

6. We have seen the safe custody receipt of the Bank of Bengal for the Government Promissory Notes belonging to the Calcutta Police Superannuation Fund, and have analyzed the advance and deposit accounts.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read again—

Resolution in this Department, No. 953, dated the 10th June 1881, prescribing that articles of other than Indian origin or manufacture required for the public service must be obtained through the agency of the India Office, but that endeavours should be made to substitute for such articles, wherever feasible, articles of Indian production and manufacture.

Read also—

Letter from the Government of Bengal, No. 33, dated 4th April 1881, stating that tenders for the local supply of stationery for 1882-83 had been called for, and that it was not intended to prepare an indent for transmission to the Secretary of State.

Telegram to the Government of Bengal, No. 71, dated the 14th April 1881, directing that the notice calling for tenders should be cancelled, and the indent prepared and submitted without delay.

Letter from the Government of Bengal, No. 58, dated the 18th June 1881, forwarding, for transmission to the Secretary of State, an indent for stationery and paper required for the year 1882-83.

RESOLUTION.—In consequence of a misapprehension of the orders on the subject of the supply of stores from England for the public service, the stationery required for the Bengal Presidency for 1880-81 and 1881-82 was obtained from local contractors, and the Government of Bengal had sanctioned the continuance of the system for 1882-83, when the Government of India intervened and directed a return to the system of obtaining imported articles through the India Office.

2. The Government of Bengal has now submitted the indent as required, and it has been forwarded to the Secretary of State for compliance, with the exception of the items noted below which have been struck out of the list, as the Governor-General in Council has assured himself that the articles they comprise are now manufactured in India, and has decided that in all cases where Indian manufactures can be obtained as good in quality as imported articles, and no dearer in price, they shall be substituted for them.

(1) Parallel rulers.—These are made at the Government Workshops and Foundry, Roorkee, and there is no doubt that they can also be made at other similar private establishments in India, e.g. Messrs. Apcar & Co. and Messrs. Jessop & Co., Calcutta; Messrs. Fraser and Miller and Messrs. Richardson and Cruddas, Bombay; perhaps also at the workshops of the Government Dockyards. There can be no difficulty in obtaining them of Indian manufacture.

(2) Japanned tin boxes for colours (empty).—Articles of tinned ware are commonly made in the Indian bazaars, and the industry is extensive. It is desirable that tin-workers should be encouraged to produce such articles.

(3) Red tape (cotton), ⅛" and ¼" wide and 7 yards long.—The local Government should call for tenders from the cotton mills in Bombay, Cawnpore, and Calcutta for the supply of this article of local mill manufacture.

(4) Round rulers
(5) Flat rulers } .—Both these articles should be made locally. The wood from which they are made in England is largely Indian wood. Native or European carpenters and cabinet-makers should be invited in Bombay, Madras, and Calcutta to tender for their manufacture of sissoo wood or Bombay black wood.

(6) Plain ink glasses, with plated tops
(7) Plain ink glasses with screw-off tops } .—The Governor-General in Council understands that glass workers in Calcutta and elsewhere can produce the kind of glasses required, and that the manufacture of the article is also being carried on at Lahore. The tops can be made by metal-workers in the bazaars.

(8) Pasteboards
(9) Strawboards } .—These two articles should be obtained from the local paper mills, either those at Bally or Girgaum (Bombay), or elsewhere, according to convenience of supply and distribution, and tenders should be invited.

(10) Slices or paper-cutters (ivory).—The manufacture of ivory-ware is such an extensive industry in India that it is unnecessary to resort to the English market for these articles. Workers in ivory in Bengal, Madras (Vizagapatam), and Bombay should be invited to tender for the supply of paper slices, and also for that of ivory penholders, only the metal portion attached to these latter being, if necessary, obtained from England.

(11) Envelope stands of fancy wood with compartments of sizes.—These can be made in Calcutta and other towns by Native or European cabinet-makers or joiners.

(12) Pink and white blotting paper.—The remarks made on Nos. 9 and 10 apply to this article.

(13) White tape (cotton), ⅛" wide.—The remarks made with reference to red tape (No. 4) apply to this article also.

(14) Brass note-book clasps.—There seems no reason to doubt that native metal-workers in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and elsewhere can make these clasps in strict accordance with the samples which accompanied the letter from the Government of Bengal. Ordinary brass work of this kind should always be procured of native manufacture.

(15) Bookbinders' tools, viz., scratchers, paper knives, and plough knives.—It has been ascertained that these articles are commonly made at the Roorkee Workshops, and no doubt they can be made on demand at other similar establishments.

(16) Machine blanketing (for printing work).—The Manager of the Cawnpore Woollen Mills has his stated readiness to produce this article according to sample. It should be ascertained whether any other Woollen Mills, e.g. the Elgin or Muir Mills, Cawnpore, or the Bangalore Woollen Mills, would be able and willing to make similar articles.

3. In all cases where native workers in the bazaar are employed, it is desirable that if the work is to be done elsewhere than in Calcutta the arrangements should be made through the district authorities, who will generally be in a position to secure better rates and workmanship than if the artisans were employed direct or through other agency.

4. The Governor-General in Council requests that the Government of Bengal will give the instructions necessary for carrying into effect the wishes of the Government of India as expressed above in regard to the articles named. The Government of India further particularly desires that no articles for the stationery stores may in future be indented for from Europe which can be procured of local manufacture, and His Excellency in Council looks to the local Government carefully to strike out of indents passing through its hands all items which may be found on consideration capable of manufacture in India. Careful enquiries should be made in regard to all such articles, and not until it is satisfactorily shown that local manufactures cannot compete with the imported articles should such indents be accepted.

5. It is not desired that in regard to the article specified above or any others, the local Government should confine its orders to any particular firm or locality herein named. Further enquiry may elicit the fact that similar manufactures are carried on in other localities under more favourable conditions. As a rule, the best course to adopt will be to ascertain where certain articles can be or are made, and then to call for tenders from all the ascertained localities.

6. The principles enunciated above apply to paper equally with other articles of stationery, and should be carried out as far as practicable. The Indian Paper Mills are not at present of a nature to permit of the manufacture of the superior qualities of paper; but His Excellency the Governor-General in Council expects shortly to be able to notify for general information the quantities of such paper which have usually been obtained from England, with the prices paid, and will be prepared to enter into engagements for its supply to Government for a term of years, with any private parties or companies who may give satisfactory guarantees of their ability to manufacture it in India, at a cost not exceeding that hitherto paid.

7. These remarks will be communicated to all other local Governments and Administrations, who will be required to act on them in regard to future supplies of stationery, and to apply them also to indents for stores in all other Departments.

ORDERED that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Government of Bengal for information and guidance.

Also to the local Governments and Administrations noted in the margin for information and guidance. Ordered also that this Resolution be published for public information in the Gazette of India.

The Local Government shall at once report the publication of such notification, with the reasons for the same, to the Governor General in Council, who shall thereupon publish a notification in the Gazette of India confirming or cancelling the notification so published by the Local Government.

38. The Magistrate or Protector shall thereupon examine such person apart from the recruiter or Emigration Agent with reference to his agreement; and if it appears that he is competent to enter into such agreement and understands the nature of the same, that he has not been induced to accede to the same by any coercion, undue influence, fraud, misrepresentation or mistake, that the terms thereof are in conformity with law and, when the agreement is with a recruiter, are such as, according to the statement furnished to the recruiter under section twenty-five, he was authorized to offer, shall call upon the recruiter or Emigration Agent and the emigrant to execute such agreement in his presence, and, if they execute it, shall attest such execution with his signature, and shall register in a book to be kept for the purpose, in such form as the Local Government prescribes, the name of the recruiter or Agent, the names of the emigrant and his father, the caste, occupation, age and residence of the emigrant, the names of the persons (if any) about to emigrate as dependents of the emigrant, the depôt to which he is to proceed, and such other particulars as the Local Government may, from time to time, prescribe.

Where the Magistrate or Protector sees reason to doubt the existence of such dependence or willingness, he may, if he thinks fit, refuse to attest the agreement unless the name of such dependent is omitted therefrom.

See Act V of 1877, s. 18, last clause.

Reasons for refusing to attest agreement to be recorded.

41. Whenever the Magistrate or Protector refuses to attest under section thirty-eight the execution of any agreement he shall record his reasons for such refusal; and in order to satisfy himself whether he should or should not so refuse, he may, from time to time, adjourn the examination under section thirty-eight or section forty.

See Act V of 1877, s. 17.

Where any such direction is made, no Magistrate shall attest the execution of any agreement under this Act until, in respect of every emigrant comprised therein, such certificate from such medical officer as aforesaid has been produced and shewn to him.

44. No recruiter shall remove or attempt to remove any emigrant to a depôt, or induce or attempt to induce him to go to a depôt or leave the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Magistrate by whom such recruiter's license has been countersigned, or aid him in going to any depôt, or leaving any such local limits, until such emigrant has been registered under section thirty-eight.

or if the Protector, on making the examination and perusing the contract as directed by section fifty-two, finds that any such irregularity has occurred in the recruitment or treatment by the recruiter of any such emigrant as makes it just to rescind the contract to emigrate; or if the Emigration Agent refuses to fulfil the contract entered into with such emigrant, the Protector may order the Emigration Agent at once to pay such emigrant such reasonable sum as is necessary to enable him to return to the place at which he resides and such further sum as such Protector may deem reasonable as compensation, and may take any other steps he thinks necessary for the conveyance of the emigrant to such place.

And any emigrant who from his state of health is, in the opinion of the Medical Inspector of Emigrants, unfit to undertake such return-journey shall be entitled to be fed, lodged, clothed and attended to at the depôt at the port of embarkation at the expense of the Emigration Agent, until he is reported by the Medical Inspector fit to undertake such return-journey.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

NUMEROUS suggestions for the amendment of the Indian Emigration Act, 1871, have from time to time been received by the Government. Many of these which it appears desirable to adopt deal with minor and, comparatively speaking, unimportant points; but some propose substantial changes which would materially alter the working of the existing law. It has, moreover, been found that the form and arrangement of the Act are susceptible of improvement. Under these circumstances, it has been thought advisable to repeal the Act, and re-enact it with all the requisite amendments. Of these amendments the more important are the following.

2. In the preliminary chapter "emigrate," "emigrant" and "emigration" have been so defined as to cover not only persons leaving India under a contract to labour, but also dependents of such persons. It is obvious that, for all purposes of the control of recruiters and depôts, the regulation of emigrant vessels, &c., it is as necessary to take count of dependents as of the persons who contract to labour.

3. Section 5, which corresponds to section 26 of the Act of 1871, has been amplified so as to give the Governor General in Council power to establish ports other than those of the three Presidency-towns as ports of embarkation.

4. In a recent correspondence it has been brought to notice that the effect of the Contract Act of 1872 has been to make it impossible for persons under the legal age of majority (in most cases 18) to engage to emigrate. The limit of sixteen years at or above which an emigrant may himself enter into a contract to emigrate has been adopted in sections 34 and 35 of the Bill from the Bengal Labour Districts Emigration Act (Bengal Act VII of 1873); and it has been provided that minors below that age and above the age of six years may contract through their guardians, power being reserved to the minor to rescind the contract at any time within the thirty days next following the completion of his age of eighteen years.

5. Section 33 requires all agreements to emigrate to be in writing, and, if entered into within the limits of any port from which emigration is lawful, to be made with the Emigration Agent at such port, and executed in the presence of the Protector; if entered into elsewhere, to be made with a recruiter and executed in the presence of a Magistrate. Section 36 lays down what such agreements must contain. At present, there is much confusion in the law as to what constitutes the contract to emigrate; and it is not absolutely necessary that any terms of service should be settled before the emigrant leaves India. Most, if not all, colonies have already introduced written contracts, so that there will be no hardship in requiring their general use; the conventions with France and Holland expressly stipulate that a written contract must first be executed in India, and there will thus be no difficulty with those powers. The requirement of a contract, moreover, marks distinctly the stage at which an emigrant becomes liable for breach of contract—a point which under the present law is somewhat uncertain. Lastly, the provision exists (in substance) in the Burma and Straits Settlements Emigration Laws. The material stipulations mentioned in section 36 are all actually adopted by the colonies which receive Indian emigrants.

6. The remaining amendments are for the most part in matters of detail, and may be shortly stated as follows.

7. For the present definition of Magistrate and section 85 of the existing Act, the definition in Act V of 1877 (The Straits Settlements Emigration Act, 1877), which allows of the appointment of any person as a Magistrate for the purposes of the Act, has been substituted.

8. Chapter II.—Ports from which, and places to which, Emigration is lawful.—This is a new chapter, which brings together under one head, in an amended form, the provisions of sections 23 to 26 and sections 57 to 61 of the Act of 1871.

9. Sections 7 to 10.—In the present law sections 57 and 61 overlap, and one of them is clearly unnecessary. The opportunity has accordingly been taken to re-draft the sections, amalgamating them and specifying more clearly the reasons for which emigration may be suspended. Excessive mortality, neglect to enforce in the colony the contracts made in India and omission to furnish the Government of India with the information necessary to enable it to judge how Indian immigrants are treated have been added to the reasons mentioned in sections 57 and 61 of the present Act. This last is in accordance with the recommendation of Sir G. Campbell.

10. Section 8 defines more clearly the extraordinary power which, under section 61 of the present Act, can be exercised by the Local Government on a pressing emergency; and this power has been restricted to a single case—the outbreak of plague or other epidemic disease dangerous to life in the colony.

11. Chapter III.—Emigration Agents.—No change has been made in this chapter, which corresponds with Part II of the present Act, except a slight amendment of section 4 of the present law, defining the effect of the notification of appointment of an Emigration Agent by the Local Government and giving that Government power to withdraw its approval of the appointment of such Agent.

12. Chapter IV.—Protectors of Emigrants and Medical Inspectors.—The wording of this chapter, which corresponds with a portion of Part III of the present Act, has been revised, and power has been given to the Local Government to appoint, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, Protectors of Emigrants for local areas beyond the territories subject to its administration.

13. Chapter V.—Emigration Depôts.—This chapter corresponds with a portion of Part III of the present Act; but the second clauses of sections 18 and 21, which are based on Act III of 1876, section 25, are new.

14. Chapter VI.—Recruiters and Sub-Agents of Emigration.—Several modifications and additions have been made in the portion of this chapter relating to recruiters, all of which have been strongly urged on the attention of the Government of India at various times, and the expediency of most of which has already been recognized in Acts III of 1876 and V of 1877. The first of these is the requirement in section 23 that the local area within which the recruiter is to work shall be specified in the license: this is taken from Act V of 1877, section 12. The next is the omission of section 20 of the present Act, which requires every recruiter to wear a badge. The badge has been objected to by many authorities, as investing the recruiter, in the eyes of the people, with the appearance of a Government chaprási. It is clearly necessary, on the other hand, that every recruiter should be furnished with an authentic statement of the terms he is authorized to offer; and section 25 of the Bill accordingly requires that he should be furnished with such a statement. The next amendment calling for notice is in the second paragraph of section 26. At present, the Magistrate has no option in countersigning a recruiter's license, but must add his signature, if the period of the license is unexpired; it is obvious that he should refuse to do so if the recruiter bears a bad character. At present, the Protector is required, under executive instructions, to satisfy himself, by enquiry from the Magistrate of the district where the recruiter is known, that there is nothing against him before granting the license; but this is a circuitous method of procedure, and often leads to great delay. The principle of this amendment has already been fully admitted in Acts III of 1876, section 12, and V of 1877, section 13, from which it is borrowed. The other provisions of this paragraph, and the provisions of section 27 as to the regulation of places of accommodation to be provided in the recruiting districts for intending emigrants, are also new. At the places referred to many abuses are practised in connection with recruiting, and the necessity of supervising such places has several times been pressed on the Government of India as urgently necessary. Sections 28 and 29 are also new. They are the complement of section 26, and are taken from Acts III of 1876, section 12, and V of 1877, section 13. Section 28 empowers the Magistrate, under certain circumstances, to cancel his countersignature or to impound the license and send it to the Protector for cancellation; and section 29 requires all refusals and cancellations of countersignature by Magistrates to be at once reported to the Protector.

15. The last three sections of this chapter (30 to 32), relating to Sub-Agents, are new, and provide some much-needed clauses for the control of the local agency through which it is the practice of Emigration Agents to conduct recruiting operations. All Sub-Agents must be licensed by the Local Government; and the license, for which a fee of Rs. 30 (double that for a recruiter's license) is fixed, may be revoked on proof of misconduct. It is further provided that the remuneration of Sub-Agents must, like that of Emigration Agents (under section 5 of the present Act), be a fixed sum, and not in the form of head-money.

16. Chapter VII.—Agreements with Emigrants.—The provisions of this chapter are new, and make certain important additions to the existing law.

17. Chapter VIII.—Attestation of Agreements and Registration of Emigrants.—In this chapter, which corresponds with Part VI of the present Act, modifications have been introduced—

(1) to provide for the agreement with the emigrant being executed before and attested by the Magistrate or the Protector (section 38);

(2) to alter the particulars required to be entered in the register (section 38);

(3) to state more clearly the reasons for which a registering officer may refuse to attest a contract (section 39);

(4) to provide for the examination of dependents as to their dependence upon the contracting emigrants and as to their willingness to accompany such emigrants (section 40);

(5) to provide for a medical examination of intending emigrants, where necessary, previous to their being registered under section 38 (section 42);

(6) to revise the table of fees (section 45).

18. The effect of the first of these amendments will be to bind the emigrant more closely, and so place an obstacle in the way of his desertion. On the other hand, it will give the emigrant, if rejected by the Agent, a claim which can be enforced in the Courts on his behalf by the Protector (section 104).

19. The second matter is dealt with by adding to the particulars at present required the following:—

(a) the name of the recruiter or agent to whom the emigrant has been engaged;

(b) the caste and occupation of the emigrant; and

(c) the persons who, if he were to die at once, would be entitled to succeed to his property (so that any savings he may have collected in the colony may be duly delivered).

On the other hand, as a copy of the contract is to be placed on record in the Protector's office, the rate of wages and period of service will no longer be entered in the register.

20. As regards the third matter, power has been given, in accordance with the recommendation of the Government of the North-Western Provinces, to refuse attestation (in the absence of sufficient explanation) when the emigrant is a resident of a place beyond the jurisdiction of the Magistrate before whom he appears. This is a necessary precaution, as it is common for unscrupulous recruiters to convey intending emigrants long distances from their homes, to involve them in debt for maintenance during their journey, and thus to remove the temptation, and at the same time deprive them of the power, to return. It also often happens that an emigrant whose registration is refused by one Magistrate is taken before another in the next district, where it is hoped that the officer will be more compliant. Power has also been given to refuse registration of a person who, if he quits his home, will leave his family destitute, and of a married woman without the consent of her husband.

21. The fourth point has been provided for as in Act V of 1877, section 19.

22. As regards the fifth point, it is not intended that the power to order a medical examination of an emigrant recruited in a district beyond the port of embarkation shall be universally enforced. The examination is only to be directed to testing the emigrant's fitness to undertake the journey to the depôt and not his fitness to labour, for which the Emigration Agent is responsible. It will only be necessary to require a medical examination in special cases, as, for instance, when the condition of the emigrating class is reduced by famine, or when the distance to be travelled to the depôt is great.

23. The fees fixed by section 31 of the present Act can be taken, under the definition of "emigrant" and the operation of the Contract Act, only for adult emigrants. It seems desirable to require a fee for the registration of every contracting emigrant, allowing dependents who do not contract, and are only entered in the register, to be registered without a fee. This matter recently formed the subject of correspondence with Local Governments, and the scale adopted is generally in accordance with their recommendations. The present provision for the refund of the fee on desertion has, in accordance with the precedents of Acts III of 1876 and V of 1877 and the recommendation of the Government of Bengal, been omitted. The fee is a payment for the work of registration, and that work is not affected by the subsequent desertion of the emigrant.

24. Chapter IX.—Conveyance of Emigrants to Depôts.—In this chapter a provision has been added which enables the Magistrate to order the Emigration Agent or recruiter to pay such sum as is necessary to enable an emigrant, who has been rejected before arriving at the port of embarkation, or the dependent of such emigrant, to return to his home.

25. Chapter X.—Procedure on arrival at the Depôt of Emigrants from Up-country.—The provisions of this chapter have been re-arranged and revised, the corresponding provisions of Act V of 1877 being generally followed. The operation of the chapter has been expressly restricted to the case of emigrants from up-country, for whom alone it appears to be intended. Section 51 as amended expresses what has always been understood by the Government of India to be the responsibility of its officers in respect of the fitness of emigrants to emigrate: fitness for labour and life in the colony is a matter for which the Emigration Agent is responsible. Sections 55 and 56 have been adopted with some modifications from Act V of 1877, sections 28, 29 and 30.

26. Chapter XI.—Emigrant Vessels.—The amendments in this chapter, which corresponds with Part IX of the present Act, are slight. There is a change in the wording of paragraph 3 of section 58 and some alterations in the dimensions specified in section 60. The principal differences, as compared with the present law, are—(1) that the height of the accommodation for emigrants is raised from 5½ to 6 feet; (2) that all children under ten, instead of only those from one to ten years of age, are counted at the rate of two to one adult; and (3), that the space required for each child under ten is fixed at half that required for an adult, instead of, as now, two-thirds for children between two and ten. These changes were recommended by the Government of Bengal in 1873, and are required chiefly to improve the accommodation for infants, among whom much mortality occasionally occurs. "Compounders, interpreters and female nurses" have been added in section 63 also, in accordance with the recommendation of the Government of Bengal.

27. Chapter XII.—Embarkation and Departure.—Section 67 is in accordance with a recommendation made by the Protector of Emigrants at Calcutta, who considers it a precaution necessary "not only to afford the opportunity of ascertaining the freedom of emigrants from latent and communicable diseases which have distinct periods of incubation, but to give such as are ill-nourished and have been recruited in famine-stricken districts some time to rest and recover themselves after their journey, and prior to undertaking what proves in all cases a trying voyage to Indian emigrants generally."

28. Section 68 embodies the present views of the Government of India regarding the seasons at which embarkation should be allowed. This matter has been the subject of much discussion. The conventions allow the French and Dutch colonies a longer period than the Act allows the corresponding British colonies; and, in the case of the latter, it has been represented that even the period allowed by the Act is too long, since emigrants shipped late in the season for the West Indies arrive there at a very unhealthy season of the year, and are liable to great mortality in consequence.

When the provisions of the existing law were framed, the embarkation seasons were settled with reference to one point only, viz., the necessity for avoiding the stormy weather encountered in the neighbourhood of the Cape of Good Hope during the Antarctic winter; consequently no impediment was offered to the shipment of emigrants at any time of the year for colonies east of the Cape. But hurricanes prevail in the neighbourhood of Réunion between the months of November and April; and they are also prevalent in the Fiji Islands during the same season. Moreover, the necessity for landing emigrants in their place of destination at a healthy season of the year is another consideration which makes it necessary carefully to regulate the period of despatch.

In the Bill, therefore, power has been taken to enable the Governor General in Council to regulate the departure of all emigrant vessels, whether bound for places to the east or west of the Cape of Good Hope.

The present limits, the 31st July to the 1st March, for places west of the Cape of Good Hope, however, have been retained as a maximum; and the provision in the present Act (section 46, last clause) permitting departure for such places on an emergency up to the 1st April has been struck out. Cases of loss of emigrant vessels allowed to be despatched after the 1st March, as well as heavy mortality during such voyages, have occurred, and it is thought inexpedient to continue the concession.

The special privilege of carrying emigrants at any time of the year now enjoyed by steamers has also been done away with, as being inconsistent with the regulation of the season for departure with reference to that of arrival in the colony; but as a concession to the superiority of such vessels over sailing vessels, the time within which they may depart for places west of the Cape of Good Hope is extended from the 1st to the 15th March.

29. The penalty clause in section 45 of the present Act, to which section 71 of the Bill corresponds, has been removed to its proper place in chapter XIV (section 99).

In section 72 the number of copies of the list has been reduced from five to four, which, according to the Protector of Emigrants at Calcutta, are all that are required.

Section 78, requiring the Emigration Agent to furnish the Master with the contracts, is new, but needs no comment.

30. Sections 82 and 83 are new. They express the substance of the conclusions come to in a correspondence which passed in 1877 regarding the action which should be taken on the occurrence of cases of an infectious disease, or an outbreak of cholera in an epidemic form, on board an emigrant vessel proceeding down the Hugli.

31. Section 55 of the present Act has been omitted, as no emigration has ever gone on to Seychelles, and the colony was included in that Act by a mistake.

32. Chapter XIII.—Supplementary Powers.—In section 85 a few additions have been made to the matters regarding which rules may be framed (clauses c, d, f, g and h), and the proviso authorizing the Local Government to permit the despatch of a vessel with less than the prescribed proportion of women has been struck out.

33. Section 86 relates to fees, and modifies section 62 of the present Act. The object of levying fees is to maintain therefrom the necessary protective establishments in India; such fees should accordingly be just sufficient to cover the cost of such establishments, neither more nor less. It may sometimes happen (more especially, as at present, in the case of foreign colonies) that the Government of India has to meet in respect of some particular colony a special expenditure, which it would be unfair to cast (as is now done) on the income from fees contributed by all colonies; a proviso has accordingly been added enabling such expenditure to be met by enhanced fees on emigration to the particular colony in respect of which it is incurred.

34. Chapter XIV.—Offences.—This part has been generally redrawn. The penalties provided in the present Act, sections 72 to 75, are merely fine extending to 500 rupees. It appears necessary to add imprisonment, as in Act V of 1877.

35. Section 90 has been introduced to cover the case of unlicensed persons acting as Sub-Agents.

36. Section 96 is new; it has been adopted from Act V of 1877, section 44.

37. Section 98 is also new; it provides for the punishment of emigrants who desert after a contract has been duly entered into with the recruiter before a Magistrate. The present law provides no punishment for this offence, the only liability being to a civil suit for breach of contract—a proceeding which is, of course, useless in most cases of the kind. There is no doubt that, in view of the class of men who work as recruiters and the many risks of deception and ill-treatment to which intending emigrants are exposed at their hands, it is necessary to guard the power to inflict a penalty for desertion in such cases most carefully. Still cases have arisen, and may easily arise, of impudent deception on the part of persons who profess willingness to emigrate, and under such profession obtain board and lodging in the Mufassal, and free conveyance to the port of embarkation, where they desert or refuse to emigrate. To meet such cases, the section has been devised, and it has been so drawn as to require the sanction of the Protector of Emigrants to every prosecution instituted under it.

38. Section 99 has been substituted for the second clause of section 45 of the present Act, which clause, it may here be observed, is practically inoperative in Calcutta, because it requires the complaint to be laid before a Magistrate of Police in a Presidency-town, and the depôts are situated outside the limits of Calcutta, and therefore outside of the local jurisdiction of such Magistrates. The penalty, instead of being stated by reference to section 492 of the Penal Code, is mentioned in express terms; and the sanction of the Protector to a prosecution under the section is, as in section 98, required.

39. Section 102 is an amendment of section 82 of Act VII of 1871. At present special authority is required to institute prosecutions for all offences under the existing Act; there seems to be no good reason why such sanction should be required in the case of the offences mentioned in sections 87 to 91.

40. Chapter XV.—Miscellaneous.—Section 105 corresponds with section 83 of the present Act, which has been re-drawn to admit of the probable length of voyages being modified from time to time as may be found necessary on the receipt of fuller information, or the establishment of improved means of communication. Section 84 of the present Act is incorporated with section 105.

41. A new form of recruiter's license (chiefly taken from Act V of 1877) has been substituted for the form in Schedule II of the present Act.

42. In the third schedule of the Bill opportunity has been taken to correct a clerical error as to the length of the voyage from Calcutta to French Guiana. In section 83, Act VII of 1871, twenty-six weeks is said to be the length of this voyage, whereas it should be twenty weeks.

43. The "special provisions as to French colonies" (Part XII, sections 63—70 of the present Act) have been omitted as unnecessary, it being considered that all emigration, whether to British or Foreign colonies, should be conducted on one system. It may be observed that no such special provisions have been found necessary in the case of emigration to Surinam, which has been carried on under a convention with the Netherlands Government similar to that with France. The convention with France is now about to be amended, and if in its amended form it should be found to include any points requiring a deviation in matters of detail from the general procedure of the Bill, such points, together with the question of the adaptation of the Bill to emigration from French ports, can be left for consideration to the Select Committee to which it is proposed to refer the Bill.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read the following papers regarding the supply of stores required for the public service :—

Financial Resolution No. 3574, dated 3rd November 1880.
" " " 953 " 10th June 1881.
" Circular " 220 " 28th April "
" " " 621 " 14th May "

Read also the following letters from the Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces :—

No. 1680—94, dated 12th May 1881.
" 2412—125 " 1st July "

RESOLUTION.—It appears that for the public service in the Central Provinces no European stores were intended for from England during the last two years, the articles required having been procured locally. In future the orders contained in the Resolution of the 10th ultimo cited above should be carried out in the Central Provinces as elsewhere.

2. In pursuance of the policy of the Government of India that it is expedient to encourage Indian industries, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the following articles shall in future be procured of bona fide Indian manufacture wherever possible, and when they can be supplied at rates not higher than imported goods of the same quality can be obtained.

3. Pasteboards.—Over Rs. 1,000 worth was bought during the last two years. These should be obtained either from the Girgaum (Bombay) or the Bally Paper Mills, or elsewhere, according to cheapness and convenience of supply.

4. Turkey Red Cloth.—Over Rs. 13,000 worth was bought during the last two years, and there is a large yearly demand for this cloth in the Central Provinces and in other local administrations. It is understood to be largely used for turbans for the Police. There will probably be no difficulty in having the cloth woven in the Indian mills and dyed either with imported madder or with Indian dye-stuffs, such as Al (Morinda tinctoria and M. citrifolia), which is common over Northern India. Should difficulties in obtaining a suitable red present themselves at the outset, the Indian dyes of other colours are excellent and equally suitable for the purposes of Government. The Chief Commissioner should give public notice of his requirements in respect of this cloth and of the price hitherto paid for it, and invite tenders for their supply within those limits for a term of years not exceeding five.

His Excellency the Governor-General in Council desires that a similar course may be followed by all local Governments and Administrations requiring cloth, and that the purchase of the imported article may be henceforward discontinued.

5. Brass rules for printing. Iron tanks and pipes.—These can be made by local manufacturers in Bombay and elsewhere, and should be obtained, whenever required, by private reference or public tender.

6. Spirits of Wine and Rum.—These are largely manufactured of good quality in India, e.g. at the distilleries at Shajahanpur, Simla, Cossipur (Calcutta), and Aska (Ganjam), and should not henceforward be indented for from England or purchased of English manufacture in the local market.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, and to the other local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance, with the request that the instructions here given may be carefully carried out.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

The following orders issued by the Government of India, in the Military Department, are republished for general information:—

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

NUMEROUS suggestions for the amendment of the Indian Emigration Act, 1871, have from time to time been received by the Government. Many of these which it appears desirable to adopt deal with minor and, comparatively speaking, unimportant points; but some propose substantial changes which would materially alter the working of the existing law. It has, moreover, been found that the form and arrangement of the Act are susceptible of improvement. Under these circumstances, it has been thought advisable to repeal the Act, and re-enact it with all the requisite amendments. Of these amendments the more important are the following.

2. In the preliminary chapter "emigrate," "emigrant" and "emigration" have been so defined as to cover not only persons leaving India under a contract to labour, but also dependents of such persons. It is obvious that, for all purposes of the control of recruiters and depôts, the regulation of emigrant vessels, &c., it is as necessary to take count of dependents as of the persons who contract to labour.

3. Section 5, which corresponds to section 26 of the Act of 1871, has been amplified so as to give the Governor General in Council power to establish ports other than those of the three Presidency-towns as ports of embarkation.

4. In a recent correspondence it has been brought to notice that the effect of the Contract Act of 1872 has been to make it impossible for persons under the legal age of majority (in most cases 18) to engage to emigrate. The limit of sixteen years at or above which an emigrant may himself enter into a contract to emigrate has been adopted in sections 34 and 35 of the Bill from the Bengal Labour Districts Emigration Act (Bengal Act VII of 1873); and it has been provided that minors below that age and above the age of six years may contract through their guardians, power being reserved to the minor to rescind the contract at any time within the thirty days next following the completion of his age of eighteen years.

5. Section 33 requires all agreements to emigrate to be in writing, and, if entered into within the limits of any port from which emigration is lawful, to be made with the Emigration Agent at such port, and executed in the presence of the Protector; if entered into elsewhere, to be made with a recruiter and executed in the presence of a Magistrate. Section 36 lays down what such agreements must contain. At present, there is much confusion in the law as to what constitutes the contract to emigrate; and it is not absolutely necessary that any terms of service should be settled before the emigrant leaves India. Most, if not all, colonies have already introduced written contracts, so that there will be no hardship in requiring their general use; the conventions with France and Holland expressly stipulate that a written contract must first be executed in India, and there will thus be no difficulty with those powers. The requirement of a contract, moreover, marks distinctly the stage at which an emigrant becomes liable for breach of contract—a point which under the present law is somewhat uncertain. Lastly, the provision exists (in substance) in the Burma and Straits Settlements Emigration Laws. The material stipulations mentioned in section 36 are all actually adopted by the colonies which receive Indian emigrants.

6. The remaining amendments are for the most part in matters of detail, and may be shortly stated as follows.

7. For the present definition of Magistrate and section 85 of the existing Act, the definition in Act V of 1877 (The Straits Settlements Emigration Act, 1877), which allows of the appointment of any person as a Magistrate for the purposes of the Act, has been substituted.

8. Chapter II.—Ports from which, and places to which, Emigration is lawful.—This is a new chapter, which brings together under one head, in an amended form, the provisions of sections 23 to 26 and sections 57 to 61 of the Act of 1871.

9. Sections 7 to 10.—In the present law sections 57 and 61 overlap, and one of them is clearly unnecessary. The opportunity has accordingly been taken to re-draft the sections, amalgamating them and specifying more clearly the reasons for which emigration may be suspended. Excessive mortality, neglect to enforce in the colony the contracts made in India and omission to furnish the Government of India with the information necessary to enable it to judge how Indian immigrants are treated have been added to the reasons mentioned in sections 57 and 61 of the present Act. This last is in accordance with the recommendation of Sir G. Campbell.

10. Section 8 defines more clearly the extraordinary power which, under section 61 of the present Act, can be exercised by the Local Government on a pressing emergency; and this power has been restricted to a single case—the outbreak of plague or other epidemic disease dangerous to life in the colony.

11. Chapter III.—Emigration Agents.—No change has been made in this chapter, which corresponds with Part II of the present Act, except a slight amendment of section 4 of the present law, defining the effect of the notification of appointment of an Emigration Agent by the Local Government and giving that Government power to withdraw its approval of the appointment of such Agent.

12. Chapter IV.—Protectors of Emigrants and Medical Inspectors.—The wording of this chapter, which corresponds with a portion of Part III of the present Act, has been revised, and power has been given to the Local Government to appoint, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, Protectors of Emigrants for local areas beyond the territories subject to its administration.

13. Chapter V.—Emigration Depôts.—This chapter corresponds with a portion of Part III of the present Act; but the second clauses of sections 18 and 21, which are based on Act III of 1876, section 25, are new.

14. Chapter VI.—Recruiters and Sub-Agents of Emigration.—Several modifications and additions have been made in the portion of this chapter relating to recruiters, all of which have been strongly urged on the attention of the Government of India at various times, and the expediency of most of which has already been recognized in Acts III of 1876 and V of 1877. The first of these is the requirement in section 23 that the local area within which the recruiter is to work shall be specified in the license: this is taken from Act V of 1877, section 12. The next is the omission of section 20 of the present Act, which requires every recruiter to wear a badge. The badge has been objected to by many authorities, as investing the recruiter, in the eyes of the people, with the appearance of a Government chaprási. It is clearly necessary, on the other hand, that every recruiter should be furnished with an authentic statement of the terms he is authorized to offer; and section 25 of the Bill accordingly requires that he should be furnished with such a statement. The next amendment calling for notice is in the second paragraph of section 26. At present, the Magistrate has no option in countersigning a recruiter's license, but must add his signature, if the period of the license is unexpired; it is obvious that he should refuse to do so if the recruiter bears a bad character. At present, the Protector is required, under executive instructions, to satisfy himself, by enquiry from the Magistrate of the district where the recruiter is known, that there is nothing against him before granting the license; but this is a circuitous method of procedure, and often leads to great delay. The principle of this amendment has already been fully admitted in Acts III of 1876, section 12, and V of 1877, section 13, from which it is borrowed. The other provisions of this paragraph, and the provisions of section 27 as to the regulation of places of accommodation to be provided in the recruiting districts for intending emigrants, are also new. At the places referred to many abuses are practised in connection with recruiting, and the necessity of supervising such places has several times been pressed on the Government of India as urgently necessary. Sections 28 and 29 are also new. They are the complement of section 26, and are taken from Acts III of 1876, section 12, and V of 1877, section 13. Section 28 empowers the Magistrate, under certain circumstances, to cancel his countersignature or to impound the license and send it to the Protector for cancellation; and section 29 requires all refusals and cancellations of countersignature by Magistrates to be at once reported to the Protector.

15. The last three sections of this chapter (30 to 32), relating to Sub-Agents, are new, and provide some much-needed clauses for the control of the local agency through which it is the practice of Emigration Agents to conduct recruiting operations. All Sub-Agents must be licensed by the Local Government; and the license, for which a fee of Rs. 30 (double that for a recruiter's license) is fixed, may be revoked on proof of misconduct. It is further provided that the remuneration of Sub-Agents must, like that of Emigration Agents (under section 5 of the present Act), be a fixed sum, and not in the form of head-money.

16. Chapter VII.—Agreements with Emigrants.—The provisions of this chapter are new, and make certain important additions to the existing law.

17. Chapter VIII.—Attestation of Agreements and Registration of Emigrants.—In this chapter, which corresponds with Part VI of the present Act, modifications have been introduced—

(1) to provide for the agreement with the emigrant being executed before and attested by the Magistrate or the Protector (section 38);

(2) to alter the particulars required to be entered in the register (section 38);

(3) to state more clearly the reasons for which a registering officer may refuse to attest a contract (section 39);

(4) to provide for the examination of dependents as to their dependence upon the contracting emigrants and as to their willingness to accompany such emigrants (section 40);

(5) to provide for a medical examination of intending emigrants, where necessary, previous to their being registered under section 38 (section 42);

(6) to revise the table of fees (section 45).

18. The effect of the first of these amendments will be to bind the emigrant more closely, and so place an obstacle in the way of his desertion. On the other hand, it will give the emigrant, if rejected by the Agent, a claim which can be enforced in the Courts on his behalf by the Protector (section 104).

19. The second matter is dealt with by adding to the particulars at present required the following:—

(a) the name of the recruiter or agent to whom the emigrant has been engaged;

(b) the caste and occupation of the emigrant; and

(c) the persons who, if he were to die at once, would be entitled to succeed to his property (so that any savings he may have collected in the colony may be duly delivered).

On the other hand, as a copy of the contract is to be placed on record in the Protector's office, the rate of wages and period of service will no longer be entered in the register.

20. As regards the third matter, power has been given, in accordance with the recommendation of the Government of the North-Western Provinces, to refuse attestation (in the absence of sufficient explanation) when the emigrant is a resident of a place beyond the jurisdiction of the Magistrate before whom he appears. This is a necessary precaution, as it is common for unscrupulous recruiters to convey intending emigrants long distances from their homes, to involve them in debt for maintenance during their journey, and thus to remove the temptation, and at the same time deprive them of the power, to return. It also often happens that an emigrant whose registration is refused by one Magistrate is taken before another in the next district, where it is hoped that the officer will be more compliant. Power has also been given to refuse registration of a person who, if he quits his home, will leave his family destitute, and of a married woman without the consent of her husband.

21. The fourth point has been provided for as in Act V of 1877, section 19.

22. As regards the fifth point, it is not intended that the power to order a medical examination of an emigrant recruited in a district beyond the port of embarkation shall be universally enforced. The examination is only to be directed to testing the emigrant's fitness to undertake the journey to the depôt and not his fitness to labour, for which the Emigration Agent is responsible. It will only be necessary to require a medical examination in special cases, as, for instance, when the condition of the emigrating class is reduced by famine, or when the distance to be travelled to the depôt is great.

23. The fees fixed by section 31 of the present Act can be taken, under the definition of "emigrant" and the operation of the Contract Act, only for adult emigrants. It seems desirable to require a fee for the registration of every contracting emigrant, allowing dependents who do not contract, and are only entered in the register, to be registered without a fee. This matter recently formed the subject of correspondence with Local Governments, and the scale adopted is generally in accordance with their recommendations. The present provision for the refund of the fee on desertion has, in accordance with the precedents of Acts III of 1876 and V of 1877 and the recommendation of the Government of Bengal, been omitted. The fee is a payment for the work of registration, and that work is not affected by the subsequent desertion of the emigrant.

24. Chapter IX.—Conveyance of Emigrants to Depôts.—In this chapter a provision has been added which enables the Magistrate to order the Emigration Agent or recruiter to pay such sum as is necessary to enable an emigrant, who has been rejected before arriving at the port of embarkation, or the dependent of such emigrant, to return to his home.

25. Chapter X.—Procedure on arrival at the Depôt of Emigrants from Up-country.—The provisions of this chapter have been re-arranged and revised, the corresponding provisions of Act V of 1877 being generally followed. The operation of the chapter has been expressly restricted to the case of emigrants from up-country, for whom alone it appears to be intended. Section 51 as amended expresses what has always been understood by the Government of India to be the responsibility of its officers in respect of the fitness of emigrants to emigrate: fitness for labour and life in the colony is a matter for which the Emigration Agent is responsible. Sections 55 and 56 have been adopted with some modifications from Act V of 1877, sections 28, 29 and 30.

26. Chapter XI.—Emigrant Vessels.—The amendments in this chapter, which corresponds with Part IX of the present Act, are slight. There is a change in the wording of paragraph 3 of section 58 and some alterations in the dimensions specified in section 60. The principal differences, as compared with the present law, are—(1) that the height of the accommodation for emigrants is raised from 5½ to 6 feet; (2) that all children under ten, instead of only those from one to ten years of age, are counted at the rate of two to one adult; and (3), that the space required for each child under ten is fixed at half that required for an adult, instead of, as now, two-thirds for children between two and ten. These changes were recommended by the Government of Bengal in 1873, and are required chiefly to improve the accommodation for infants, among whom much mortality occasionally occurs. "Compounders, interpreters and female nurses" have been added in section 63 also, in accordance with the recommendation of the Government of Bengal.

27. Chapter XII.—Embarkation and Departure.—Section 67 is in accordance with a recommendation made by the Protector of Emigrants at Calcutta, who considers it a precaution necessary "not only to afford the opportunity of ascertaining the freedom of emigrants from latent and communicable diseases which have distinct periods of incubation, but to give such as are ill-nourished and have been recruited in famine-stricken districts some time to rest and recover themselves after their journey, and prior to undertaking what proves in all cases a trying voyage to Indian emigrants generally."

28. Section 68 embodies the present views of the Government of India regarding the seasons at which embarkation should be allowed. This matter has been the subject of much discussion. The conventions allow the French and Dutch colonies a longer period than the Act allows the corresponding British colonies; and, in the case of the latter, it has been represented that even the period allowed by the Act is too long, since emigrants shipped late in the season for the West Indies arrive there at a very unhealthy season of the year, and are liable to great mortality in consequence.

When the provisions of the existing law were framed, the embarkation seasons were settled with reference to one point only, viz., the necessity for avoiding the stormy weather encountered in the neighbourhood of the Cape of Good Hope during the Antarctic winter; consequently no impediment was offered to the shipment of emigrants at any time of the year for colonies east of the Cape. But hurricanes prevail in the neighbourhood of Réunion between the months of November and April; and they are also prevalent in the Fiji Islands during the same season. Moreover, the necessity for landing emigrants in their place of destination at a healthy season of the year is another consideration which makes it necessary carefully to regulate the period of despatch.

In the Bill, therefore, power has been taken to enable the Governor General in Council to regulate the departure of all emigrant vessels, whether bound for places to the east or west of the Cape of Good Hope.

The present limits, the 31st July to the 1st March, for places west of the Cape of Good Hope, however, have been retained as a maximum; and the provision in the present Act (section 46, last clause) permitting departure for such places on an emergency up to the 1st April has been struck out. Cases of loss of emigrant vessels allowed to be despatched after the 1st March, as well as heavy mortality during such voyages, have occurred, and it is thought inexpedient to continue the concession.

The special privilege of carrying emigrants at any time of the year now enjoyed by steamers has also been done away with, as being inconsistent with the regulation of the season for departure with reference to that of arrival in the colony; but as a concession to the superiority of such vessels over sailing vessels, the time within which they may depart for places west of the Cape of Good Hope is extended from the 1st to the 15th March.

29. The penalty clause in section 45 of the present Act, to which section 71 of the Bill corresponds, has been removed to its proper place in chapter XIV (section 99).

In section 72 the number of copies of the list has been reduced from five to four, which, according to the Protector of Emigrants at Calcutta, are all that are required.

Section 78, requiring the Emigration Agent to furnish the Master with the contracts, is new, but needs no comment.

30. Sections 82 and 83 are new. They express the substance of the conclusions come to in a correspondence which passed in 1877 regarding the action which should be taken on the occurrence of cases of an infectious disease, or an outbreak of cholera in an epidemic form, on board an emigrant vessel proceeding down the Hugli.

31. Section 55 of the present Act has been omitted, as no emigration has ever gone on to Seychelles, and the colony was included in that Act by a mistake.

32. Chapter XIII.—Supplementary Powers.—In section 85 a few additions have been made to the matters regarding which rules may be framed (clauses c, d, f, g and h), and the proviso authorizing the Local Government to permit the despatch of a vessel with less than the prescribed proportion of women has been struck out.

33. Section 86 relates to fees, and modifies section 62 of the present Act. The object of levying fees is to maintain therefrom the necessary protective establishments in India; such fees should accordingly be just sufficient to cover the cost of such establishments, neither more nor less. It may sometimes happen (more especially, as at present, in the case of foreign colonies) that the Government of India has to meet in respect of some particular colony a special expenditure, which it would be unfair to cast (as is now done) on the income from fees contributed by all colonies; a proviso has accordingly been added enabling such expenditure to be met by enhanced fees on emigration to the particular colony in respect of which it is incurred.

34. Chapter XIV.—Offences.—This part has been generally redrawn. The penalties provided in the present Act, sections 72 to 75, are merely fine extending to 500 rupees. It appears necessary to add imprisonment, as in Act V of 1877.

35. Section 90 has been introduced to cover the case of unlicensed persons acting as Sub-Agents.

36. Section 96 is new; it has been adopted from Act V of 1877, section 44.

37. Section 98 is also new; it provides for the punishment of emigrants who desert after a contract has been duly entered into with the recruiter before a Magistrate. The present law provides no punishment for this offence, the only liability being to a civil suit for breach of contract—a proceeding which is, of course, useless in most cases of the kind. There is no doubt that, in view of the class of men who work as recruiters and the many risks of deception and ill-treatment to which intending emigrants are exposed at their hands, it is necessary to guard the power to inflict a penalty for desertion in such cases most carefully. Still cases have arisen, and may easily arise, of impudent deception on the part of persons who profess willingness to emigrate, and under such profession obtain board and lodging in the Mufassal, and free conveyance to the port of embarkation, where they desert or refuse to emigrate. To meet such cases, the section has been devised, and it has been so drawn as to require the sanction of the Protector of Emigrants to every prosecution instituted under it.

38. Section 99 has been substituted for the second clause of section 45 of the present Act, which clause, it may here be observed, is practically inoperative in Calcutta, because it requires the complaint to be laid before a Magistrate of Police in a Presidency-town, and the depôts are situated outside the limits of Calcutta, and therefore outside of the local jurisdiction of such Magistrates. The penalty, instead of being stated by reference to section 492 of the Penal Code, is mentioned in express terms; and the sanction of the Protector to a prosecution under the section is, as in section 98, required.

39. Section 102 is an amendment of section 82 of Act VII of 1871. At present special authority is required to institute prosecutions for all offences under the existing Act; there seems to be no good reason why such sanction should be required in the case of the offences mentioned in sections 87 to 91.

40. Chapter XV.—Miscellaneous.—Section 105 corresponds with section 83 of the present Act, which has been re-drawn to admit of the probable length of voyages being modified from time to time as may be found necessary on the receipt of fuller information, or the establishment of improved means of communication. Section 84 of the present Act is incorporated with section 105.

41. A new form of recruiter's license (chiefly taken from Act V of 1877) has been substituted for the form in Schedule II of the present Act.

42. In the third schedule of the Bill opportunity has been taken to correct a clerical error as to the length of the voyage from Calcutta to French Guiana. In section 83, Act VII of 1871, twenty-six weeks is said to be the length of this voyage, whereas it should be twenty weeks.

43. The "special provisions as to French colonies" (Part XII, sections 68—70 of the present Act) have been omitted as unnecessary, it being considered that all emigration, whether to British or Foreign colonies, should be conducted on one system. It may be observed that no such special provisions have been found necessary in the case of emigration to Surinam, which has been carried on under a convention with the Netherlands Government similar to that with France. The convention with France is now about to be amended, and if in its amended form it should be found to include any points requiring a deviation in matters of detail from the general procedure of the Bill, such points, together with the question of the adaptation of the Bill to emigration from French ports, can be left for consideration to the Select Committee to which it is proposed to refer the Bill.

BENGAL CIVIL FUND.

At a Half-yearly General Meeting of Subscribers to the Bengal Civil Fund, Calcutta, held at the Town Hall on Wednesday, the 27th July 1881.

PRESENT: The Hon'ble L. R. Tottenham; J. Westland, Esq.; W. H. Grimley, Esq., B.A.; A. P. MacDonnell, Esq., B.A.; J. Scobell Armstrong, Esq.; H. J. S. Cotton, Esq.; C. A. Wilkins, Esq.; R. Logan, Esq.; J. A. Bourdillon, Esq.; H. M. Kisch, Esq.; and W. D. Blyth, Esq.

J. Scobell Armstrong, Esq., in the Chair.

The following report was submitted by the Managers:—

REPORT.

1. The Managers submit the proceedings for the past half-year for the consideration and sanction of the meeting.

2. Subject to the approval of the subscribers, they have admitted to the benefits of the Fund the following families:—

Mr. Graham's three daughters ...	£ 225	The three daughters of the late Mr. Geo. Graham, who died in London on the 7th October 1880.
Mrs. Young	„ 300	The widow of the late Mr. J. H. Young, who died at Naples on the 21st November 1880.
Lady Wilson	„ 300	The widow of the late Sir J. Cracroft Wilson, who died at Christ Church, New Zealand, on the 2nd March 1881.
Mrs. Winter	„ 300	The widow and three children—two sons and one daughter—of the late Mr. C. D. C. Winter, who died on the 8th April 1881 at Monghyr.
Three children	„ 120
Total ...	£ 420
Mr. Garstin's three children	£ 450	The three daughters of the late Mr. C. Garstin, who died at Bournemouth on the 15th May 1881.

3. The Managers have notified, under Article XVI, the following amendments to the rules:—

In Article V in the last clause before the words "of birth" insert "other evidence of the date," and before the words "be accepted" insert "or evidence."

In Articles XXVIII and XXIX after the words "shall have died" add—

"or if such member has been divorced from his wife and leaves no widow, or, if his widow has been excluded from the Fund under Article XXV."

In Article XXX for the words "or if there be no widow" substitute—

"on her admission to the Fund, or if there be no widow, or if such widow has been excluded from the Fund under Article XXV."

The object of the Managers in proposing to amend Articles XXVIII, XXIX, and XXX is to secure the interests of children in cases where a widow survives who has been excluded under Article XXV. As the rules now stand such a widow could claim the donation and the children would not be entitled to extra pension.

4. An objection has been raised by Sir Louis Jackson to the assessed subscription on his pension of £1,200 per annum, on the ground that the Fund has nothing to do with the 'special pension' granted to him as a late Puisne Judge of the High Court. The old rule, Article VIII, under which annuitants are for the present to pay ordinary subscriptions declares that retired subscribers are to contribute on their "annuities," and the original wording of the rule was "annuities of the Civil Service Annuity Fund." Under these circumstances the Managers have ruled that High Court Judges can only be required to contribute on £1,000 per annum, the ordinary annuity of a retired Civilian. As Mr. F. B. Kemp has, since his retirement, paid subscriptions on his pension of £1,200 per annum, the Managers have directed a refund to him of the excess amount paid.

5. By a resolution of the general meeting of January 1876, Mrs. Morris (widow of Mr. Drew, of the Bengal Civil Service) was permitted, as a special case, to make a bequest of £50 a year to her daughter, Miss Fanny Sophia Drew, without entailing a reduction of Miss Drew's pension. The ground of the concession was that Miss Drew is of weak intellect, and that there are special expenses connected with her care and maintenance. It has been reported that Miss Drew, owing to her mother's death, has become entitled to about £102 out of her mother's personal estate. The relatives ask that she may be allowed to enjoy the income (about £4), derived from the above sum, without deduction from her pension, as the capital sum set apart by Mrs. Morris does not produce more than £32. Under the special circumstances of her case, and as the concession applied for would be within the spirit of the resolution of January 1876, the Managers have granted the request, on the distinct understanding that the case will again be referred if the total income enjoyed by Miss Drew, over and above her pension, at any time exceeds £50.

Proposed by Mr. A. R. MacDonnell, seconded by Mr. H. J. S. Cotton, and carried unanimously—

"That the Managers' proceedings in admitting the families of the late Messrs. Geo. Graham, J. H. Young, Sir J. Cracroft Wilson, C. D. C. Winter, and C. Garstin, to the benefits of the Fund, be confirmed."

In proposing that Article V of the Rules be amended, Mr. Westland stated that the Managers had recently, at a general meeting, adopted a system by which subscribers were enabled to register in the Fund Office the dates and information which were required by the rules before a pension could be granted, as they considered it of great advantage that widows should thus be able to obtain their pensions upon a simple application without having, at such a time, to seek for certificates and other evidence which it was often found they had difficulty in collecting.

The wording of the rules then adopted required, however, the production of an actual certificate of baptism or of birth; and the Managers had on several occasions felt themselves obliged to reject evidence which, though otherwise perfectly good, did not fall within this limited definition.

It appeared to the Managers that the wife's real title was proved by her marriage certificate, and so long as they did not diminish the requirement in this respect, they might with safety allow other forms of evidence of date of birth. In fact the date of birth determined only one thing—viz., the amount of fine paid upon marriage, and no subscriber therefore could be said to have any object in misstating it. All that was necessary was to make sure that the statement of date of birth was not made carelessly or doubtfully, and this was sufficiently secured by requiring any kind of satisfactory evidence. The Managers were anxious to encourage the system of registration of evidence in support of possible claims; and they therefore proposed, that in registration of the date of birth they might be allowed to accept any evidence that seemed sufficient.

The proposal that the amendment of Article V of the rules as proposed by the Managers be confirmed, was seconded by Mr. W. H. Grimley, and carried.

On the next proposed alteration of the Articles Mr. Westland stated that the principle of the recent changes of the rules, in the matter of children's allowances, was to assimilate in some measure the circumstances of a family which obtained the widow's pension of £300 and of one which did not. It had been felt that too much of the pecuniary position of the family hinged upon the existence of the mother, and it was consequently arranged that when there was no widow's pension of £300, the children's pensions should be greater than when there was.

The rules as they were drawn up, however, regarded the contingency only of the determination of the widow's pension through death, and it had been pointed out to the Managers that that pension may have determined, not by death, but by the operation of the rule which excludes from the benefit of the Fund a wife who has been divorced, &c. The inclusion of these cases seems plainly within the meaning and intention of the rules adopted by the Service, as the position of children whose mother may be alive but divorced from her husband and obtaining no benefit from the Fund is evidently the same as if there were no mother in the case at all. The Managers therefore thought it wise to distinctly provide for such cases before any claims arose.

Mr. Westland, however, said that if the members present considered the matter to be open to doubt or discussion, it might be best that its consideration be put off till the larger meeting that would be held in January.

Proposed by Hon'ble L. R. Tottenham, seconded by Mr. R. Logan, and carried—

"That the amendments to Articles XXVIII, XXIX, and XXX, as proposed by the Managers, be confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. J. A. Bourdillon, seconded by Mr. W. H. Grimley, and carried—

"That the Managers' action in ruling that High Court Judges can only be required to contribute on £1,000 per annum, the ordinary annuity of a retired Civilian, be approved.

Proposed by Mr. H. M. Kisch, seconded by Mr. W. D. Blyth, and carried—

"That the Managers' decision, in the case of Miss Fanny Sophia Drew, be approved."

A vote of thanks to the Chairman was proposed by the Hon'ble L. R. Tottenham, seconded by Mr. J. A. Bourdillon, and carried.

The Local Government shall at once report the publication of such notification, with the reasons for the same, to the Governor General in Council, who shall thereupon publish a notification in the Gazette of India confirming or cancelling the notification so published by the Local Government.

Act VII of 1871, s. 58.

Notifications under sections 7, 8 and 9 not to affect prior acts, &c.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

NUMEROUS suggestions for the amendment of the Indian Emigration Act, 1871, have from time to time been received by the Government. Many of these which it appears desirable to adopt deal with minor and, comparatively speaking, unimportant points; but some propose substantial changes which would materially alter the working of the existing law. It has, moreover, been found that the form and arrangement of the Act are susceptible of improvement. Under these circumstances, it has been thought advisable to repeal the Act, and re-enact it with all the requisite amendments. Of these amendments the more important are the following.

2. In the preliminary chapter "emigrate," "emigrant" and "emigration" have been so defined as to cover not only persons leaving India under a contract to labour, but also dependents of such persons. It is obvious that, for all purposes of the control of recruiters and depôts, the regulation of emigrant vessels, &c., it is as necessary to take count of dependents as of the persons who contract to labour.

3. Section 5, which corresponds to section 26 of the Act of 1871, has been amplified so as to give the Governor General in Council power to establish ports other than those of the three Presidency-towns as ports of embarkation.

4. In a recent correspondence it has been brought to notice that the effect of the Contract Act of 1872 has been to make it impossible for persons under the legal age of majority (in most cases 18) to engage to emigrate. The limit of sixteen years at or above which an emigrant may himself enter into a contract to emigrate has been adopted in sections 34 and 35 of the Bill from the Bengal Labour Districts Emigration Act (Bengal Act VII of 1873); and it has been provided that minors below that age and above the age of six years may contract through their guardians, power being reserved to the minor to rescind the contract at any time within the thirty days next following the completion of his age of eighteen years.

5. Section 33 requires all agreements to emigrate to be in writing, and, if entered into within the limits of any port from which emigration is lawful, to be made with the Emigration Agent at such port, and executed in the presence of the Protector; if entered into elsewhere, to be made with a recruiter and executed in the presence of a Magistrate. Section 36 lays down what such agreements must contain. At present, there is much confusion in the law as to what constitutes the contract to emigrate; and it is not absolutely necessary that any terms of service should be settled before the emigrant leaves India. Most, if not all, colonies have already introduced written contracts, so that there will be no hardship in requiring their general use; the conventions with France and Holland expressly stipulate that a written contract must first be executed in India, and there will thus be no difficulty with those powers. The requirement of a contract, moreover, marks distinctly the stage at which an emigrant becomes liable for breach of contract—a point which under the present law is somewhat uncertain. Lastly, the provision exists (in substance) in the Burma and Straits Settlements Emigration Laws. The material stipulations mentioned in section 36 are all actually adopted by the colonies which receive Indian emigrants.

6. The remaining amendments are for the most part in matters of detail, and may be shortly stated as follows.

7. For the present definition of Magistrate and section 85 of the existing Act, the definition in Act V of 1877 (The Straits Settlements Emigration Act, 1877), which allows of the appointment of any person as a Magistrate for the purposes of the Act, has been substituted.

8. Chapter II.—Ports from which, and places to which, Emigration is lawful.—This is a new chapter, which brings together under one head, in an amended form, the provisions of sections 23 to 26 and sections 57 to 61 of the Act of 1871.

9. Sections 7 to 10.—In the present law sections 57 and 61 overlap, and one of them is clearly unnecessary. The opportunity has accordingly been taken to re-draft the sections, amalgamating them and specifying more clearly the reasons for which emigration may be suspended. Excessive mortality, neglect to enforce in the colony the contracts made in India and omission to furnish the Government of India with the information necessary to enable it to judge how Indian immigrants are treated have been added to the reasons mentioned in sections 57 and 61 of the present Act. This last is in accordance with the recommendation of Sir G. Campbell.

10. Section 8 defines more clearly the extraordinary power which, under section 61 of the present Act, can be exercised by the Local Government on a pressing emergency; and this power has been restricted to a single case—the outbreak of plague or other epidemic disease dangerous to life in the colony.

11. Chapter III.—Emigration Agents.—No change has been made in this chapter, which corresponds with Part II of the present Act, except a slight amendment of section 4 of the present law, defining the effect of the notification of appointment of an Emigration Agent by the Local Government and giving that Government power to withdraw its approval of the appointment of such Agent.

12. Chapter IV.—Protectors of Emigrants and Medical Inspectors.—The wording of this chapter, which corresponds with a portion of Part III of the present Act, has been revised, and power has been given to the Local Government to appoint, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, Protectors of Emigrants for local areas beyond the territories subject to its administration.

13. Chapter V.—Emigration Depôts.—This chapter corresponds with a portion of Part III of the present Act; but the second clauses of sections 18 and 21, which are based on Act III of 1876, section 25, are new.

14. Chapter VI.—Recruiters and Sub-Agents of Emigration.—Several modifications and additions have been made in the portion of this chapter relating to recruiters, all of which have been strongly urged on the attention of the Government of India at various times, and the expediency of most of which has already been recognized in Acts III of 1876 and V of 1877. The first of these is the requirement in section 23 that the local area within which the recruiter is to work shall be specified in the license: this is taken from Act V of 1877, section 12. The next is the omission of section 20 of the present Act, which requires every recruiter to wear a badge. The badge has been objected to by many authorities, as investing the recruiter, in the eyes of the people, with the appearance of a Government chaprási. It is clearly necessary, on the other hand, that every recruiter should be furnished with an authentic statement of the terms he is authorized to offer; and section 25 of the Bill accordingly requires that he should be furnished with such a statement. The next amendment calling for notice is in the second paragraph of section 26. At present, the Magistrate has no option in countersigning a recruiter's license, but must add his signature, if the period of the license is unexpired; it is obvious that he should refuse to do so if the recruiter bears a bad character. At present, the Protector is required, under executive instructions, to satisfy himself, by enquiry from the Magistrate of the district where the recruiter is known, that there is nothing against him before granting the license; but this is a circuitous method of procedure, and often leads to great delay. The principle of this amendment has already been fully admitted in Acts III of 1876, section 12, and V of 1877, section 13, from which it is borrowed. The other provisions of this paragraph, and the provisions of section 27 as to the regulation of places of accommodation to be provided in the recruiting districts for intending emigrants, are also new. At the places referred to many abuses are practised in connection with recruiting, and the necessity of supervising such places has several times been pressed on the Government of India as urgently necessary. Sections 28 and 29 are also new. They are the complement of section 26, and are taken from Acts III of 1876, section 12, and V of 1877, section 13. Section 28 empowers the Magistrate, under certain circumstances, to cancel his countersignature or to impound the license and send it to the Protector for cancellation; and section 29 requires all refusals and cancellations of countersignature by Magistrates to be at once reported to the Protector.

15. The last three sections of this chapter (30 to 32), relating to Sub-Agents, are new, and provide some much-needed clauses for the control of the local agency through which it is the practice of Emigration Agents to conduct recruiting operations. All Sub-Agents must be licensed by the Local Government; and the license, for which a fee of Rs. 30 (double that for a recruiter's license) is fixed, may be revoked on proof of misconduct. It is further provided that the remuneration of Sub-Agents must, like that of Emigration Agents (under section 5 of the present Act), be a fixed sum, and not in the form of head-money.

16. Chapter VII.—Agreements with Emigrants.—The provisions of this chapter are new, and make certain important additions to the existing law.

17. Chapter VIII—Attestation of Agreements and Registration of Emigrants.—In this chapter, which corresponds with Part VI of the present Act, modifications have been introduced—

(1) to provide for the agreement with the emigrant being executed before and attested by the Magistrate or the Protector (section 38);

(2) to alter the particulars required to be entered in the register (section 38);

(3) to state more clearly the reasons for which a registering officer may refuse to attest a contract (section 39);

(4) to provide for the examination of dependents as to their dependence upon the contracting emigrants and as to their willingness to accompany such emigrants (section 40);

(5) to provide for a medical examination of intending emigrants, where necessary, previous to their being registered under section 38 (section 42);

(6) to revise the table of fees (section 45).

18. The effect of the first of these amendments will be to bind the emigrant more closely, and so place an obstacle in the way of his desertion. On the other hand, it will give the emigrant, if rejected by the Agent, a claim which can be enforced in the Courts on his behalf by the Protector (section 104).

19. The second matter is dealt with by adding to the particulars at present required the following:—

(a) the name of the recruiter or agent to whom the emigrant has been engaged;

(b) the caste and occupation of the emigrant; and

(c) the persons who, if he were to die at once, would be entitled to succeed to his property (so that any savings he may have collected in the colony may be duly delivered).

On the other hand, as a copy of the contract is to be placed on record in the Protector's office, the rate of wages and period of service will no longer be entered in the register.

20. As regards the third matter, power has been given, in accordance with the recommendation of the Government of the North-Western Provinces, to refuse attestation (in the absence of sufficient explanation) when the emigrant is a resident of a place beyond the jurisdiction of the Magistrate before whom he appears. This is a necessary precaution, as it is common for unscrupulous recruiters to convey intending emigrants long distances from their homes, to involve them in debt for maintenance during their journey, and thus to remove the temptation, and at the same time deprive them of the power, to return. It also often happens that an emigrant whose registration is refused by one Magistrate is taken before another in the next district, where it is hoped that the officer will be more compliant. Power has also been given to refuse registration of a person who, if he quits his home, will leave his family destitute, and of a married woman without the consent of her husband.

21. The fourth point has been provided for as in Act V of 1877, section 19.

22. As regards the fifth point, it is not intended that the power to order a medical examination of an emigrant recruited in a district beyond the port of embarkation shall be universally enforced. The examination is only to be directed to testing the emigrant's fitness to undertake the journey to the depôt and not his fitness to labour, for which the Emigration Agent is responsible. It will only be necessary to require a medical examination in special cases, as, for instance, when the condition of the emigrating class is reduced by famine, or when the distance to be travelled to the depôt is great.

23. The fees fixed by section 31 of the present Act can be taken, under the definition of "emigrant" and the operation of the Contract Act, only for adult emigrants. It seems desirable to require a fee for the registration of every contracting emigrant, allowing dependents who do not contract, and are only entered in the register, to be registered without a fee. This matter recently formed the subject of correspondence with Local Governments, and the scale adopted is generally in accordance with their recommendations. The present provision for the refund of the fee on desertion has, in accordance with the precedents of Acts III of 1876 and V of 1877 and the recommendation of the Government of Bengal, been omitted. The fee is a payment for the work of registration, and that work is not affected by the subsequent desertion of the emigrant.

24. Chapter IX.—Conveyance of Emigrants to Depôts.—In this chapter a provision has been added which enables the Magistrate to order the Emigration Agent or recruiter to pay such sum as is necessary to enable an emigrant, who has been rejected before arriving at the port of embarkation, or the dependent of such emigrant, to return to his home.

25. Chapter X.—Procedure on arrival at the Depôt of Emigrants from Up-country.—The provisions of this chapter have been re-arranged and revised, the corresponding provisions of Act V of 1877 being generally followed. The operation of the chapter has been expressly restricted to the case of emigrants from up-country, for whom alone it appears to be intended. Section 51 as amended expresses what has always been understood by the Government of India to be the responsibility of its officers in respect of the fitness of emigrants to emigrate: fitness for labour and life in the colony is a matter for which the Emigration Agent is responsible. Sections 55 and 56 have been adopted with some modifications from Act V of 1877, sections 28, 29 and 30.

26. Chapter XI.—Emigrant Vessels.—The amendments in this chapter, which corresponds with Part IX of the present Act, are slight. There is a change in the wording of paragraph 3 of section 58 and some alterations in the dimensions specified in section 60. The principal differences, as compared with the present law, are—(1) that the height of the accommodation for emigrants is raised from 5½ to 6 feet; (2) that all children under ten, instead of only those from one to ten years of age, are counted at the rate of two to one adult; and (3), that the space required for each child under ten is fixed at half that required for an adult, instead of, as now, two-thirds for children between two and ten. These changes were recommended by the Government of Bengal in 1873, and are required chiefly to improve the accommodation for infants, among whom much mortality occasionally occurs. "Compounders, interpreters and female nurses" have been added in section 63 also, in accordance with the recommendation of the Government of Bengal.

27. Chapter XII.—Embarkation and Departure.—Section 67 is in accordance with a recommendation made by the Protector of Emigrants at Calcutta, who considers it a precaution necessary "not only to afford the opportunity of ascertaining the freedom of emigrants from latent and communicable diseases which have distinct periods of incubation, but to give such as are ill-nourished and have been recruited in famine-stricken districts some time to rest and recover themselves after their journey, and prior to undertaking what proves in all cases a trying voyage to Indian emigrants generally."

28. Section 68 embodies the present views of the Government of India regarding the seasons at which embarkation should be allowed. This matter has been the subject of much discussion. The conventions allow the French and Dutch colonies a longer period than the Act allows the corresponding British colonies; and, in the case of the latter, it has been represented that even the period allowed by the Act is too long, since emigrants shipped late in the season for the West Indies arrive there at a very unhealthy season of the year, and are liable to great mortality in consequence.

When the provisions of the existing law were framed, the embarkation seasons were settled with reference to one point only, viz., the necessity for avoiding the stormy weather encountered in the neighbourhood of the Cape of Good Hope during the Antarctic winter; consequently no impediment was offered to the shipment of emigrants at any time of the year for colonies east of the Cape. But hurricanes prevail in the neighbourhood of Réunion between the months of November and April; and they are also prevalent in the Fiji Islands during the same season. Moreover, the necessity for landing emigrants in their place of destination at a healthy season of the year is another consideration which makes it necessary carefully to regulate the period of despatch.

In the Bill, therefore, power has been taken to enable the Governor General in Council to regulate the departure of all emigrant vessels, whether bound for places to the east or west of the Cape of Good Hope.

The present limits, the 31st July to the 1st March, for places west of the Cape of Good Hope, however, have been retained as a maximum; and the provision in the present Act (section 46, last clause) permitting departure for such places on an emergency up to the 1st April has been struck out. Cases of loss of emigrant vessels allowed to be despatched after the 1st March, as well as heavy mortality during such voyages, have occurred, and it is thought inexpedient to continue the concession.

The special privilege of carrying emigrants at any time of the year now enjoyed by steamers has also been done away with, as being inconsistent with the regulation of the season for departure with reference to that of arrival in the colony; but as a concession to the superiority of such vessels over sailing vessels, the time within which they may depart for places west of the Cape of Good Hope is extended from the 1st to the 15th March.

29. The penalty clause in section 45 of the present Act, to which section 71 of the Bill corresponds, has been removed to its proper place in chapter XIV (section 99).

In section 72 the number of copies of the list has been reduced from five to four, which, according to the Protector of Emigrants at Calcutta, are all that are required.

Section 78, requiring the Emigration Agent to furnish the Master with the contracts, is new, but needs no comment.

30. Sections 82 and 83 are new. They express the substance of the conclusions come to in a correspondence which passed in 1877 regarding the action which should be taken on the occurrence of cases of an infectious disease, or an outbreak of cholera in an epidemic form, on board an emigrant vessel proceeding down the Hugli.

31. Section 55 of the present Act has been omitted, as no emigration has ever gone on to Seychelles, and the colony was included in that Act by a mistake.

32. Chapter XIII.—Supplementary Powers.—In section 85 a few additions have been made to the matters regarding which rules may be framed (clauses c, d, f, g and h), and the proviso authorizing the Local Government to permit the despatch of a vessel with less than the prescribed proportion of women has been struck out.

33. Section 86 relates to fees, and modifies section 62 of the present Act. The object of levying fees is to maintain therefrom the necessary protective establishments in India; such fees should accordingly be just sufficient to cover the cost of such establishments, neither more nor less. It may sometimes happen (more especially, as at present, in the case of foreign colonies) that the Government of India has to meet in respect of some particular colony a special expenditure, which it would be unfair to cast (as is now done) on the income from fees contributed by all colonies; a proviso has accordingly been added enabling such expenditure to be met by enhanced fees on emigration to the particular colony in respect of which it is incurred.

34. Chapter XIV.—Offences.—This part has been generally redrawn. The penalties provided in the present Act, sections 72 to 75, are merely fine extending to 500 rupees. It appears necessary to add imprisonment, as in Act V of 1877.

35. Section 90 has been introduced to cover the case of unlicensed persons acting as Sub-Agents.

36. Section 96 is new; it has been adopted from Act V of 1877, section 44.

37. Section 98 is also new; it provides for the punishment of emigrants who desert after a contract has been duly entered into with the recruiter before a Magistrate. The present law provides no punishment for this offence, the only liability being to a civil suit for breach of contract—a proceeding which is, of course, useless in most cases of the kind. There is no doubt that, in view of the class of men who work as recruiters and the many risks of deception and ill-treatment to which intending emigrants are exposed at their hands, it is necessary to guard the power to inflict a penalty for desertion in such cases most carefully. Still cases have arisen, and may easily arise, of impudent deception on the part of persons who profess willingness to emigrate, and under such profession obtain board and lodging in the Mufassal, and free conveyance to the port of embarkation, where they desert or refuse to emigrate. To meet such cases, the section has been devised, and it has been so drawn as to require the sanction of the Protector of Emigrants to every prosecution instituted under it.

38. Section 99 has been substituted for the second clause of section 45 of the present Act, which clause, it may here be observed, is practically inoperative in Calcutta, because it requires the complaint to be laid before a Magistrate of Police in a Presidency-town, and the depôts are situated outside the limits of Calcutta, and therefore outside of the local jurisdiction of such Magistrates. The penalty, instead of being stated by reference to section 492 of the Penal Code, is mentioned in express terms; and the sanction of the Protector to a prosecution under the section is, as in section 98, required.

39. Section 102 is an amendment of section 82 of Act VII of 1871. At present special authority is required to institute prosecutions for all offences under the existing Act; there seems to be no good reason why such sanction should be required in the case of the offences mentioned in sections 87 to 91.

40. Chapter XV.—Miscellaneous.—Section 105 corresponds with section 83 of the present Act, which has been re-drawn to admit of the probable length of voyages being modified from time to time as may be found necessary on the receipt of fuller information, or the establishment of improved means of communication. Section 84 of the present Act is incorporated with section 105.

41. A new form of recruiter's license (chiefly taken from Act V of 1877) has been substituted for the form in Schedule II of the present Act.

42. In the third schedule of the Bill opportunity has been taken to correct a clerical error as to the length of the voyage from Calcutta to French Guiana. In section 83, Act VII of 1871, twenty-six weeks is said to be the length of this voyage, whereas it should be twenty weeks.

43. The "special provisions as to French colonies" (Part XII, sections 63—70 of the present Act) have been omitted as unnecessary, it being considered that all emigration, whether to British or Foreign colonies, should be conducted on one system. It may be observed that no such special provisions have been found necessary in the case of emigration to Surinam, which has been carried on under a convention with the Netherlands Government similar to that with France. The convention with France is now about to be amended, and if in its amended form it should be found to include any points requiring a deviation in matters of detail from the general procedure of the Bill, such points, together with the question of the adaptation of the Bill to emigration from French ports, can be left for consideration to the Select Committee to which it is proposed to refer the Bill.

Jan. 1st	48	12mo. dy.	1st ...	500	ditto ...	0 4 0	Ananda Chandra Mitra, Bikrampur, Zillah Dacca.	The author represents the world as being the creation and manifestation of a female divinity whom he styles "The Mother." She is pure, eternal, merciful,	1197
just, infinitely wise, full of love, &c. She cannot undergo incarnation. She requires no material offerings from her worshippers. Her worship demands no priestly organisation. The author gives the chief moral and spiritual principles of this religion in ten commandments. May 26th	38	12mo. dy.	1st ...	500	Printed	0 4 0	Ráj Rájendra Chandra, Sribáti.	The writer thinks that Bengali society is not yet fitted, by education and culture, to work out successfully schemes of social progress. He refers to Pandit Iswar Chandra Bidyáságar's widow-marriage movement, to Dr. Sarkár's Science Association, to the College Reunion, to the Calcutta stage, and other new movements and institutions, and says that their failure proves that the time is not yet come when such movements will be attended with satisfactory results. The writer reviews all the changes which English influence and education have produced in opinion and action in this country, and describes them as superficial, shallow, and, in many cases, injurious.	1209

Nabin Chandra Sen, Mohendra Kumár Basu and Sárodá Prasád Láhiri, all of Mymensingh	The Sáraswata Samiti of Mymensingh is stated to be an annual gathering of the nature of the College Reunion in Calcutta It has, however, a wider aim than the latter, inasmuch as its programme of business includes an exhibition of works of art and the distribution of prizes to the most successful exhibitors. Literary discussions, athletic sports, &c, are also found to be among the matters with which it concerns itself, and as European gentlemen are admitted in its gatherings, its object seems to be to give "the gentry of all classes in Mymensingh" an opportunity of meeting "on the same platform"	51

RESOLUTION.—It appears that for the Police Department in British Burma the following stores were procured, viz. :—

		Rs.
Blue serge, 3,500 yards, at an aggregate cost of	...	44,050
„ drill, 3,500 „ „ „	...	13,355
Turkey-red for turbans, 567 pieces, at an aggregate cost of	...	2,348

Bull's-eye lanterns 100 „ „ „ „	...	520
Cotton putsoes 5,150 „ „ „ „	...	10,430

The Governor-General in Council observes that, excepting bull's-eye lanterns, the articles enumerated above can be procured of Indian manufacture. In accordance with the principle declared in the Resolution of the 10th June 1881, that it is proper to substitute goods of local manufacture for imported articles whenever this can be done with due regard to cost and quality, His Excellency in Council directs that in future the articles mentioned shall not be obtained from England, if they can be obtained of Indian manufacture as good for the purposes required and as cheaply as imported articles.

2. Serge of excellent quality is now being manufactured by the Cawnpore Woollen Mills Company, and probably is or shortly will be so elsewhere. Drill also of excellent quality is made by the Elgin Mills and the Muir Mills, Cawnpore. For these articles as well as for the other cotton goods specified, tenders should be invited from those mills as well as from the mills in the Bombay Presidency and elsewhere. In regard to Turkey-red cloth, the Chief Commissioner's attention is invited to the remarks in paragraph 4 of the Resolution, No. 2070 of the Government of India, Department of Finance, published in the Gazette of India of the 29th ultimo. Those remarks should be acted on in British Burma, as elsewhere.

3. Silk goods should be obtained either of hand-loom weaving which is common in Burma as well as in Bengal and other parts of the Indian continent, or from the silk mills in Bombay.

4. Ball bags (presumably of leather) should be made at Cawnpore* or Delhi, Calcutta, or any other place where leather work is carried on extensively.

* Messrs. Tuck, Harvey & Co. Messrs. Foy Brothers.

5. Handcuffs, if they cannot be made in Burma, should be made at one of the iron works in Calcutta, e.g. Messrs. Jessop & Co., Burn & Co., Apcar & Co., Marillier and Edwards, or at Bombay (Richardson and Cruddas, or Fraser and Miller).

ORDERED that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Chief Commissioner of British Burma, and to the other local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

No. 2302.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

READ—

Letter from the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 224P, dated 30th June 1881, forwarding indents (thirteen in number) for stores required for the Government Central Press.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council directs that the indents be forwarded to the Secretary to State for compliance, except as regards the undermentioned articles, which have been struck out of the indents :—

Brass rules of sizes—2 feet long, 72 pieces ; other sorts, gross 135.
Brass centre pieces—12 pieces.
Stereotype picker's tools—6 sets.
Iron side sticks—65 pica ems long, 2 dozen.
Four royal imposing iron slabs—8 feet by 2 feet 7 inches, 10 in number.
Block tin—10 cwt.

2. It is unnecessary to indent on England for block tin, which is far more largely imported into India from the Straits than from England. Thus last year the imports from the Straits were 29,489 cwt. against only 230 cwt. from England. It is evident that this is because Straits tin can be laid down in India more conveniently and cheaply than tin from England. As the article is always on hand, and commonly obtainable in the Calcutta market, arrangements should be made to supply the requirements of the Press, firsthand, from an importing firm in Calcutta when prices are favourable. The Superintendent of Government Printing can ascertain from the Custom House who are large importers of tin.

3. The other articles mentioned have been struck out of the indents, because, although they are not now, in the absence of demand, manufactured in the country, it is certain that they are easily capable of being so produced if manufacturers can be assured that a large and constant demand for the articles will arise. As articles such as these are in regular request year after year for all the Government printing establishments in India, the quantities required by the State alone may be sufficient to induce local manufacturers to undertake the business of supplying them. The Superintendent of Government Printing should therefore enquire carefully and ascertain the names of manufacturers who would undertake such work, with the knowledge that Government would prefer to supply all its requirements from Indian made goods if they can be made as cheaply and as good for the purposes for which they are required as imported goods of the same class.

4. The wooden frames required for iron imposing slabs should be made by carpenters on the spot.

5. Iron foot-sticks, wood-bearers, and machine calico, having been required in small quantities as samples only, have been allowed to stand in the indent; but in future they should not be imported but made locally.

ORDERED that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Superintendent of Government Printing and to all local Governments and Administrations.

Ordered also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

Read also—

Letter from the Government of the Punjab, No. 467, dated the 17th February 1881, enquiring whether the orders regarding the withdrawal of shroff-marked coin should continue in abeyance in that province

OBSERVATIONS.—In the Resolution of the 6th September 1878, cited in the preamble, two methods of procedure were laid down for withdrawing silver coins defaced by shroff-marking—one adapted for provinces where such coins do not, and the other where they do, form a considerable portion of the currency.

2. The first set of rules was adopted in the Madras Presidency and in British Burma, Assam and the Lower Provinces of Bengal, and the second set in the Bombay Presidency, the Central Provinces, and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. It is chiefly in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab that a very large portion of the current coins is more or less defaced; and as rupees are ordinarily imported into the Punjab in the usual course of trade, and as during the last few years there was a very great additional demand in consequence of the military operations beyond the Frontier, it was apprehended that the carrying out of the reform at such a conjuncture would be attended with extreme difficulty and inconvenience. The Government of the Punjab was therefore permitted to suspend the rules temporarily.

3. The receipt of shroff-marked coins in Government treasuries under the orders of the 6th September 1878 has nowhere been large, not even in the Central Provinces where they were understood to be rather common; and the Government of India have reason to believe that the fact of such coins being at a disadvantage was not made known as widely as could be wished, and that consequently a large number of them may be still in circulation.

4. In the North-Western Provinces specially, the omission to give due publicity in time to the intentions of Government in regard to shroff-marked coins has caused serious inconvenience. The Government of the North-Western Provinces notified in May 1879 that after the 1st January 1881, shroff-marked coins, even though they might not have lost more than two per cent. of their weight, would cease to be legal tender and be accepted only as bullion at a valuation of one rupee per tola. Public attention was, however, prominently drawn to the orders only towards the beginning of the current year when they were actually enforced. Much excitement was created in consequence amongst the people, and even good rupees, to which no reasonable objection could be taken, were depreciated in value. The Government of the North-Western Provinces then postponed the enforcement of the rules to the 1st January 1882.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council now considers it necessary that the process of withdrawing shroff-marked coins from circulation should everywhere be begun again.

2. Accordingly His Excellency in Council directs that all Government treasuries (including those of the Punjab) shall, for the present, receive at full value all genuine coin which has not been diminished by fraudulent means, or has been diminished only by what are ordinarily known as shroff-marks.

3. No such coins shall be re-issued from a Government treasury. They should be separated into an uncurrent balance and disposed of under instructions from the Accountant-General, to whom a monthly report of the amount thus set apart must be made.

4. The Accountant-General will send in his consolidated report to the Comptroller-General who will watch the progress of the purification of the coinage in each province and determine in each case the time after which shroff-marked coins can expediently be dealt with as required by law.

5. The Governor-General in Council further directs that when in any province it is decided no longer to accept shroff-marked coins at full value, officers of Government authorised to receive money must exercise due and intelligent care in the receipt or rejection of suspicious coin. The Government of India will not call upon such officers to bear the loss upon any such coin which they may have accepted bona fide in behalf of Government, provided it appears that they have exercised proper discretion. On the other hand, they must be careful not to reject coin which may be good for all purposes, though accidentally marked in some trifling way.

ORDERED that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information and distributed for information and guidance as follows:—

To the several Departments of the Government of India.
To the local Governments and Administrations.

No. 1937*E.-P.*—The following translation of a letter, dated the 3rd July 1881, addressed by the Persian Minister for Foreign Affairs to Her Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Teheran, is published for general information :—

"Since the right of purchasing arms and munitions of war abroad and introducing the same in Persia belongs to the Persian Government, who exercise it through their own specially appointed officials, and if this absolute right were not exclusively confined to the Government, and everybody who thought fit to do so were allowed to purchase such articles and introduce them into the country, this great Governmental privilege would become obsolete, and considerable evils would result to the State :

"Therefore His Majesty the Shah has issued stringent orders that no one shall import arms of any description whatever into this country from abroad, and any person in whose possession arms of foreign make are found will be liable to have them confiscated by Government.

"By His Majesty's orders, the above is communicated to Your Excellency, in order that you may bring it to the knowledge of British merchants and subjects, so that being informed of it they may be careful to avoid trading in these prohibited goods, and so that no injury may result to them from ignorance of the present Regulation."

RESOLUTION.—From the statements submitted by the Government of Madras a list has been prepared, and is appended to this Resolution, showing the articles which, on the information before the Government of India, it is possible to obtain of Indian manufacture. The Governor-General in Council accordingly requests that His Excellency the Governor in Council of Madras will cause definite instructions to be issued to all the Departments concerned to institute enquiry as to the cheapest and most convenient way of obtaining future regular supplies of such goods of Indian manufacture, as well as of any other goods which in the course of enquiry it may be found feasible to add to the list. In order to give manufacturers that confidence in the existence of a permanent and steady demand without which they cannot reasonably be expected to spend time and money in the manufacture of new classes of goods, the Governor-General in Council will be prepared to approve of contracts made by the Local Government for a term of, say, five years based on the equivalents of the average cost in the year 1880-81 laid down in Madras from England of articles entered in the list.

2. With regard to many of the articles entered in that list, the Government of India has already issued general instructions in the Resolutions published in the Gazette of India since 23rd July last. Of the remaining articles the most important items are—longcloth, for which tenders should be invited from the Indian cotton mills; twine and rope (these are manufactured by Messrs. Ahmuty & Co., Calcutta, and elsewhere); and chemicals. The kinds specified, viz., nitric, hydrochloric, and sulphuric acids, and various others, are made by Dr. Waldie, of Calcutta.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Government of Madras for information and guidance, and with the request that the submission of the further returns promised may be expedited.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be communicated to the other Local Governments and Administrations, and published in the Gazette of India.

His Excellency the Governor-General in Council will also be prepared to sanction, on the recommendation of the local Governments, arrangements for the supply of the articles for a term of years on the above basis, in any cases in which this course may appear to be called for.

2. Most of the chemicals and chemical preparations are commonly made as regular manufactures at the Kasipur (Calcutta) chemical works belonging to Dr. Waldie, and possibly in other places. Those which are not so made can be made by him to order.

The chemicals named in the list are in constant demand year after year for all the higher educational institutions in the different provinces of India, and it is proper that they should now be obtained of Indian manufacture.

3. The other articles mentioned at the end of the list as obtained for the Agra College, are of a kind which should not be purchased of European make. From the Resolutions on the subject of stores already issued by the Government of India, the Local Governments will have learnt where such goods can be made in India.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and to the other Local Governments and Administrations.

Also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

Letter from the Government of Bengal, No. 689, dated 4th August 1881, enclosing lists of European stores supplied for the public service in the Lower Provinces of Bengal for 1879-80 and 1880-81.

RESOLUTION.—In the Resolutions cited above, the Government of India declared that it is expedient to substitute for European stores articles of bonâ fide Indian manufacture wherever it is possible to do so, without inconvenience or extra expense; and in order to ascertain to what extent or in respect to what articles the decision of Government could be made applicable, returns were called for from the several Departments and Local Governments showing all Europeans articles obtained from England and purchased in the local market during the last two years. Such a return is now submitted by the Government of Bengal.

2. From this return a list has been prepared, and is appended to this Resolution, showing the articles which, on the information before the Government of India, it is possible to obtain of Indian manufacture. The Governor-General in Council accordingly requests that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be good enough to issue definite instructions to all the Departments concerned to institute enquiry as to the cheapest and most convenient way of obtaining in future regular supplies of such goods, of Indian manufacture, as well as of any other goods which in the course of enquiry it may be found feasible to add to the list. In order to give to manufacturers that confidence in the existence of a permanent and steady demand, without which they cannot reasonably be expected to spend time and money in the manufacture of new classes of goods, the Governor-General in Council will be prepared to approve of contracts made by the Local Governments for a term of, say, five years, based on the equivalents of the average cost in the year 1880-81 of the articles entered in the list, laid down in Calcutta.

3. As regards articles of stationery and printing, orders have already been issued in the Resolutions marginally noted, published in the Gazette of India of the 23rd July and 13th August 1881. A few additional articles of stationery have been inserted in the appended list, such as erasers and scissors, which can be made in the Aligarh Postal Workshop and by private iron-workers, and blue tape, which, like red and white tape, should be obtained from the Indian cotton mills.

No. 1923, dated 22nd July 1881.
No. 2302, dated 12th August 1881.

Balances, weights, butchers' knives, iron and brass locks and padlocks, are procurable from the Rurki Workshop, the Aligarh Postal Workshop, and no doubt can be made elsewhere.

Shovels, hammers, cast-iron pulleys, buckets, kodalies, spades, forks and other gardeners' tools can also similarly be obtained of Indian manufacture. The manufacture of cement is now an established industry, and the article should not again be indented for.

Linseed-oil, boiled, should be obtained of Calcutta manufacture, either from the Gouripur mills, where it is made of good quality, or elsewhere.

Good serge is now being woven at the Cawnpore Woollen Mills, and measures should be taken to obtain supplies of all the cotton fabrics mentioned, in the manner prescribed in paragraph 2 of Resolution No. 2301 of 12th August 1881.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Government of Bengal and to the Local Governments and Administrations.

Ordered also, that it be published in the Gazette of India.

No. 2778.—In exercise of the power conferred by Section 8 of Act I of 1879 (The Indian Stamp Act, 1879), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to remit the stamp-duty chargeable under the said Act on instruments executed by Government officers, and their sureties, either before or after the publication of this order, to secure the due accounting for property received by such officers by virtue of their office.

The 1st September 1881.

No. 2787.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read again—

Financial Resolution No. 387, dated 30th April 1879, sanctioning, in supersession of all previous orders on the subject, the grant of travelling allowances to ministerial and menial officers who are entitled to such allowances when travelling by railway on duty or on transfer from one office to another.

Read—

A letter from the Surveyor-General in India, No. 3202, dated 29th December 1880, requesting reconsideration of the order, as far as it relates to the grant to an officer of a second class fare when there is no intermediate class accommodation in the train.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of the orders contained in the Resolution read in the preamble, the Governor-General in Council sanctions the following travelling allowances for ministerial and menial officers who are entitled to travelling allowances when travelling by railway on duty, or on transfer from one office to another:—

For an officer whose service is superior under the Civil Pension Code—

At the option of the officer, in lieu of any daily or monthly travelling allowance to which he may be otherwise entitled—

if the officer's salary is not less than Rs. 50 a month,—second class fare; or where there are only two classes, upper class fare;

if the officer's salary is less than Rs. 50 but not less than Rs. 10 a month,—intermediate class fare, or, if there be no intermediate class accommodation in the train by which he is required to travel, third, or where there are only two classes, lower class fare.

For an officer whose service is inferior under the Civil Pension Code—in addition to any daily or monthly travelling allowance to which he may be otherwise entitled,—the fare of the lowest class in the train by which he may be ordered to proceed, whether called lower, third, or fourth class.

2. If the journey involves the absence of the officer from his head-quarters or standing-camp for one or more nights, so as to make it necessary for him to carry with him servants and baggage, double the fare to which he would otherwise be entitled, may, at the discretion of his superior officer, be granted to him.

3. An officer in superior service may not, except as provided in paragraph 4, charge railway fare on any day for which he receives travelling allowance at the daily or monthly rate.

4. If an officer in superior service is required to travel on one day partly by railway and partly otherwise, or to make a railway journey in the course of another journey, or of a tour, then, at the discretion of his superior officer, he may be reimbursed his actual expenses, not exceeding, on the whole, the amount to which he is entitled under paragraph 1 or 2 of this Resolution, added to the amount to which he would be otherwise entitled, for the period occupied by the journey by railway, as daily or monthly (contract) allowance.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and distributed for information and guidance as follow:—

(1) To the several Departments* of the Government of India.

(2) To the several Local Governments and Administrations.

(3) To the Comptroller-General and to the several Accountants-General and Comptrollers.

(4) To the several Chiefs of Departments administered by the Government of India in the Financial Department.

* Original papers received from the Revenue and Agricultural Department to be returned.

The 2nd September 1881.

No. 2788.—The Governor-General in Council, having had under consideration the subject of railway accommodation of public officers travelling on duty by railways where there are only two classes (upper or first class, and lower or second class), has decided that the upper class of such railways is to be considered the equivalent of both first and second classes on other railways where there are more than two classes.

RETIREMENTS.

No. 489.—Under the authority of the Secretary of State for India, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following revised scales of pensions for officers of the Indian Staff Corps and the Indian Forces, to take effect from 1st July 1881.

2. For the purposes of these pension rules, which will be known as those of 1881, officers will be divided into four classes, viz.—

I.—Officers who entered the Staff Corps prior to or on the 12th September 1866.

II.—Officers of the late Indian Cavalry and Infantry who have not joined the Staff Corps, commonly known as officers of the Local Service.

III.—Officers on the General List, who entered the service under "new conditions of appointment" and who have not subsequently joined the Staff Corps.

IV.—Officers who have entered the Staff Corps since the 12th September 1866.

3. The pensions for classes I and II will be—

	Pension. £
After 20 years' service	288
„ 24 „ „	420
„ 28 „ „	571
„ 32 „ „	783

4. The existing regulation which gives to these classes certain rates of pension after 35 years' and 38 years' service will thus become inoperative.

5. The conditions of retirement offered in G. G. O. No. 1 of 1st January 1881 will not be renewed.

6. The pensions for officers in classes III and IV will be—

	Pension.
After 20 years' service	250
„ 24 „ „	365
„ 28 „ „	500
„ 32 „ „	700
„ 38 „ „ (as now)	750

7. Furlough service for pension will continue to be governed by the furlough regulations under which each officer may be serving.

8. The senior officers of classes III and IV will succeed to colonel's allowances as soon as they have completed 12 years as substantive Lieutenant-Colonel, until the number of officers in receipt of the allowances is equal to one-thirtieth of the whole of the officers in their respective lists in each Presidency, and thenceforward the number of colonel's allowances then enjoyed by officers of that class shall be considered as the fixed establishment to which officers are to succeed by seniority as vacancies arise. For the purposes of this scheme, all the officers of class III of all three presidencies will be placed on one list. The establishment will be ascertained by the number of officers remaining on that amalgamated list on the day the senior officer completes 12 years' service as substantive Lieutenant-Colonel.

9. No colonel's allowance will be granted to any officer joining the Staff Corps as a probationer after the 1st day of July 1881.

10. Pension regulations for officers entering the Staff Corps henceforward will be notified hereafter.

11. Officers will be allowed to commute a portion, not exceeding one-third, of their pensions, and this commutation may take place at any time and not merely on retirement.

12. In every case the capitalized sum will be payable in rupees in India, the sterling sum being converted at the official rate of exchange for the year in which the payment is made.

13. Full power is reserved to the Secretary of State for India to temporarily suspend or limit retirement, whenever it may appear to him necessary in the interests of the public service to do so.

The following orders, issued by the Surgeon-General with the Government of India, are republished for general information :—

Act VII of 1870, s. 9.

Power to ascertain net profits or market-value.

10. If in the result of any such investigation the Court finds that the net profits or market-value have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court, if the estimation has been excessive, may in its discretion refund the excess paid as such fee; but if the estimation has been insufficient, the Court shall require the plaintiff to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the said market-value or net profits been rightly estimated:

Act VII of 1870, s. 10.

Procedure where net profits or market-value wrongly estimated.

In such case the suit shall be stayed until the additional fee is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

Act VII of 1870, s. 11.

Procedure in suits for mesne profits or account when amount decreed exceeds amount claimed.

Where the amount of mesne profits is left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree, if the profits so ascertained exceed the profits claimed, the further execution of the decree shall be stayed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained has been paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the application for the execution of the decree shall be dismissed.

12. Every question relating to valuation for the purpose of determining the amount of any fee chargeable under this chapter on a plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be decided by the Court in which such plaint or memorandum, as the case may be, is filed.

When any suit or appeal in which any such question arises comes before a Court of appeal, reference or revision, if such Court considers that the said question has been wrongly decided, to the detriment of the revenue, it shall require the party by whom such fee has been paid to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the question been rightly decided, and the provisions of the second paragraph of section ten shall apply.

Refund of fee paid on memorandum of appeal.

13. If a plaint or appeal which has been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure is ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in section 562 of the same Code, for a second decision by the lower Court, the Appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal:

Provided that, if, in the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand does not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much fee as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded.

Act VII of 1870, s. 14.

Refund of fee on application for review of judgment.

14. Where an application for a review of judgment is presented on or after the ninetieth day from the date of the decree, the Court, unless the delay was caused by the applicant's laches, may, in its discretion, grant him a certificate authorizing him to receive back from the Collector so much of the fee paid on the application as exceeds the fee which would have been payable had it been presented before such day.

Act VII of 1870, s. 15.

Refund where Court reverses or modifies its former decision on ground of mistake.

15. Where an application for a review of judgment is admitted, and on the rehearing the Court reverses or modifies its former decision on the ground of mistake in law or fact, the applicant shall be entitled to a certificate from the Court authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the fee paid on the application.

Stamp Bill of 1877, s. 33.

But nothing in the former part of this section shall entitle the applicant to such certificate where the reversal or modification is due, wholly or in part, to fresh evidence which might have been produced at the original hearing.

Act VII of 1870, s. 16.

Additional fee where respondent takes objection to unappealed part of decree.

16. When any appeal is presented to a Civil Court, not against the whole of a decision, but only against so much thereof as relates to a portion of the subject-matter of the suit, and, on the hearing of such appeal, the respondent takes, under section 561 of the Code of Civil Procedure, an objection to any part of the said decision other than the part appealed against, the Court shall not hear such objection until the respondent has paid the additional fee which would have been payable had the appeal comprised the part of the decision so objected to.

Hul Chand v. Shib Charan Lalandothers, I. L. R. II All., p. 676.

Act VII of 1870, s. 17.

Multifarious suits.

17. Where a suit comprises two or more distinct causes of action the plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be chargeable with the aggregate amount of the fees to which the plaints or memoranda of appeal in suits comprising separately each of such causes of action would be liable under this Act.

Nothing in the former part of this section shall apply to suits for the price of goods sold and delivered, or shall be deemed to affect the power conferred by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 45.

Act VII of 1870, s. 18.

Written examinations of complainants.

18. When the first or only examination of a person who complains of the offence of wrongful confinement, or of wrongful restraint, or of any offence other than an offence for which police-officers may arrest without a warrant, and who has not already presented a petition on which a fee has been levied under this Act, is reduced to writing under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the complainant shall pay a fee of eight annas, unless the Court thinks fit to remit such payment.

Act VII of 1870, s. 19.

Exemption of certain documents.

19. Nothing contained in this Act shall render the documents specified in the third schedule hereunto annexed chargeable with any fee.

CHAPTER IV.

PROBATES, LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION AND CERTIFICATES.

Act. XIII of 1875, s. 6.

Relief where too high a Court-fee has been paid on probate or letters of administration.

20. Where any person on applying for the probate of a will or letters of administration has estimated the property of the deceased to be of greater value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has consequently paid too high a Court-fee thereon, if within six months after the true value of the property has been ascertained, such person produces the probate or letters to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority of the province in which the probate or letters has or have been granted, and delivers to such Authority a particular inventory and valuation of the property of the deceased, verified by affidavit or affirmation, and if such Authority is satisfied that a greater fee was paid on the probate or letters than the law required,

the said Authority may—

(a) cancel the stamp on the probate or letters, if such stamp has not been already cancelled;

(b) substitute another stamp for denoting the Court-fee which should have been paid thereon; and

(c) make an allowance for the difference between them as in the case of spoiled stamps, or repay the same in money, at his discretion.

Act XIII of 1875, s. 6.

Relief where debts due from a deceased person have been paid out of his estate.

21. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less Court-fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act, such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters.

But whenever, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Relief in case of several grants.

22. Whenever a grant of probate or letters of administration has been or is made in respect of the whole of the property belonging to an estate, and the full fee chargeable under this Act has been or is paid thereon, no fee shall be chargeable hereunder when a like grant is made in respect of the whole or any part of the same property belonging to the same estate;

Whenever such a grant has been or is made in respect of any property forming part of an estate, the amount of fees then actually paid under this Act shall be deducted when a like grant is made in respect of property belonging to the same estate, identical with or including the property to which the former grant relates.

Probates declared valid as to trust-property though not covered by Court-fee.

23. The probate of the will, or the letters of administration of the effects, of any person deceased heretofore or hereafter granted shall be deemed valid and available by his executors or administrators for recovering, transferring or assigning any moveable or immoveable property whereof or whereto the deceased was possessed or entitled, either wholly or partially as a trustee, notwithstanding the amount or value of such property is not included in the amount or value of the estate in respect of which a Court-fee was paid on such probate or letters of administration.

Act XIII of 1875, s. 6.

Provision for case where too low a Court-fee has been paid on probates, &c.

24. Where any person on applying for probate or letters of administration has estimated the estate of the deceased to be of less value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has in consequence paid too low a Court-fee thereon, the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority of the province in which the probate or letters has or have been granted may, on the value of the estate of the deceased being verified by affidavit or affirmation, cause the probate or letters of administration to be duly stamped on payment of the full Court-fee which ought to have been originally paid thereon in respect of such value and of the further penalty, if the probate or letters is or are produced within one year from the date of the grant, of five times, or if it or they is or are produced after one year from such date, of twenty times, such proper Court-fee, without any deduction of the Court-fee originally paid on such probate or letters:

Provided that, if the application be made within six months after the ascertainment of the true value of the estate and the discovery that too low a Court-fee was at first paid on the probate or letters, and if the said Authority is satisfied that such fee was paid in consequence of a mistake or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, and without any intention of fraud or to delay the payment of the proper Court-fee, the said Authority may remit the said penalty, and cause the probate or letters to be duly stamped on payment only of the sum wanting to make up the fee which should have been at first paid thereon.

Ibid.

Administrator to give proper security before letters stamped under section 24.

25. In case of letters of administration on which too low a Court-fee has been paid at first, the said Authority shall not cause the same to be duly stamped in manner aforesaid until the Administrator has given such security to the Court by which the letters of administration have been granted as ought by law to have been given on the granting thereof in case the full value of the estate of the deceased had been then ascertained.

Ibid.

Executors, &c., not paying full Court-fee on probates, &c., within six months after discovery of underpayment.

26. Where too low a Court-fee has been paid on any probate or letters of administration in consequence of any mistake, or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, if any executor or administrator acting under such probate or letters does not, within six months after the discovery of the mistake or of any effects not known at the time to have belonged to the deceased, apply to the said Authority and pay what is wanting to make up the Court-fee which ought to have been paid at first on such probate or letters, he shall forfeit the sum of one thousand rupees and also a further sum at the rate of ten rupees per cent. on the amount of the sum wanting to make up the proper Court-fee.

Act XIII of 1875 s. 6. Stamp Bill of 1877, s. 76.

27. The provisions of this chapter shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to certificates and to the holders of certificates granted under—

This chapter applied to certificate under Act XL of 1858 and other Acts

Act No. XL of 1858 (for making better provision for the care of the persons and property of Minors in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, or Bombay Regulation VIII of 1827 (to provide for the formal recognition of Heirs, Executors and Administrators, and for the appointment of Administrators and Managers of property by the Courts).

Act VII of 1870, Sch. I, 12, Note.

28. The person to whom any such certificate is granted, or his representative, shall after the expiration of twelve months from the date of such certificate and thereafter whenever the Court granting such certificate requires him so to do, file a statement on oath of all property recovered or realized by him under such certificate.

Statement of property realized under certificate to be filed.

If the property so recovered or realized exceed the amount of debts or other property as sworn to by the person to whom the certificate is granted, the Court may cancel the same and order such person to take out a fresh certificate and pay the fee prescribed by this Act for such excess.

In default of filing such statement within the time allowed, the Court may cancel the certificate.

Stamp Bill of 1877, Sch. VI.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the year 1879 Mr. F. R. Cockerell was instructed by the Government of India to place himself on his arrival in England in communication with Messrs. De La Rue & Co., the eminent stamp-manufacturers. He was to bring before them the whole question of the stamp forgeries recently discovered in Oudh and the North-Western Provinces and to submit, for their inspection and examination, some specimens of those forgeries, together with the apparatus employed, or supposed to have been employed, in the manufacture of the forged labels. He was then, in consultation with Messrs. De La Rue and with the aid of their practical experience, to devise some kind of stamping machinery which would protect the revenue against the fraudulent practices by which its security has been menaced from time to time, and to submit, as the result of this conference, his conclusions on the whole question, and any recommendations for the alteration of the existing system of collecting fees, stating at the same time how far these conclusions and recommendations had the concurrence of that firm.

2. Mr. Cockerell has now submitted his report. The principal question for consideration was whether adhesive labels were to be retained for the collection of Court-fees wholly or partly.

3. The frauds to which the use of adhesive stamps has given rise are of two kinds:—

1st—Abstraction of the labels from the papers to which they have been affixed and re-use of such labels.

2nd—The production as genuine of counterfeit labels and making them pass current.

4. Messrs. De La Rue were of opinion that from the stamp-manufacturers' point of view there is no way of preventing such attempts at counterfeiting adhesive labels as had been recently discovered, or rendering their accomplishment more difficult. The Government of India had therefore to choose between persevering with the adhesive stamps and a partial or complete recourse to the use of stamped papers in lieu of the labels. Messrs. De La Rue advocated a complete re-introduction of stamped papers for the collection of Court-fees generally. They were of opinion that it is more profitable for forgers to work upon labels of the smaller values, as they pass with less scrutiny than labels of the higher values, and that the forgeries discovered were of so clumsy and inaccurate a nature that they should have been detected at once with ordinary care. The real difficulty and danger to the revenue, Messrs. De La Rue considered, arose out of the other kind of fraud, namely, the abstraction and re-use of the adhesive labels.

5. On the other hand, Mr. Cockerell was of opinion that the wisest course, under the present circumstances, would be a partial substitution of stamped papers for adhesive labels. If after a fair trial of such a measure it was found necessary to go further in the direction of the discontinuance of the use of adhesive labels, such progressive action would not have been rendered more difficult by the adoption of what he proposed, inasmuch as his proposals did not involve any considerable initial outlay, the value of which would be lost in the event of any closely following change of system. Mr. Cockerell also thought that, considering the great difficulty which forgers have in this country, owing to deficient mechanical appliances, in manufacturing forged stamps rapidly, and the great expense incurred in paying persons to pass the counterfeit labels, it was unlikely that forgers would work upon the smaller values. With regard to the abstraction and re-use of adhesive labels, he thought that an inquiry into the cases in which such frauds have been committed showed that they might have been prevented by a due examination and cancellation of the labels affixed to documents when presented to the Court or office in which the fraud occurred. He therefore came to the conclusion that it would be premature to condemn a system the checks and precautions for the proper working of which had never been fairly and perseveringly enforced.

6. The great advantage which the substitution of stamped papers for adhesive labels in the collection of the Court-fees of the higher values instead of those of the lower values possesses is that the increase of expenditure entailed by the former change is very much less than that entailed by the latter. Mr. Cockerell calculates that the average consumption of stamps of the value of ten rupees and upwards is less than Rs. 3,00,000, out of a total consumption of more than 25½ millions. Then the cost of the lower values of adhesive labels is two shillings and sixpence per thousand, while the cost of the smallest size of stamped papers is 37 shillings per thousand. Besides this vast difference in the cost of production, the introduction of stamped papers involves a great increase in the cost of carriage.

7. For these reasons Mr. Cockerell recommended that stamped papers should be used for the collection of all Court-fees of ten rupees' value and upwards, and that the use of adhesive labels in respect of all denominations of fees below that amount should be continued. His reasons for thinking that the change should commence at the ten rupees' denomination are briefly as follows:—

(1) that this would include all values of substantial amount in regard to which the greatest risk to the revenue from forgeries is to be apprehended;

(2) that, to avoid expense in the introduction of stamped papers, it will be necessary to manufacture them on the same pattern, using the same plates, &c., as the stamped papers used under the Indian Stamp Act, 1879. The classification of stamped papers for Court-fees should, therefore, be the same as that for stamp-duties, and class III of the latter commences at ten rupees.

(3) that it is of great importance that the denominations below one rupee should be represented by adhesive labels, as these denominations are specially required for the purpose of making up the fractional parts of five rupees where the whole value of the stamp required exceeds ten rupees.

8. Mr. Cockerell proposed no change in the present scale of fees payable in suits the amount or value of the subject-matter of which does not exceed Rs. 5,000. With regard to the fees chargeable on suits of higher values, he proposed to re-adjust the scale of fees prescribed by Schedule I of the Court-fees' Act so as to reduce materially the number of denominations of stamps required for the collection of fees. The sliding scale fixed by the present law comprises no less than one hundred and thirty-five denominations of fees above Rs. 275, which is the fee chargeable on a suit for an amount or value of Rs. 5,000. To meet the requirements of this scale very many new denominations of stamped papers would have to be provided. Great additional expense would have to be incurred in making the proposed change, while the new stamp papers would, comparatively speaking, be seldom used, the number of suits for large amounts forming so small a portion of the entire litigation of the country.

9. The greatest enhancement in the fees which this change in the law will involve will be in suits for Rs. 7,000 and Rs. 10,000. In the former suits there will be an increase of twenty rupees and in the latter an increase of fifty. In the case of suits for sums exceeding Rs. 10,000 the increase will be less in proportion. Thus, the fee on a suit for Rs. 15,000 will be only twenty-five rupees above its amount under the existing scale, and the fee on a suit for Rs. 20,000 will be the same as that on a suit for Rs. 30,000 and only twenty-five rupees more than the present fee. The proposed increase, it is calculated, affects only about one per cent. of the entire litigation of the country.

10. Mr. Cockerell calculates that the annual cost of substituting stamped papers for all values of ten rupees and upwards, and continuing the use of adhesive labels, will be about £8,000, or an increase of rather more than £5,000 over the present cost. The total cost of substituting stamped papers in respect of all denominations of Court-fees and discontinuing the use of labels absolutely will be about £56,000, or an increase over the present expenditure for manufacture alone of about £53,000.

11. The Government of India has resolved to adopt Mr. Cockerell's recommendations, and it is therefore necessary to legislate and to amend the first article of Schedule I of the Court-fees' Act in accordance with his suggestions. The Act will also be amended so as to prevent the fraudulent removal and re-use of adhesive labels. The opportunity will be taken to make certain other amendments of the law which the reported decisions of the High Courts and the experience of the last eleven years have shewn to be desirable.

12. The following are the principal amendments which are made in the present law by the Bill.

13. In clause (a), section 36, of the Bill, corresponding to clause (a), section 27, of the present Act, power is given to the Local Government to make rules for regulating the supply and sale of Court-fee stamps, the persons by whom alone such sale is to be conducted, and the duties and remuneration of such persons. The Local Government has similar powers under the Indian Stamp Act, and such powers will be useful in preventing frauds against the revenue. It is easier to detect the fraudulent removal and re-use of labels when there are means of tracing the persons by whom and to whom the labels were sold. If the stamp-vendors are placed under the control of the Local Government and sales by non-authorized persons prohibited, means can be provided for tracing the vendors and purchasers of stamps with respect to which fraud is suspected.

14. This amendment has involved other changes in the law. In order to enforce the rules made under clause (a), section 36, a penalty is provided by section 41 for breach of the rules by authorized vendors and for the sale of stamps by a person not authorized. Then, as no one but a duly authorised person can sell stamps, section 48 provides for making an allowance for stamps which a person has purchased but afterwards finds that he has no use for.

15. In order to prevent the fraudulent removal and re-use of labels it is necessary to provide for the proper cancellation of stamps. The present law (section 30) directs that cancellation shall be effected by punching out the figure-head so as to leave the amount designated on the stamp untouched, and that the part removed by punching shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed. These provisions have not been found to work well in practice. The duty which they impose has not been fully performed, and experience has shown that there is more chance of getting the responsible officers concerned to observe regulations of this kind when they are prescribed by rules which can be adapted to the varying circumstances of the different provinces of the empire. Accordingly, section 39 of the Bill gives each Local Government power, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to make rules for regulating the mode of cancelling stamps and the persons by whom such cancellation is to be effected.

16. The other amendment involved by Mr. Cockerell's proposals is the alteration in the scale of ad valorem fees: the cause of this change in the law has been already explained. In suits when the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute exceeds Rs. 5,000, instead of charging a fee of ten rupees for every Rs. 250 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 5,000 up to Rs. 10,000, the Bill provides a charge of Rs. 25 for every Rs. 500 or part thereof. When such amount or value exceeds Rs. 10,000, instead of a fee of fifteen rupees for every Rs. 500 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 10,000 up to Rs. 20,000, the Bill provides a fee of Rs. 25 for every Rs. 1,000 or part thereof up to Rs. 25,000. So the next class of suits, instead of ranging from Rs. 20,000 to Rs. 30,000 with an additional fee of Rs. 20 for every Rs. 1,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 20,000, ranges from Rs. 25,000 to Rs. 50,000 with an additional fee of Rs. 100 for every Rs. 5,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 25,000. The next class of suits, instead of ranging from Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 50,000 is to range from Rs. 50,000 to Rs. 4,00,000 with an increased fee of Rs. 100 on every Rs. 25,000 or part thereof. Lastly, instead of a fee of Rs. 25 for every Rs. 5,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 50,000, the Bill prescribes a fee of Rs. 100 for every Rs. 50,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 4,00,000.

17. The Bill also provides in section 42 a penalty for the fraudulent possession of used and cancelled stamps which have been removed from the documents to which they have been affixed. The fact of a person having such stamps in his possession is a clear indication of an intent to use them fraudulently.

18. A penalty has also been provided (section 40) for failing to file the statement on oath of all property received or realized under a certificate granted under Act No. XL of 1858, Act No. XXVII of 1860, Act No. XX of 1864, or Bombay Regulation VIII of 1827. At present the law requiring such statements to be furnished may be evaded to the detriment of the revenue, for the only penalty is cancellation of the certificate, and default in filing the statement is probably in many cases never brought to the notice of the Court.

19. To prevent vexatious prosecutions the Bill (section 43), following the Indian Stamp Act, provides that no prosecution for any offence punishable thereunder shall be instituted without the sanction of the Collector or an officer duly authorized in that behalf.

20. The above are the principal amendments; but opportunity has been taken to make some other alterations in the law, which appear to be advisable.

21. In section 6 of the Bill the words "granted under his seal and signature" have been substituted for the word "furnished." The practice was for many years to grant copies unauthenticated by seal or signature without payment of Court-fee. It is held that this practice is under the present law illegal; but as copies are frequently required for private use and not for filing, exhibiting and recording in a Court of justice, it is thought advisable in the interests of the public to render the former practice legal.

22. In section 7, paragraph xi, the fee in suits to enhance the rent of a tenant having a right of occupancy and for abatement of rent is directed to be calculated on five times the amount by which the rent is sought to be enhanced or abated, instead of, as at present, according to the amount of the rent of the land to which the suit refers payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint. The amendment gives a fairer method of calculating the fee chargeable in such suits.

23. In section 12, corresponding with section 12 of the present law, the words "and such decision shall be final as between the parties to the suit" have been omitted. It has been held by the High Court at Calcutta, in the case of Ajoodhya Pershad v. Gunga Pershad (I. L. R., 6 Calc., p. 249), that an appeal lies against an order rejecting a plaint on the ground of its being insufficiently stamped, such an order being a decree within the meaning of the definition in the Code of Civil Procedure. An appeal should be allowed from an order so rejecting a plaint, and if the words "and such decision shall be final as between the parties to the suit" are retained in the Bill, it will probably be held that the right of appeal is taken away.

24. In section 17, which relates to the fee payable in multifarious suits, the expression "causes of action" is substituted for the expression "subjects" in accordance with a recent decision of the High Court at Allahabad.

25. The list of exemptions in section 19 of the Act has been transferred to Schedule III. The words "whilst serving in such capacity" have been substituted for the words "not in civil employment" in the eleventh exemption, and petitions, applications and memoranda of appeal under the Oudh Taluqdars Act, 1870, have been added to the exemptions; and section twenty-four of that Act, which exempted those documents from Court-fees, has been entered in the schedule of enactments repealed. Other exemptions which have been made by the Governor General in Council under section 35 of the present Act have also for convenience been included in the schedule of exemptions and the whole has been arranged in alphabetical order.

26. The provisions as to probates, letters of administration and certificates which were inserted in the Court-fees' Act by the Probates and Letters of Administration Act of 1875 are printed in their proper place in Chapter IV of the Bill. By section 27 the provisions of this chapter are made applicable to certificates under Act XXVII of 1860 and Bom. Reg. VIII of 1827, as well as to certificates granted under Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864, and the note to Article 12, Schedule I, which requires a statement on oath of all property recovered or realized under a certificate to be filed by the certificate-holder, is removed from the schedule and added to the chapter as section 25. A provision has also been added to section 28, in accordance with a decision of the High Court of Madras, that a certificate which has become liable to cancellation under the section shall remain in force until it is actually cancelled.

27. In section 38 words are added to make it clear that an amended document is not exempted from the payment of an additional fee, when the duty with which it is chargeable is increased by the amendment.

28. Some obsolete portions of the Court-fees' Act have been omitted, but the general arrangement of the Bill remains the same as that of the Act.

The plaint or memorandum of appeal in every suit or appeal mentioned in this section shall state the amount or value with reference to which the fee payable in respect of such plaint or memorandum is to be computed. Stamp Bill of 1877, s. 56, last clause.

Fee on memorandum of appeal against order relating to compensation.

8. The amount of fee payable under this Act on a memorandum of appeal against an order relating to compensation under any law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes shall be computed according to the difference between the amount awarded and the amount claimed by the appellant. Act VII of 1870, s. 8.

Power to ascertain net profits or market-value.

9. If the Court sees reason to think that the annual net profits or the market-value of any such land, house or garden as is mentioned in section seven, paragraphs v and vi, have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court may, for the purpose of computing the fee payable in any suit therein mentioned, issue a commission to any proper person directing him to make such local or other investigation as may be necessary, and to report thereon to the Court. Act VII of 1870, s. 9.

Procedure where net profits or market-value wrongly estimated.

10. If in the result of any such investigation the Court finds that the net profits or market-value have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court, if the estimation has been excessive, may in its discretion refund the excess paid as such fee; but if the estimation has been insufficient, the Court shall require the plaintiff to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the said market-value or net profits been rightly estimated: Act VII of 1870, s. 10.

In such case the suit shall be stayed until the additional fee is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

Act VII of 1870, s. 11.

Procedure in suits for mesne profits or account when amount decreed exceeds amount claimed.

11. In suits for mesne profits or for immoveable property and mesne profits, or for an account, if the profits or amount decreed are or is in excess of the profits claimed or the amount at which the plaintiff valued the relief sought, the decree shall not be executed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits or amount so decreed has been paid to the proper officer.

Where the amount of mesne profits is left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree, if the profits so ascertained exceed the profits claimed, the further execution of the decree shall be stayed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained has been paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the application for the execution of the decree shall be dismissed.

Act VII of 1870, s. 12.

The words "and such decision shall be final as between the parties to the suit" are omitted.

See Narayan Mádhávrao Náik v. Collector of Thána, I. L. R. II, Bo. 115.

Decision of questions as to valuation.

12. Every question relating to valuation for the purpose of determining the amount of any fee chargeable under this chapter on a plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be decided by the Court in which such plaint or memorandum, as the case may be, is filed.

When any suit or appeal in which any such question arises comes before a Court of appeal, reference or revision, if such Court considers that the said question has been wrongly decided, to the detriment of the revenue, it shall require the party by whom such fee has been paid to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the question been rightly decided, and the provisions of the second paragraph of section ten shall apply.

Refund of fee paid on memorandum of appeal.

13. If a plaint or appeal which has been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure is ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in section 562 of the same Code, for a second decision by the lower Court, the Appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal:

Provided that, if, in the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand does not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much fee as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded.

Act VII of 1870, s. 14.

Refund of fee on application for review of judgment.

14. Where an application for a review of judgment is presented on or after the ninetieth day from the date of the decree, the Court, unless the delay was caused by the applicant's laches, may, in its discretion, grant him a certificate authorizing him to receive back from the Collector so much of the fee paid on the application as exceeds the fee which would have been payable had it been presented before such day.

Act VII of 1870, s. [illegible]

Refund where Court reverses or modifies its former decision on ground of mistake.

15. Where an application for a review of judgment is admitted, and on the rehearing the Court reverses or modifies its former decision on the ground of mistake in law or fact, the applicant shall be entitled to a certificate from the Court authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the fee paid on the application.

Stamp Act of 1877, s. 35.

But nothing in the former part of this section shall entitle the applicant to such certificate where the reversal or modification is due, wholly or in part, to fresh evidence which might have been produced at the original hearing.

Act VII of 1870, s. 16.

Additional fee where respondent takes objection to unappealed part of decree.

16. When any appeal is presented to a Civil Court, not against the whole of a decision, but only against so much thereof as relates to a portion of the subject-matter of the suit, and, on the hearing of such appeal, the respondent takes, under section 561 of the Code of Civil Procedure, an objection to any part of the said decision other than the part appealed against, the Court shall not hear such objection until the respondent has paid the additional fee which would have been payable had the appeal comprised the part of the decision so objected to.

Mul Chand v. Shib Charan Lal and others, I. L. R. II All., p. 676.

Act VII of 1870, s. 17.

Multifarious suits.

17. Where a suit comprises two or more distinct causes of action the plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be chargeable with the aggregate amount of the fees to which the plaints or memoranda of appeal in suits comprising separately each of such causes of action would be liable under this Act.

Nothing in the former part of this section shall apply to suits for the price of goods sold and delivered, or shall be deemed to affect the power conferred by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 45.

Act VII of 1870, s. 18.

Written examinations of complainants.

18. When the first or only examination of a person who complains of the offence of wrongful confinement, or of wrongful restraint, or of any offence other than an offence for which police-officers may arrest without a warrant, and who has not already presented a petition on which a fee has been levied under this Act, is reduced to writing under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the complainant shall pay a fee of eight annas, unless the Court thinks fit to remit such payment.

Act VII of 1870, s. 19.

Exemption of certain documents.

19. Nothing contained in this Act shall render the documents specified in the third schedule hereunto annexed chargeable with any fee.

CHAPTER IV.

PROBATES, LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION AND CERTIFICATES.

Act XIII of 1875, s. 6.

Relief where too high a Court-fee has been paid on probate or letters of administration.

20. Where any person on applying for the probate of a will or letters of administration has estimated the property of the deceased to be of greater value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has consequently paid too high a Court-fee thereon, if within six months after the true value of the property has been ascertained, such person produces the probate or letters to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority of the province in which the probate or letters has or have been granted, and delivers to such Authority a particular inventory and valuation of the property of the deceased, verified by affidavit or affirmation, and if such Authority is satisfied that a greater fee was paid on the probate or letters than the law required,

the said Authority may—

(a) cancel the stamp on the probate or letters, if such stamp has not been already cancelled;

(b) substitute another stamp for denoting the Court-fee which should have been paid thereon; and

(c) make an allowance for the difference between them as in the case of spoiled stamps, or repay the same in money, at his discretion.

Act XIII of 1875, s. 6.

Relief where debts due from a deceased person have been paid out of his estate.

21. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less Court-fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act, such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters.

But whenever, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Ibid.

Relief in case of several grants.

22. Whenever a grant of probate or letters of administration has been or is made in respect of the whole of the property belonging to an estate, and the full fee chargeable under this Act has been or is paid thereon, no fee shall be chargeable hereunder when a like grant is made in respect of the whole or any part of the same property belonging to the same estate;

Whenever such a grant has been or is made in respect of any property forming part of an estate, the amount of fees then actually paid under this Act shall be deducted when a like grant is made in respect of property belonging to the same estate, identical with or including the property to which the former grant relates.

Ibid.

Probates declared valid as to trust-property though not covered by Court-fee.

23. The probate of the will, or the letters of administration of the effects, of any person deceased heretofore or hereafter granted shall be deemed valid and available by his executors or administrators for recovering, transferring or assigning any moveable or immoveable property whereof or whereto the deceased was possessed or entitled, either wholly or partially as a trustee, notwithstanding the amount or value of such property is not included in the amount or value of the estate in respect of which a Court-fee was paid on such probate or letters of administration.

Act XIII of 1875, s. 6.

Provision for case where too low a Court-fee has been paid on probates, &c.

24. Where any person on applying for probate or letters of administration has estimated the estate of the deceased to be of less value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has in consequence paid too low a Court-fee thereon, the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority of the province in which the probate or letters has or have been granted may, on the value of the estate of the deceased being verified by affidavit or affirmation, cause the probate or letters of administration to be duly stamped on payment of the full Court-fee which ought to have been originally paid thereon in respect of such value and of the further penalty, if the probate or letters is or are produced within one year from the date of the grant, of five times, or if it or they is or are produced after one year from such date, of twenty times, such proper Court-fee, without any deduction of the Court-fee originally paid on such probate or letters:

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the year 1879 Mr. F. R. Cockerell was instructed by the Government of India to place himself on his arrival in England in communication with Messrs. De La Rue & Co., the eminent stamp-manufacturers. He was to bring before them the whole question of the stamp forgeries recently discovered in Oudh and the North-Western Provinces and to submit, for their inspection and examination, some specimens of those forgeries, together with the apparatus employed, or supposed to have been employed, in the manufacture of the forged labels. He was then, in consultation with Messrs. De La Rue and with the aid of their practical experience, to devise some kind of stamping machinery which would protect the revenue against the fraudulent practices by which its security has been menaced from time to time, and to submit, as the result of this conference, his conclusions on the whole question, and any recommendations for the alteration of the existing system of collecting fees, stating at the same time how far these conclusions and recommendations had the concurrence of that firm.

2. Mr. Cockerell has now submitted his report. The principal question for consideration was whether adhesive labels were to be retained for the collection of Court-fees wholly or partly.

3. The frauds to which the use of adhesive stamps has given rise are of two kinds:—

1st—Abstraction of the labels from the papers to which they have been affixed and re-use of such labels.

2nd—The production as genuine of counterfeit labels and making them pass current.

4. Messrs. De La Rue were of opinion that from the stamp-manufacturers' point of view there is no way of preventing such attempts at counterfeiting adhesive labels as had been recently discovered, or rendering their accomplishment more difficult. The Government of India had therefore to choose between persevering with the adhesive stamps and a partial or complete recourse to the use of stamped papers in lieu of the labels. Messrs. De La Rue advocated a complete re-introduction of stamped papers for the collection of Court-fees generally. They were of opinion that it is more profitable for forgers to work upon labels of the smaller values, as they pass with less scrutiny than labels of the higher values, and that the forgeries discovered were of so clumsy and inaccurate a nature that they should have been detected at once with ordinary care. The real difficulty and danger to the revenue, Messrs. De La Rue considered, arose out of the other kind of fraud, namely, the abstraction and re-use of the adhesive labels.

5. On the other hand, Mr. Cockerell was of opinion that the wisest course, under the present circumstances, would be a partial substitution of stamped papers for adhesive labels. If after a fair trial of such a measure it was found necessary to go further in the direction of the discontinuance of the use of adhesive labels, such progressive action would not have been rendered more difficult by the adoption of what he proposed, inasmuch as his proposals did not involve any considerable initial outlay, the value of which would be lost in the event of any closely following change of system. Mr. Cockerell also thought that, considering the great difficulty which forgers have in this country, owing to deficient mechanical appliances, in manufacturing forged stamps rapidly, and the great expense incurred in paying persons to pass the counterfeit labels, it was unlikely that forgers would work upon the smaller values. With regard to the abstraction and re-use of adhesive labels, he thought that an inquiry into the cases in which such frauds have been committed showed that they might have been prevented by a due examination and cancellation of the labels affixed to documents when presented to the Court or office in which the fraud occurred. He therefore came to the conclusion that it would be premature to condemn a system the checks and precautions for the proper working of which had never been fairly and perseveringly enforced.

6. The great advantage which the substitution of stamped papers for adhesive labels in the collection of the Court-fees of the higher values instead of those of the lower values possesses is that the increase of expenditure entailed by the former change is very much less than that entailed by the latter. Mr. Cockerell calculates that the average consumption of stamps of the value of ten rupees and upwards is less than Rs. 3,00,000, out of a total consumption of more than 25½ millions. Then the cost of the lower values of adhesive labels is two shillings and sixpence per thousand, while the cost of the smallest size of stamped papers is 37 shillings per thousand. Besides this vast difference in the cost of production, the introduction of stamped papers involves a great increase in the cost of carriage.

7. For these reasons Mr. Cockerell recommended that stamped papers should be used for the collection of all Court-fees of ten rupees' value and upwards, and that the use of adhesive labels in respect of all denominations of fees below that amount should be continued. His reasons for thinking that the change should commence at the ten rupees' denomination are briefly as follows:—

(1) that this would include all values of substantial amount in regard to which the greatest risk to the revenue from forgeries is to be apprehended;

(2) that, to avoid expense in the introduction of stamped papers, it will be necessary to manufacture them on the same pattern, using the same plates, &c., as the stamped papers used under the Indian Stamp Act, 1879. The classification of stamped papers for Court-fees should, therefore, be the same as that for stamp-duties, and class III of the latter commences at ten rupees.

(3) that it is of great importance that the denominations below one rupee should be represented by adhesive labels, as these denominations are specially required for the purpose of making up the fractional parts of five rupees where the whole value of the stamp required exceeds ten rupees.

8. Mr. Cockerell proposed no change in the present scale of fees payable in suits the amount or value of the subject-matter of which does not exceed Rs. 5,000. With regard to the fees chargeable on suits of higher values, he proposed to re-adjust the scale of fees prescribed by Schedule I of the Court-fees' Act so as to reduce materially the number of denominations of stamps required for the collection of fees. The sliding scale fixed by the present law comprises no less than one hundred and thirty-five denominations of fees above Rs. 275, which is the fee chargeable on a suit for an amount or value of Rs. 5,000. To meet the requirements of this scale very many new denominations of stamped papers would have to be provided. Great additional expense would have to be incurred in making the proposed change, while the new stamp papers would, comparatively speaking, be seldom used, the number of suits for large amounts forming so small a portion of the entire litigation of the country.

9. The greatest enhancement in the fees which this change in the law will involve will be in suits for Rs. 7,000 and Rs. 10,000. In the former suits there will be an increase of twenty rupees and in the latter an increase of fifty. In the case of suits for sums exceeding Rs. 10,000 the increase will be less in proportion. Thus, the fee on a suit for Rs. 15,000 will be only twenty-five rupees above its amount under the existing scale; and the fee on a suit for Rs. 20,000 will be the same as that on a suit for Rs. 39,000 and only twenty-five rupees more than the present fee. The proposed increase, it is calculated, affects only about one per cent. of the entire litigation of the country.

10. Mr. Cockerell calculates that the annual cost of substituting stamped papers for all values of ten rupees and upwards, and continuing the use of adhesive labels, will be about £8,600, or an increase of rather more than £5,000 over the present cost. The total cost of substituting stamped papers in respect of all denominations of Court-fees and discontinuing the use of labels absolutely will be about £56,000, or an increase over the present expenditure for manufacture alone of about £53,000.

11. The Government of India has resolved to adopt Mr. Cockerell's recommendations, and it is therefore necessary to legislate and to amend the first article of Schedule I of the Court-fees' Act in accordance with his suggestions. The Act will also be amended so as to prevent the fraudulent removal and re-use of adhesive labels. The opportunity will be taken to make certain other amendments of the law which the reported decisions of the High Courts and the experience of the last eleven years have shewn to be desirable.

12. The following are the principal amendments which are made in the present law by the Bill.

13. In clause (a), section 36, of the Bill, corresponding to clause (a), section 27, of the present Act, power is given to the Local Government to make rules for regulating the supply and sale of Court-fee stamps, the persons by whom alone such sale is to be conducted, and the duties and remuneration of such persons. The Local Government has similar powers under the Indian Stamp Act, and such powers will be useful in preventing frauds against the revenue. It is easier to detect the fraudulent removal and re-use of labels when there are means of tracing the persons by whom and to whom the labels were sold. If the stamp-vendors are placed under the control of the Local Government and sales by non-authorized persons prohibited, means can be provided for tracing the vendors and purchasers of stamps with respect to which fraud is suspected.

14. This amendment has involved other changes in the law. In order to enforce the rules made under clause (a), section 36, a penalty is provided by section 41 for breach of the rules by authorized vendors and for the sale of stamps by a person not authorized. Then, as no one but a duly authorised person can sell stamps, section 48 provides for making an allowance for stamps which a person has purchased but afterwards finds that he has no use for.

15. In order to prevent the fraudulent removal and re-use of labels it is necessary to provide for the proper cancellation of stamps. The present law (section 30) directs that cancellation shall be effected by punching out the figure-head so as to leave the amount designated on the stamp untouched, and that the part removed by punching shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed. These provisions have not been found to work well in practice. The duty which they impose has not been fully performed, and experience has shown that there is more chance of getting the responsible officers concerned to observe regulations of this kind when they are prescribed by rules which can be adapted to the varying circumstances of the different provinces of the empire. Accordingly, section 39 of the Bill gives each Local Government power, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to make rules for regulating the mode of cancelling stamps and the persons by whom such cancellation is to be effected.

16. The other amendment involved by Mr. Cockerell's proposals is the alteration in the scale of ad valorem fees, the cause of this change in the law has been already explained. In suits when the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute exceeds Rs. 5,000, instead of charging a fee of ten rupees for every Rs. 250 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 5,000 up to Rs. 10,000, the Bill provides a charge of Rs. 25 for every Rs. 500 or part thereof. When such amount or value exceeds Rs. 10,000, instead of a fee of fifteen rupees for every Rs. 500 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 10,000 up to Rs. 20,000, the Bill provides a fee of Rs. 25 for every Rs. 1,000 or part thereof up to Rs. 25,000. So the next class of suits, instead of ranging from Rs. 20,000 to Rs. 30,000 with an additional fee of Rs. 20 for every Rs. 1,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 20,000, ranges from Rs. 25,000 to Rs. 50,000 with an additional fee of Rs. 100 for every Rs. 5,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 25,000. The next class of suits, instead of ranging from Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 50,000 is to range from Rs. 50,000 to Rs. 4,00,000 with an increased fee of Rs. 100 on every Rs. 25,000 or part thereof. Lastly, instead of a fee of Rs. 25 for every Rs. 5,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 50,000, the Bill prescribes a fee of Rs. 100 for every Rs. 50,000 or part thereof in excess of Rs. 4,00,000.

17. The Bill also provides in section 42 a penalty for the fraudulent possession of used and cancelled stamps which have been removed from the documents to which they have been affixed. The fact of a person having such stamps in his possession is a clear indication of an intent to use them fraudulently.

18. A penalty has also been provided (section 40) for failing to file the statement on oath of all property received or realized under a certificate granted under Act No. XL of 1858, Act No. XXVII of 1860, Act No. XX of 1864, or Bombay Regulation VIII of 1827. At present the law requiring such statements to be furnished may be evaded to the detriment of the revenue, for the only penalty is cancellation of the certificate, and default in filing the statement is probably in many cases never brought to the notice of the Court.

19. To prevent vexatious prosecutions the Bill (section 43), following the Indian Stamp Act, provides that no prosecution for any offence punishable thereunder shall be instituted without the sanction of the Collector or an officer duly authorized in that behalf.

20. The above are the principal amendments; but opportunity has been taken to make some other alterations in the law, which appear to be advisable.

21. In section 6 of the Bill the words "granted under his seal and signature" have been substituted for the word "furnished." The practice was for many years to grant copies unauthenticated by seal or signature without payment of Court-fee. It is held that this practice is under the present law illegal; but as copies are frequently required for private use and not for filing, exhibiting and recording in a Court of justice, it is thought advisable in the interests of the public to render the former practice legal.

22. In section 7, paragraph xi, the fee in suits to enhance the rent of a tenant having a right of occupancy and for abatement of rent is directed to be calculated on five times the amount by which the rent is sought to be enhanced or abated, instead of, as at present, according to the amount of the rent of the land to which the suit refers payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint. The amendment gives a fairer method of calculating the fee chargeable in such suits.

23. In section 12, corresponding with section 12 of the present law, the words "and such decision shall be final as between the parties to the suit" have been omitted. It has been held by the High Court at Calcutta, in the case of Ajoodhya Pershad v. Gunga Pershad (I. L. R., 6 Calc., p. 249), that an appeal lies against an order rejecting a plaint on the ground of its being insufficiently stamped, such an order being a decree within the meaning of the definition in the Code of Civil Procedure. An appeal should be allowed from an order so rejecting a plaint, and if the words "and such decision shall be final as between the parties to the suit" are retained in the Bill, it will probably be held that the right of appeal is taken away.

24. In section 17, which relates to the fee payable in multifarious suits, the expression "causes of action" is substituted for the expression "subjects" in accordance with a recent decision of the High Court at Allahabad.

25. The list of exemptions in section 19 of the Act has been transferred to Schedule III. The words "whilst serving in such capacity" have been substituted for the words "not in civil employment" in the eleventh exemption, and petitions, applications and memoranda of appeal under the Oudh Taluqdárs Act, 1870, have been added to the exemptions; and section twenty-four of that Act, which exempted those documents from Court-fees, has been entered in the schedule of enactments repealed. Other exemptions which have been made by the Governor General in Council under section 35 of the present Act have also for convenience been included in the schedule of exemptions and the whole has been arranged in alphabetical order.

26. The provisions as to probates, letters of administration and certificates which were inserted in the Court-fees' Act by the Probates and Letters of Administration Act of 1875 are printed in their proper place in Chapter IV of the Bill. By section 27 the provisions of this chapter are made applicable to certificates under Act XXVII of 1860 and Bom. Reg. VIII of 1827, as well as to certificates granted under Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864, and the note to Article 12, Schedule I, which requires a statement on oath of all property recovered or realized under a certificate to be filed by the certificate-holder, is removed from the schedule and added to the chapter as section 28. A provision has also been added to section 28, in accordance with a decision of the High Court of Madras, that a certificate which has become liable to cancellation under the section shall remain in force until it is actually cancelled.

27. In section 38 words are added to make it clear that an amended document is not exempted from the payment of an additional fee, when the duty with which it is chargeable is increased by the amendment.

28. Some obsolete portions of the Court-fees' Act have been omitted, but the general arrangement of the Bill remains the same as that of the Act.

Matters to be enquired into.

Draft, s. 130.

Local Government may declare estate unfit for residence.

131. If the local Government, after perusal and consideration of the said report, information and notes, is of opinion that such mortality was caused by the want, on the part of the owner of such estate or portion, or the employer in charge of the same, of due care or precaution, or of the adoption of proper and available sanitary measures, and that such estate or portion is thereby rendered unfit for the residence of labourers, it may declare in writing that such estate or portion is unfit for the residence of labourers. Such declaration of the local Government shall have the same effect as the finding of a Committee under section one hundred and twenty-eight.

Effect of declaration.

Section 120. Draft, s. 130.

134. Whenever any such complaint is made to an Inspector or Magistrate or whenever any Inspector or Magistrate receives notice in writing of any such complaint, or has other reasonable grounds for believing that any employer or person acting on his behalf has personally ill-used, or committed any breach mentioned in section one hundred and thirty-three in respect of any labourer, such Inspector or Magistrate shall, as soon as may be, proceed to some place not more than ten miles from the principal place of business of such employer situate within the local limits of his jurisdiction, and inquire into the matter complained of:

Provided that if the place in which an Inspector or Magistrate has reasonable grounds for believing that such ill-usage or breach has been committed is situate beyond the local limits of his jurisdiction, he shall, instead of inquiring into the matter himself, forthwith send information thereof in writing to the Inspector or Magistrate within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such ill-usage or breach has been committed.

Every such endorsement shall be conclusive evidence that the complainant has absented himself from his labour without sufficient cause during the number of days so endorsed.

Award of compensation to employer.

136. When any complaint is dismissed under section one hundred and thirty-five, the Inspector or Magistrate may award to the employer any reasonable compensation on account of any expense incurred by him in connection with such complaint, and shall endorse the amount of such compensation on the complainant's copy of the labour-contract. The complainant shall be bound to pay the amount so endorsed; and in default of such payment his labour-contract shall not be deemed to have determined until he has worked off such amount at the rate of one day's labour for each four annas of such amount.

Compensation may be given.

If no sufficient cause is shown, the Inspector shall require the labourer's copy of the contract to be produced, and on production thereof shall endorse thereon a certificate that the contract has been released by purchase, or, if such copy be not forthcoming, shall deliver to the labourer a certificate under his hand to that effect; and shall in either case hold the sum so deposited to the credit of the employer of such labourer.

When any employer sends any such statement in writing, he shall at the same time notify to each labourer concerned the fact that he has done so.

Any Inspector who receives any such statement shall, when next visiting the estate on which the labourers to whom such statement relates are employed, inquire into each such case of absence, in the presence of the labourer concerned, and if satisfied that the labourer has wilfully and without reasonable cause absented himself, shall,

Section 122. Draft, s. 131.

170. If any labourer deserts from his employer's service, such employer, or any person acting on his behalf, may, without a warrant, and without the assistance of any police-officer, arrest such labourer wherever he may be found: Provided that, if such labourer be found within ten miles of the place where a Magistrate resides or in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without warrant.

Such Magistrate shall either inquire into and dispose of the case himself, or, if the estate of the employer from whose service the labourer deserted is not situate within the local limits of such Magistrate's jurisdiction, he shall forward the labourer to the Magistrate within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such estate is situate.

Draft, s. 131.

172. Whenever an employer or a person acting on his behalf complains to a Magistrate that a labourer has deserted from his employer's service, such Magistrate may, without previously examining the complainant, issue a summons for the attendance of such labourer, or a warrant for his arrest, and fix a day for hearing the complaint.

The Magistrate may in his sentence direct that the whole or any part of such fine be paid by way of compensation to the labourer so arrested.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This Bill has been drawn on the lines of a draft prepared by a Commission which recently met in Calcutta to consider and amend Bengal Act VII of 1873 (the Labour Districts Emigration Act). The attention of Government had previously been directed by certain persons interested in the large and important tea industry in Assam to several points in which the law relating to inland emigration appeared to require amendment. As the subject seemed to be one which affected not only the tea interest, but to a certain extent the interest of the whole country, the Government of India decided, in communication with His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to refer it to the consideration of a Commission. This Commission, which consisted of members of the mercantile community of Calcutta and the tea interest in Assam, as well as of official members under each of those administrations especially conversant with the details of inland emigration, reviewed the whole question in all its details, and submitted a report, to which was annexed the draft Bill above referred to, which embodied the amendments of the law considered desirable. The Government of India resolved on legislating in accordance generally with the provisions of this draft, and accordingly the present Bill has been prepared. It differs considerably in form, but does not, it is believed, in substance differ materially (save in certain points which will be mentioned below) from the draft prepared by the Commission.

2. It does not seem necessary to specify in this place the numerous amendments of the existing law which the Bill, in common with the draft of the Commission, proposes to make. Many of these deal with minor and unimportant points, and all will be found enumerated in detail in the Report of the Commission. It will be sufficient here to state the main points in which the Commission found the present law defective and the changes which the Bill proposes with the view of removing these defects.

3. These points are four in number,—

(a) that the existing law does not afford sufficient encouragement to free emigration;

(b) that it imposes unnecessary restrictions upon sardári recruiting;

(c) that it fails to provide for the enforcement of contracts made otherwise than under its provisions even in the case of imported labourers;

(d) that it is defective in respect of the remedies provided for employers in the event of the unlawful absence, idleness or desertion of their contract labourers.

4. With regard to the first of these points, no labour-contracts can be entered into under the existing law (Bengal Act VII of 1873) after the emigrant has arrived in a labour-district; and further, under section 7 of the same Act, no contract to labour in a labour-district for more than one year is binding upon an emigrant unless it is made and executed according to the provisions of the Act. To remove these restrictions the Bill permits emigrants to make labour-contracts under its provisions after their arrival in a labour-district, and, by omitting any provision of the nature of section 7 of Bengal Act VII of 1873, leaves employers free to make with any persons, whether within or without the labour-districts, any labour-contract which the ordinary law will recognize and enforce.

5. As to the second point, under the present law, a garden-sardár in order to get his certificate countersigned is compelled to present himself at the Court of the Magistrate of the District in which he proposes to engage labourers; his certificate is only allowed to run for six months; he is not allowed to travel with another garden-sardár if the total number of their united bands of emigrants exceeds twenty; whilst if he recruits more than twenty emigrants himself, he must take them to a contractor's depôt. Such restrictions, besides unnecessarily impeding the garden-sardár in his operations, bring him into dangerous connection with contractors and recruiters who not unfrequently tempt him to make over to them for a consideration labourers recruited at his employer's expense. The Bill severs all connection between garden-sardárs and contractor's depôts; and, though providing, in the employer's interest, for the effective control of garden-sardárs when on recruiting duty, removes the restrictions above mentioned, and gives the widest scope to the working of the sardári system.

6. With respect to the third point, labour-contracts cannot be made under Bengal Act VII of 1873 in a labour-district. Consequently labour-contracts entered into in such districts must be made under the ordinary law. Though Act XIII of 1859 (to provide for the punishment of breaches of contract by Artificers, workmen and labourers in certain cases) has in some districts been applied to these locally made labour-contracts, its provisions were obviously never intended to meet such cases. As employers may incur serious loss in the event of their labourers refusing to fulfil their agreements, it is clear that they are insufficiently protected under the present law in respect of locally made labour-contracts. Nothing short of a penal labour-law is sufficient for their protection. At the same time it appears only just that, if a labourer is to be subjected to a penal labour-law, he should obtain also the protection of law in respect of his general relations with his employer. Under these circumstances it seems preferable, instead of providing that locally made contracts may be enforced under the Act, to remove the restrictions which at present exist against labour-contracts under the Act being made in labour-districts, and this the Bill accordingly does.

7. As to the fourth point, under the existing law the penalty prescribed for the unlawful absence of the labourer from his work can only be enforced by complaint before a Magistrate. Such a provision is obviously very inconvenient to employers, who cannot spare time to make a journey to Court every time one of their labourers is unlawfully absent from his work. The Bill therefore provides for a system of monthly lists of defaulters to be submitted by the employer to the Inspector, who will, on his next visit to the garden, enquire into the case of each defaulter mentioned in such list; and if satisfied that the labourer is guilty of the offence charged, punish him by entering such days of absence on his contract and adding them to the term thereof, unless the labourer consents to forfeit to his employer the sum of four annas for each such day of absence. Prolonged and repeated absence may, however, be still punished by a Magistrate, if the employer chooses to complain.

The Government of India have resolved to make no change in the provisions of the existing law as to desertion, and the proposals of the Commission with regard to these provisions have not therefore been adopted in the Bill.

8. It may also be noticed that the Bill (section 9) extends the term for which a labourer may contract to labour. Under the present law the term is limited to three years from the date of the arrival of the labourer on his employer's estate. It is now proposed to extend it to five years from the date of the execution of the contract. This extension will enable the employer to recoup himself for his preliminary outlay incurred in importing the labourer and maintaining him while he learns his work and becomes acclimatized. At the same time provision has been made in the interest of the labourer that, for the last two years of the term, he shall receive an increase of one rupee per mensem to his wages. At the end of three years he is presumably better acquainted with his work, more valuable to his employer, and therefore entitled to a higher rate of wages.

9. Certain other points in which the Bill differs from the draft prepared by the Commission may now be noticed. Under that draft, sections 24 and 63, labourers engaged in districts not under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal need not, when recruited by garden-sardárs, and cannot when recruited by recruiters, be registered until they are brought within a district of the Lower Provinces. The Government of India is of opinion that it is necessary, for the purpose of protecting the labourer and preventing fraudulent practices on the part of the garden-sardár or recruiter, that all labourers, in whose case the registration of the engagement before proceeding to the labour-districts is imperative, should be registered in the districts in which they are engaged. The provisions of the draft have accordingly been modified so as to carry out these views.

10. Again, the draft of the Commission permitted the transport to the labour-districts of labourers, whether engaged by garden-sardárs or recruiters, by any route. As it is known that on certain routes great mortality has occurred, it seems advisable that power should be taken to enable the Local Government to prescribe the routes by which only labourers may travel to the labour-districts. A power of this nature has therefore been inserted in the Bill (section 142).

11. Lastly, under the draft of the Commission it is not necessary that contracts of locally engaged labourers should always be registered before a Magistrate or other officer. The Government of India is, however, of opinion that, unless such registration is made compulsory in all cases, there is not sufficient security that the nature of the engagement shall be fully understood by the labourer. The provisions of the draft have therefore been so altered in the Bill (section 111) that it will be necessary to have all contracts of locally engaged labourers executed before and registered by an Inspector of labourers or a Magistrate.

In the case of certain offences the Commission proposed that a penalty of rigorous imprisonment should be inflicted. It is considered that the Magistrates should be allowed a discretion as to the infliction of rigorous or simple imprisonment, and the Bill therefore substitutes the expression "imprisonment," which means imprisonment either simple or rigorous, in the places where in the draft prepared by the Commission the expression "rigorous imprisonment" is used.

(a) If the full amount of the debt or claim of the creditor is admitted by the Company, or, though not admitted, is such as the Company are willing to set apart and appropriate, then the full amount of the debt or claim shall be set apart and appropriated.

(b) If the full amount of the debt or claim of the creditor is not admitted by the Company, and is not such as the Company are willing to set apart and appropriate, or if the amount is contingent or not ascertained, then the Court may, if it think fit, inquire into and adjudicate upon the validity of such debt or claim, and the amount for which the Company may be liable in respect thereof, in the same manner as if the Company were being wound up by the Court, and the amount fixed by the Court on such inquiry and adjudication shall be set apart and appropriated.

Definition of "the Court."

130. The expression "the Court" as used in this part of this Act shall mean the principal Court having original civil jurisdiction in the place in which the registered office of the Company is situate; unless in the regulations for the management of the Company it shall be stipulated that the Company, if wound up, shall be wound up by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William, Madras or Bombay (as the case may be), or by the Chief Court of the Panjáb, in which case the word "Court" shall mean the said High Court or Chief Court (as the case may be) in the exercise of its original civil jurisdiction.

(23) The directors may, with the sanction of the Company previously given in general meeting convert any paid-up shares into stock.

(24) When any shares have been converted into stock, the several holders of such stock may thenceforth transfer their respective interests therein or any part of such interests, in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any shares in the capital of the Company may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Increase in Capital.

(26) The directors may, with the sanction of a special resolution of the Company previously given in the general meeting, increase its capital by the issue of new shares, such aggregate increase to be of such amount, and to be divided into shares of such respective amounts, as the Company in general meeting directs, or, if no direction is given, as the directors think expedient.

(27) Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the meeting that sanctions the increase of capital, all new shares shall be offered to the members in proportion to the existing shares held by them, and such offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined; and after the expiration of such time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the member to whom such notice is given that he declines to accept the shares offered, the directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the Company.

(28) Any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered as part of the original capital, and shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, and the forfeiture of shares on non-payment of calls, or otherwise, as if it had been part of the original capital.

General Meetings.

(29) The first general meeting shall be held at such time, not being more than six months after the registration of the Company, and at such place, as the directors may determine.

(30) Subsequent general meetings shall be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by the Company in general meeting; and if no other time or place is prescribed, a general meeting shall be held on the first Monday in February in every year, at such place as may be determined by the directors.

(33) Any requisition made by the members shall express the object of the meeting proposed to be called, and shall be left at the registered office of the Company.

(34) Upon the receipt of such requisition the directors shall forthwith proceed to convene an extraordinary general meeting. If they do not proceed to convene the same within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition, the requisitionists or any other members amounting to the required number, may themselves convene an extraordinary general meeting.

Proceedings at General Meeting.

(35) Seven days' notice at the least, specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting, and in case of special business the general nature of such business, shall be given to the members in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the Company in general meeting; but the non-receipt of such notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any general meeting.

(36) All business shall be deemed special that it transacted at an extraordinary meeting, and all that is transacted at an ordinary meeting, with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, and the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets and the ordinary report of the directors.

(37) No business shall be transacted at any general meeting, except the declaration of a dividend, unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Such quorum shall be ascertained as follows, that is to say, if the persons who have taken shares in the Company at the time of the meeting do not exceed ten in number, the quorum shall be five; if they exceed ten, there shall be added to the above quorum one for every five additional members up to fifty, and one for every ten additional members after fifty, with this limitation, that no quorum shall in any case exceed twenty.

(38) If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, it shall be adjourned sine die.

(39) The chairman (if any) of the board of directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the Company.

(40) If there is no such chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman.

(41) The chairman may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn any meeting from time to time and from place to place; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place.

(42) At any general meeting, unless a poll is demanded by at least five members, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Company, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such resolution.

(43) If a poll is demanded by five or more members, it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Company in general meeting. In the case of an equality of votes at any general meeting the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

Votes of Members.

(44) Every member shall have one vote for every share up to ten. He shall have an additional vote for every five shares beyond the first ten shares up to one hundred, and an additional vote for every ten shares beyond the first hundred shares.

(45) If any member is a lunatic or idiot, he may vote by his committee or other legal curator and if any member is a minor, he may vote by his guardian or any one of his guardians if more than one.

(46) If one or more persons are jointly entitled to a share or shares, the member whose name stands first in the register of members as one of the holders of such share or shares, and no other, shall be entitled to vote in respect of the same.

(47) No member shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting unless all calls due from him have been paid, and no member shall be entitled to vote in respect of any share that he has acquired by transfer, at any meeting held after the expiration of three months from the registration of the Company, unless he has been possessed of the share in respect of which he claims to vote for at least three months previously to the time of holding the meeting at which he proposes to vote.

(48) Votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

(49) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing, under the hand of the appointor, or if such appointor is a corporation, under their common seal, and shall be attested by one or more witness or witnesses. No person shall be appointed a proxy who is not a member of the Company.

(50) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the registered office of the Company not less than seventy-two hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in such instrument proposes to vote; but no instrument appointing a proxy shall be valid after the expiration of twelve months from the date of its execution.

(51) Any instrument appointing a proxy shall be in the following form:—

Company Limited.

I of

As witness my hand, this day of

Signed by the said in the presence of Directors.

(52) The number of the directors, and the names of the first directors, shall be determined by the subscribers of the memorandum of association.

(53) Until directors are appointed, the subscribers of the memorandum of association shall be deemed to be directors.

(54) The future remuneration of the directors and their remuneration for services performed previously to the first general meeting, shall be determined by the Company in general meeting.

Powers of Directors.

(55) The business of the Company shall be managed by the directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in getting up and registering the Company, and may exercise all such powers of the Company as are not by the foregoing Act, or by these articles, required to be exercised by the Company in general meeting subject nevertheless to any regulations of these articles, to the provisions of the foregoing Act, and to such regulations, being not inconsistent with the aforesaid regulations, or provisions as may be prescribed by the Company in general meeting; but no regulation made by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the directors which would have been valid if such regulation had not been made.

(56) The continuing directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body.

Disqualification of Directors.

(57) The office of director shall be vacated—

If he holds any other office or place of profit under the Company;

If he becomes bankrupt or insolvent;

If he is concerned in or participates in the profits of any contract with the Company;

But the above rules shall be subject to the following exceptions: That no director shall vacate his office by reason of his being a member of any Company which has entered into contracts with or done any work for the Company of which he is director; nevertheless he shall not vote in respect of such contract or work; and if he does so vote his vote shall not be counted.

Rotation of Directors.

(58) At the first ordinary meeting after the registration of the Company, the whole of the directors shall retire from office; and at the first ordinary meeting in every subsequent year, one-third of the directors for the time being, or, if their number is not a multiple of three, then the number nearest to one-third, shall retire from office.

(59) The one-third or other nearest number to retire during the first and second years ensuing the first ordinary meeting of the Company shall, unless the directors agree among themselves, be determined by ballot. In every subsequent year, the one-third or other nearest number who have been longest in office shall retire.

(60) A retiring director shall be re-eligible.

(61) The Company at the general meeting at which any directors retire in manner aforesaid shall fill up the vacated offices by electing a like number of persons.

(62) If at any meeting at which an election of directors ought to take place the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the meeting shall stand adjourned till the same day in the next week, at same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the vacating directors or such of them as have not had their places filled up, shall continue in office until the ordinary meeting in the next year, and so on from time to time until their places are filled up.

(63) The Company may from time to time, in general meeting, increase or reduce the number of directors, and may also determine in what rotation such increased or reduced number is to go out of office.

(64) Any casual vacancy occurring in the board of directors may be filled up by the directors, but any person so chosen shall retain his office so long only as the vacating director would have retained the same if no vacancy had occurred.

(65) The Company in general meeting may, by a special resolution, remove any director before the expiration of his period of office, and may by an ordinary resolution appoint another person in his stead. The person so appointed shall hold office during such time only as the director in whose place he is appointed would have held the same if he had not been removed.

Proceedings of Directors.

(66) The directors may meet together for the despatch of business, adjourn and otherwise regulate their meetings as they think fit, and determine the quorum necessary for the transaction of business. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes, the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A director may at any time summon a meeting of the directors.

(67) The directors may elect a chariman of their meetings, and determine the period for which he is to hold office; but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the directors present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman of such meeting.

(68) The directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit. Any committee so formed shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the directors.

(69) A committee may elect a chairman of its meetings. If no such chairman is elected, or if he is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the members present shall choose one of their number to be chairman of such meeting.

(70) A committee may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present; and in case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

(71) All acts done by any meeting of the directors, or of a committee of directors, or by any person acting as a director, shall, notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such directors or persons acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a director.

Dividends.

(72) The directors may, with the sanction of the Company in general meeting, declare a dividend to be paid to the members in proportion to their shares.

(73) No dividend shall be payable except out of the profits arising from the business of the Company.

(74) The directors may, before recommending any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the Company such sum as they think proper as a reserved fund to meet contingencies, or for equalizing dividends, or for repairing or maintaining the works connected with the business of the Company or any part thereof; and the directors may invest the sum so set part as a reserved fund upon such securities as they may select.

(75) The directors may deduct from the dividends payable to any member all such sums of money as may be due from him to the Company on account of calls or otherwise.

(76) Notice of any dividend that may have been declared shall be given to each member in manner hereinafter mentioned; and all dividends unclaimed for three years after having been declared may be forfeited by the directors for the benefit of the Company.

(77) No dividend shall bear interest as against the Company.

Accounts.

(78) The directors shall cause true accounts to be kept,

of the stock in trade of the Company;

of the sums of money received and expended by the Company, and the matters in respect of which such receipt and expenditure take place; and of the credits and liabilities of the Company.

The books of account shall be kept at the registered office of the Company, and subject to any reasonable restrictions as to the time and manner of inspecting the same that may be imposed by the Company in general meeting, shall be open to the inspection of the members during the hours of business.

(79) Once at the least in every year the directors shall lay before the Company in general meeting a statement of the income and expenditure for the past year, made up to a date not more than three months before such meeting.

(80) The statement so made shall show, arranged under the most convenient heads, the amount of gross income, distinguishing the several sources from which it has been derived, and the amount of gross expenditure, distinguishing the expense of the establishment, salaries and other like matters. Every item of expenditure fairly chargeable against the year's income shall be brought into account, so that a just balance of profit and loss may be laid before the meeting; and in cases where any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years has been incurred in any one year, the whole amount of such item shall be stated, with the addition of the reasons why only a portion of such expenditure is charged against the income of the year.

(81) A balance-sheet shall be made out in every year and laid before the Company in general meeting, and such balance-sheet shall contain a summary of the property and liabilities of the Company arranged under the heads appearing in the form annexed to this table, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(82) A printed copy of such balance-sheet shall, seven days previously to such meeting, be served on every member in the manner in which notices are hereinafter directed to be served.

Audit.

(83) Once at the least in every year the accounts of the Company shall be examined, and the correctness of the balance-sheet ascertained by one or more auditor or auditors.

(84) The first auditors shall be appointed by the directors; subsequent auditors shall be appointed by the Company in general meeting.

(85) If one auditor only is appointed, all the provisions herein contained relating to auditors shall apply to him.

(86) The auditors may be members of the Company; but no person is eligible as an auditor who is interested otherwise than as a member in any transaction of the Company; and no director or other officer of the Company is eligible during his continuance in office.

(87) The election of auditors shall be made by the Company at their ordinary meeting in each year.

(88) The remuneration of the first auditors shall be fixed by the directors; that of subsequent auditors shall be fixed by the Company in general meeting.

(89) Any auditor shall be re-eligible on his quitting office.

(90) If any casual vacancy occurs in the office of any auditor appointed by the Company, the directors shall forthwith call an extraordinary general meeting for the purpose of supplying the same.

(91) If no election of auditors is made in manner aforesaid, the local Government may, on the application of not less than five members of the Company, appoint an auditor for the current year, and fix the remuneration to be paid to him by the Company for his services.

(92) Every auditor shall be supplied with a copy of the balance-sheet, and it shall be his duty to examine the same with the accounts and vouchers relating thereto.

(93) Every auditor shall have a list delivered to him of all books kept by the Company, and shall at all reasonable times have access to the books and accounts of the Company. He may, at the expense of the Company, employ accountants or other persons to assist him in investigating such accounts, and he may, in relation to such accounts, examine the directors or any other officer of the Company.

(94) The auditors shall make a report to the members upon the balance-sheet and accounts, and in every such report they shall state whether, in their opinion, the balance-sheet is a full and fair balance-sheet, containing the particulars required by these regulations, and properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs; and in case they have called for explanations or information from the directors, whether such explanations or information have or has been given by the directors, and whether they or it have or has been satisfactory. Such report shall be read, together with the report of the directors, at the ordinary meeting.

Notices.

(95) A notice may be served by the Company upon any member either personally or by sending it through the post in a letter addressed to such member at his registered place of abode.

(96) All notices directed to be given to the members shall, with respect to any share to which persons are jointly entitled, be given to whichever of such persons is named first in the register of members; and notice so given shall be sufficient notice to all the holders of such share.

(97) Any notice, if served by post, shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of the post; and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the post office.

(ii) that a Company may, by leave of the Court, reduce the aggregate amount nominal capital, or diminish the amount of the shares, but saving the of creditors who are ignorant of the proceedings;

(iii) that the capital of a Company limited by shares may be reduced by canc unissued shares;

(iv) that shares may be subdivided;

(v) that associations not engaged in mercantile pursuits may become incorp under the Companies Act without annexing to their names the inappro term "limited";

(vi) that a Company may have some shares fully paid up and others not, and dividends may be paid in proportion to the amount paid up on each shar

(vii) that a transfer of shares shall be registered at the request of the transferor, s to the same conditions as if the request were made by the transferee;

(viii) that in the case of limited shares fully paid up share-warrants may be iss bearer, and the shares will thereupon be transferred by delivery warrant, and that coupons may be annexed entitling the bearer to dividends;

(ix) that every prospectus of a Company and every notice inviting persons to su for shares in a joint stock Company shall specify the dates of and parties contract which has been previously made by the Company or its promot directors, and may reasonably influence a person in determining him to or not to take shares in the Company (Sullivan v. Metcalfe, 49 L.J.Q.B.

(x) that a general meeting must be held within four months after registration;

(xi) that a contributory shall not be qualified to present a winding-up petition the members are reduced to less than seven, or unless he has held his for at least six of the previous eighteen months, or unless the shares hav volved on him through the death of a former holder. This will preven practice of speculators buying shares in failing Companies with a view to them up and share in the plunder;

(xii) that when the High Court has made an order for winding-up a Company, it refer all subsequent proceedings to a district Court (to use the Indian corresponding to the English "County Court") and transfer a windi from one district Court to another;

(xiii) that when a compromise is proposed between a Company that is being woun and its creditors, the Court may order a meeting of such creditors; and if a majority representing three-fourths in value agree to the compro shall, when sanctioned by the Court, be binding.

The amendment made by 30 & 31 Vic., c. 131, section 37 (as to the manner in contracts might be made on behalf of Companies), was anticipated by the Indian legis in section 42 of Act No. X of 1866, and will be found in section 67 of the present Bill.

It seems to the Government of India that the thirteen amendments above specified shou made for two reasons, first, because they are good in themselves, and, secondly, because it is able that the laws relating to such a subject as mercantile Companies should be as nearly a sible the same in India as in England. Any differences in such laws lead to mistakes i Indian Courts, and must, to some extent, discourage English investors from putting their m into Indian Companies. The provisions as to the unlimited liability of directors (sections 7 have been stigmatised in England as certain to drive from the direction men of wealth position and to substitute in their places needy adventurers. But it need hardly be said the experience of fourteen years has belied this prophecy. It may be added that, under provisions in question, a director will not be liable as such for more than a year after h ceased to hold office, and that he will not be liable as such in respect of any debt of the pany contracted after he has ceased to be a director. The other provisions suggested by E English legislation do not seem to require further notice. They will be found in sections 35 (both inclusive), 47, 49, 75, 76, 88, 132, 150, 203, 218, 219, 253, 254.

The reported decisions of the Indian Courts regarding the law applicable to trading C panies appear to be only thirty-two in number, and of these but few turn upon the wordin Act No. X of 1866. But there is a large number of English decisions bearing on the word of the corresponding sections of the English Statute of 1862, and the Bill embodies result of an examination of these decisions. Most of the verbal amendments of the present B are indicated by italics, and the cases which suggested them are noted in the margins of th Bill.
